CHAMBERLAIN WINS AUDIENCES' PLAUDITS IN BENTON COUNTY

Plain-Spoken Presentation of His Case Followed Closely by Appreciative Voters.

By Staff Correspondent.
Corvallis, Or., Oct. 28.—Senator George E. Chamberlain carried his campaign for reelection into Benton county yesterday, speaking at Philomath in the afternoon and Corvallis in the evening. At both places he was received with the same enthusiasm which has marked his present tour in every part of the state.

About 800 persons heard him at the majestic theatre in this city last night, filling the playhouse to its capacity. The audience, while not a demonstrative one, listened to his exposition of the administration policies with the greatest attention. It was one of the best audiences the senator has yet addressed. It followed his every word; it grasped the meaning of every point he made; it appreciated to the fullest extent his delicate humor.

All Listen Intensely.
In the psychology of audiences it was in perfect tune with the speaker. The very air of the senator was charged with something that told that every man, woman and child was listening with all his might and was absorbing every word and thought. In fact, it approached the ideal as an audience. During the 90 minute address there were no yawns; there was nothing but the closest attention and appreciation. Senator Chamberlain had a message for the people of Corvallis and they realized that fact.

The senator spoke frankly and candidly of his race for the senate and outlined clearly the reform legislation accomplished by Congress during the past 18 months, showing how the performances of the Democratic party in Conscienceless Gang's Aim to Overturn Direct Primary, Declares C. J. Smith.

"Look well to the class of people who are trying to persuade you to abandon the direct primary by the restoration of the assembly," warned Dr. C. J. Smith, Democratic candidate for governor, in a stirring speech before 300 people at the Portsmouth school last night. "You will find it is the same old standpat crowd which got your school lands, your timber lands and your tide lands. Let me ask you in the name of good government and honesty to vote down the obnoxious assembly bill when you go to vote next Tuesday."

Tom Word was only one of the speakers who addressed the people of the Portsmouth section in the biggest local meeting of the campaign. A meeting, attended by nearly as many as held at the Oakley Green school, the same speakers addressing both gatherings.

Tom Word was there, and got as hearty an ovation as anybody. A. F. Fiegel, Democratic candidate for congress, was there and told the people the Oregon issues are hardly separable from national issues. B. Lee Fagot was there and told the people the state treasurer they select should be in such a spirit of cooperation with the governor they select that the administration of state institutions would not be hampered. Lester W. Humphreys was there and told of the triumphal record of Senator Chamberlain. And finally, Dr. A. K. Higgs was there and told the people that if they chose him to the legislature he would work for the best interests of the state.

Business is decisively on the upgrade. This is the time for the optimist to say "I told you so."

Calumny howlers who for political effect have wailed about hard times are being left without an audience. Insincere pessimism is getting merited discredit. Business is becoming too busy to listen to much less believe, statements directly in conflict with the facts.

Bankers and shippers say that very soon an average of a ship or steamer a day will be leaving the Pacific coast loaded with products for foreign export.

A. L. Mills, president of the Portland Clearing House association and of the First National bank, says the northwest will receive $30,000,000 for the wheat and flour exported to foreign ports this year, an increase of 5,000,000 bushels over last year. Watch for the influence of the Panama canal on our commerce, he advises. The lumber market will move upward; domestic consumption will take care of the apple crop.

Postmaster Frank S. Myers shows a gain of over 15 per cent in postal receipts for October so far over October of last year, and likewise postal gains, both inbound and outbound.

W. B. Bidde, noted railroad man, interview while in southern Oregon predicted prosperity greater than ever before and saying President Wilson's policies will bless the nation.

Millions of dollars may be put into circulation in Portland when the new banking law becomes effective November 10. Portland is one of 40 reserve cities permitted under the new law to reduce the legal reserve from 25 to 15 per cent and this, it has been figured by a clearing house banker, will release for legitimate trade in Portland approximately $4,000,000. ## THANKSGIVING DAY IS SET BY PRESIDENT TO CONSIDER BLESSINGS

United States Permitted to Play Part of Self-Control Among Nations.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Oct. 28.—President Wilson's Thanksgiving proclamation, issued today, says:
"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year now drawing to a close since we last observed our national day of thanksgiving has been, in the eyes of our people, a year of the mighty forces of war and of changes which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing to us."

"It has been vouchsafed us to remain at peace, with honor, and, in some part, to succor suffering and supply the needs of those in want. We have been privileged by our own peace and self control in some degree to steady counsels and shape hopes and purposes of a day of fear and distress. Our people have looked upon our own life as a nation with deeper comprehension, fuller realization of their responsibilities as well as of the blessed and practical significance of what their part among the nations of the world may come to be."

"The fruitful effects of a foreign war in their own industrial and commercial affairs have made them feel more fully and see more clearly their mutual inter-dependence upon one another, and has stirred them to helpful cooperation such as they have seldom practiced before. They have been quickened by a great moral stimulation. Their unmistakable yearning for peace, their earnest pity and disinterested sympathy for those who are suffering, and their readiness to help and think of the needs of others have revealed their own nobility, as well as to the world."

"Our crops will feed all who need food; the self possession of our people amidst the most serious anxieties and difficulties and the steady and resourcefulness of our business men will serve other nations as well as our own."

"The business of the country has been supplied with new instrumentalities and the commerce of the world

GREAT EXPANSION OF JAPANESE ARMY AND NAVY OKUMA'S PLAN

Premier Asks That the New Budget Provide Largest Military Fund in Years.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Tokyo, Oct. 28.—The expansion of the army and navy, that Japan might be able to act quickly in the event of an emergency, was urged by Premier Okuma at a meeting of the party leaders here tonight. It was expected the new budget would provide the largest military fund in years.

In what way the Japanese might be called on "to act quickly" was not explained in the foregoing dispatch, and it seemed unlikely that the censor would have permitted the transmission of an explanation if one had been offered.

The possibility has been recognized all along in Tokio, of course, of complications with China, growing out of the Mikado's operations against the Germans on the Shantung peninsula.

In addition to this the suggestion has been made that Japan might be asked to keep order in India or South Africa in case trouble should arise in those quarters. There was also hint some time ago that the Mikado's services might be asked for in the event of a British attack on the British coast, though in this instance the reference was to the establishment of a naval patrol of the Persian gulf and not to a landing.

Japanese statesmen have said several times, since the war broke out, that there was no intention on their part of going to war.

COUNTY FRANCHISE IS TAKEN AWAY FROM UNITED RAILWAYS CO.

Raising of Fare on Linnton Run Causes County Commissioners to Act.

The county commissioners this morning revoked the franchise of the United Railways Company to operate the electric line along the St. Helens road. The order of revocation becomes effective February 1, 1915, and the tracks must be removed within 30 days from that date, it says, or the county will remove the equipment and charge the cost to the company in accordance with provisions of the franchise.

The action of the county in raising its fare to and from Linnton from 5 cents to 10 cents on the franchise, to 10 cents as allowed by the state railroad commission, is the basis of the order for removal. The order was made on recommendation of District Attorney Evans.

The distant date was set for the order to become effective that the company might take steps to arrange for new franchises on the city streets should the company decide to let the revocation go by without legal opposition and to make use of the Hill cracker from Linnton to the city for its electric line. What action the company may take has not been determined. The franchise was granted to the company May 16, 1908, and was for 25 years. The revocation was petitioned for by many residents of Linnton and the order follows a hard fight made by Linnton people to secure the return of the 1-cent fare for its electric line.

No action will be taken by the United Railways in the matter until L. C. Gilman, president of the North Bank system, of which the United Railways is a subsidiary, returns from Philadelphia. A conference between the president and the attorney will be held at the earliest opportunity and the course of the company outlined.

Mr. Gilman is expected back the latter part of this week.

GERMAN ATTACK GROWS WEAKER, SAY FRENCH

Bordeaux Statement Claims Advances North and South of Ypres.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, Oct. 28.—"The Germans are falling back all along their line from La Basse to the North sea," stated a message received tonight by the Evening News from its correspondent in northern France.

London, Oct. 28.—The Germans have been driven back across the Yser, losing 16,000 killed and 30,000 wounded and captured, according to the Daily Mail's Rotterdam correspondent today.

"Probably never before in the history of warfare," said the Mail's dispatch, "have combatants fought with equal fierceness."

"The Germans crossed the Yser under the most terrific machine guns light artillery fire. In the face of it they pushed their lines, by sheer weight of numbers, to the west side of the shallow stream and secured a foothold on the bank."

"But they could not dig themselves in sufficiently."

"The allies' guns were perfectly served, and after the entire German front had been shelled, the British and French charged the enemy with the bayonet."

"Many were slain before the Germans, unable to stand the steel, yielded their positions and retreated to the other side of the river, where they now are."

From other sources it was learned that the Germans were with hundreds in the Yser, unable to help themselves.

Both of the stream's banks were covered with corpses and with wounded, whom it was impossible to rescue, owing to the murderous artillery fire.
