

GREECE'S OCCUPATION OF PART OF ALBANIA LIKELY TO STIR TURKS

It Is Not Believed Sultan Will Sit by and Watch Ancient Enemy Gain Lands.

ITALY'S HANDS ARE TIED

Impression Is Growing That Austria
Has Staying Italian Neutrality by Slaying Out of Albania.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
London, Oct. 29.—That matters were so developing in the near east as to promise an early spread of the war to that quarter in Europe was generally conceded in official circles here today. Greece's occupation of the Albanian districts of Argyro, Castro and Premoti and Italy's seizure of Avlona, Durazzo and Scutari, in the west, was, it was believed, that Turkey could endure quietly. It was deemed practically certain that the sultan would draw the sword very soon.

On the whole, the near eastern situation appeared to favor the Germans and Austrians rather than the Anglo-Franco-Russian combination. If the Turks join in the war it will be on the German side, which the allies naturally will not like. If Italy's intervention in Albania is successful, however, that Austrian acquiescence in whatever Italy sees fit to do in Albania is the reward the Italians are to receive for remaining permanently neutral.

Allies Gain New Enemy.
If this surmise is correct and the belief that Turkey is about to take a hand in the war is well founded, the result is a net loss for the allies, since they will have a new enemy in the sultan, and Italy's attitude will remain just as at present.

If the Turks do take up arms, they probably will not figure to any extent in the occidental field of fighting, though they might lead perhaps 100,000 effective soldiers here and there either against the Russians or in the west, but they are likely to prove seriously troublesome in Persia, in the general direction of India, in the Caucasus and maybe in Egypt, or even farther to the westward in northern Africa. There have even been rumors of a pact between Turkey and Afghanistan, which would bring trouble to the very Indian frontier itself.

In their public expressions, British government officials have generally spoken as if the war is well founded. Turkey with great promptness the moment it showed signs of hostility, that the allies will make short work of taking the sultan's parts no longer a possibility. Nevertheless, the question is one concerning which there is considerable uncertainty.

"Holy War" Is Feared.
The outcome would depend to a great extent, it was believed, on whether the sultan was led by peoples who, though not subjects at present of the Ottoman empire, do acknowledge its ruler's spiritual supremacy. If the sultan is a true believer in the "Holy War," the question is one concerning which there is considerable uncertainty.

How the Germans can manage to reconcile the Turks' desire, as the former's allies, to recognize Albania, with the fact that Italy is supposed to be willing to remain neutral only on condition of having at least a part of this same territory, is not entirely clear. The best guess is that the sultan will be provoked into taking some other part of the Balkans for keeping out of northern Albania.

GREEKS ARE ACTING FOR ALBANIANS' GOOD SAYS THEIR PREMIER

Rome, Oct. 29.—Premier Venizelos of Greece was quoted here today to the effect that his country has acted solely by humanitarian motives in occupying the Albanian districts of Argyro, Castro and Premoti.

Conditions were such, he said, that the Albanians had no other way of outside intervention. He added that the occupation was required as a means of protecting the Greek frontier. That conquest was contemplated he denied.

No complications with Austria had developed from Italy's occupation of Avlona, Durazzo and Scutari, also in Albania, and the sultan's action had been approved by the Vienna government in return for a pledge of neutrality throughout the remainder of the war. Reports of fighting at Alexandria between the British garrison and Indian troops could not be verified, but the possibility of the rumors suggested that there had been some of serious disorders at the Egyptian city.

It was at first supposed here that the Egyptians had been involved under cover of the European war, but the statement that Indians instead of Egyptians were involved gave rise to the surmise that there had been a mutiny, or perhaps only a riot, among native soldiers on their way from India to the European field of fighting.

From French sources reports were received that the galleon which drove the Germans across the frontier in the direction of Metz were pressing hard after the enemy, and the prediction was made that the changed situation would compel the Kaiser's speedy abandonment of Saint Mihiel, besides probably forcing his troops with drawal from the siege of Verdun, to escape being off.

ture change the inheritance law so as to include all estates having a value of over $5000. Under the present law an estate must have a value of over $10,000 in order to be liable for an inheritance tax, but everything over $5000 shall then be taxed. This means that an estate of the value of $9999 in value escapes taxation, while one of $10,000 pays for everything over $5000. Under the proposed amendment every estate having a value of over $5000 would pay an inheritance tax on the amount in excess of that amount.

Wife Sues Young Millionaire.
San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Charging cruelty, Pearl E. Levi today filed suit for divorce from Milton J. Levi, son of the late millionaire merchant, Jacob Levi, who died last year. Levi was married to Pearl E. Levi a month later they separated, and Mrs. Levi filed suit against her husband's mother for $150,000, charging alienation of Levi's affections.

More Mine Victims Taken Out.
Herrin, Ill., Oct. 29.—Nine more bodies were recovered today from the Franklin County coal company's mine at Royallton, bringing the total number of corpses recovered up to 56. It was reported that others were still missing, and it was feared that a further search of the mine may reveal additional victims.
