the senate and house, gave up their filibuster and consented to adjournment.

By moving the clock ahead, the senate and house both "jumped" the adjournment hour for 4 o'clock. The house adjourned at 3:21 and the senate six minutes later—although "officially" the end of the record breaking

All records for continuous sessions were broken today. Congress has been practically continuously in session since April 7, 1913, 567 days. The next regular "short session" begins December 7 and ends March 4.

Early in the day any adjournment agreement seemed hopeless. Representative Henry in the house and Hoke Smith in the senate, held out firmly, declaring that a number of measures should be passed for the relief of the cotton planters. They declared their intention of demanding a quorum if any attempt to adjourn was made. The house lacked SECTION over 100 of having a quorum, while the senate lacked about 20.

Finally the proposal was made to adjourn Monday at six o'clock, At Hoke Smith's suggestion a recess was taken of about two hours to permit conferences. The house took the same action, whereupon the cotton fillbusterers helden conference.

Finding themselves in such small minority, Hoke Smith and Henry gave in and agreed to the adjournment

The end of the session in the house found less than 100 of the 435 members in Washington. The abaudon ment of the Henry filibuster was partly due to the knowledge that of these 100 members, approximately one-half intended to go home tonight whether or not cengress adjourned.

Predicts Extraordinary Session. 'It is absolutely certain a quorum of the house cannot be brought back here until after the elections," said Henry, in announcing that he would no longer block the getaway. "My positive knowledge is that con-(Concluded on Page Six, Column Three)

SENATOR HARRY LANE RETURNS TO HELP IN DEMOCRATIC CONTEST

Oregon Solon to Work for Chamberlain, C. J. Smith, Flegel and Hollister,

United States Senator Lane returned to Portland last night from Washington, where he has been for the last 20 months attending his congressional duties.

With congress already preparing to adjourn when he left Tuesday, he said he hurried back to Oregon to work for the re-election of United States Senator George E. Chamberlain, and for the election of Dr. C. J. Smith. Democratic nominee for governor, and A. F. Flegel, the party's nominee for congress, and others. Senator Lane declared that Chamberlain should be returned to the senate without fail. "Not only should he be reelected in recognition of the splendid work he has done in behalf of Oregon and Alaska and the part he has played in national progressive legislation," said Lane, "but because President Wilson needs the support of men who will hold up his hands in the present grave crisis and work for and defend the presi-dent's inspiring peace policies.

Chamberlain Paid Tribute. "This election is of very great importance not only to Oregon but to the nation. Chamberiain should be sent back. It would be a grave mistake to send back a man against whom there is a suspicion of personal interest.
"When I went to Washington, a stranger, I found Senator Chamberlain kindly and courteous and we have never had a disagreement of any kind. I found him efficient and always active in the interest of Oregon.

"In the senate his influence is weighty. He is well liked by his col-(Concluded on Page Four, Column Four)
