

Social and Personal BY NONA LAWLER

HALLOWEEN, the day of all the 365 which is set aside for play is almost here. The end will see many pretty parties in which the huge pumpkin encased figures, witches and all the other weird dream beings of childhood will live for a few short hours. This evening Multnomah club will open its season of dancing parties with a formal ball at the club gym.

The stellar event of the week is the dinner dance tomorrow evening at the Waverly Country club given by Wirt Minor for the pleasure of Miss Alissa McMaster, one of the most popular debutantes of the year. There will be about 75 young people of the smart set seated for dinner. The affair is to be a typical Halloween event and yellow flowers and autumn leaves and pumpkins will form the decorations about the room and in the dining room the tea table was centered with a lovely arrangement of fruit and handsome candelabra.

FRATERNAL NOTES
Hibernians Issue Unique Invitation to Smoker Next Monday.
Frieda Are "Subsnaped."
The Ancient Order of Hibernians has issued to each member of the local division a rather unique invitation in the form of a subpoena to attend the smoker it will give in its clubrooms, 340 Russell street, next Monday evening.

Tea a Charming Affair.
Mrs. Hans Hirschberger was hostess for a delightful tea Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. The decorations in the drawing room were most effective, ferns and chrysanthemums being used, and in the dining room pink carnations and ferns carried out the color scheme.

Mrs. Thompson and Daughter in New York.
Mrs. D. P. Thompson and Miss Genevieve Thompson of Portland are spending a few days in New York city and are registered at the Wolcott hotel. They are enjoying the beautiful Indian summer season on the east coast, motoring around the country.

Spooner-May Wedding.
The Woodlawn Methodist church was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday evening, October 28, when Miss Hazel Irene May became the bride of Langdon Hall Spooner, Rev. Louis Thomas officiating. The bride was attired in a smart, traveling suit of dark blue, and wore a large black velvet hat. Miss Rachel May, sister of the bride, and Miss Mildred Taylor were attendants. They wore suits of dark blue and black hats. They all wore corsage bouquets of violets and bride roses. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Lloyd Spooner, and Percy Caldwell.

New Lodge Started.
Thursday evening, in Sherwood, the A. M. F. started under dispensation a new lodge of that order, and gave the degree of entered apprentice to a number of candidates. There were present from Portland a number of visitors. Among them were John Ditchburn, Thad Minard, G. S. Breiting and G. B. M. Summerville.

For Mrs. Briggs.
Complimenting Mrs. George E. Briggs of Heppleston, Or., a luncheon was given today by Mrs. George H. Uphogrove at her home, 630 East Couch street. Those present were Mrs. George E. Briggs, Mrs. C. K. Bland, Mrs. A. J. MacDonald, Mrs. W. H. Blanchard, Mrs. R. E. Allen, Mrs. F. C. Baker, Mrs. W. G. Harold, Mrs. Ira G. King, Mrs. H. J. Uphogrove, Mrs. H. Blackley, Mrs. J. A. Hood, Mrs. Z. E. Rose.

In Honor of Mrs. Walden.
Mrs. C. H. Walden of Sacramento, Cal., who is the house guest of Mrs. Leo Bauer, was the guest of honor at a Halloween luncheon Thursday given by Mrs. R. E. Fry of 54 Ladd avenue, assisted by her daughter, Miss 'Goldie'. Covers were laid for nine. During the course of the afternoon Mrs. Shannon of Columbus, Ohio, who has a voice of rare sweetness, sang
