

INDICATIONS THAT WASHINGTON STATE WILL ALSO BE DRY

"Wet" Lead in Seattle Expected to Be Overcome by Prohibition Vote Elsewhere

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 4.—After fluctuating between wet and dry in the compilation of the returns from over the state and King county the count at noon from 490 out of 2,053 precincts in the state stood: Wet 25,260; dry 21,689.

More complete returns were had on the Prohibition question than on any other, and while the city of Seattle will probably give the "wets" a lead of 10,000, the state is expected to go dry by a decisive vote.

For Supreme Court.
For supreme court judges, 116 precincts gave Chastick, 9,532; Crow, 6,447; Mills, 5,146; Holcomb, 6,644; Humphries, 3,854; Pemberton, 5,118.

A Hard Meal to Digest

Is Quickly Digested by the Taking of a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After It Is Over.

"I can eat corn now and feel O. K. A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will quickly digest it."
One takes a tablet just after the meal is consumed. It is taken into the mouth like food; is mixed with the saliva, swallowed moist and partially dissolved. It goes into the stomach and is there mixed with the stomach juices which are composed of acids and alkalies.
A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet reinforces these juices. It quickly digests the elements which such weakened juices cannot digest.
After a while the stomach passes the meal partially. It is taken into the intestines, where it goes through another stage of digestion. Here, as in the stomach, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets strengthen the juices of digestion and complete the work of giving the body the benefit of the meal.
There is nothing harmful in these tablets. Only natural ingredients which the body lacks are supplied. In a short time the blood and digestive juices are given the power they lack. Man can digest any food without injury and the entire health of the body is increased. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold wherever drugs are sold. Price 50 cents a box. Anyone wishing a free trial of these tablets please address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
Sample package will be mailed free. Ad.

PROBABLY REELECTED SHERIFF OF MULTNOMAH

Tom Word.

Democrat, 2338; Ole Hanson, Progressive, 2520.
With all of the larger Progressive precincts not yet reported in the city, Prosecutor Dow and Sheriff Jamieson, Progressives, are having hard work to hold their own against the Republicans, and early returns appeared to indicate that the county would go Republican, with the exception of these two offices, and probably that of assessor. On the justice ticket the Progressive candidates are holding their own.

The only initiative measure that seems to have a chance of adoption so far as Tacoma's voice is concerned, is that for the abolition of employment agencies, the vote standing 4545 for and 4035 against.

BACK TO THE FARM MOVEMENT FEASIBLE WITHOUT HIGH COST

How a Newspaper Man Got Settled in Plain but Comfortable Quarters.

By John Albert Hall.
When I retired from the active management of a rural newspaper I found it necessary to fall back upon the farm. My health, never too good, had been seriously affected by the indoor work, and my finances were at a low ebb. Accordingly it was more a matter of necessity than of taste that I should exercise the strictest economy.

We purchased a small farm of 32 acres on which was a frame house, partly finished, 15 by 24 feet, and two stories high. As this was rather small, wife and I immediately set about to formulate plans for building on. We decided to build a lean-to kitchen 14 by 24 feet in size, using one end for a pantry and bathroom, as it joined the lower bedroom. For the foundation I used rough fir lumber, getting it from a local mill, and for the siding surfaced 1 by 12 stuff. The floor I built of shiplap and the roof of two foot shakes, or "boards," as many call them, laid shingle fashion, eight inches to the weather. With a drawknife I shaved these down so that the roof makes a presentable appearance, and with O. G. battens the wall will be quite presentable.
Work Yet to Be Done.
To finish the building now it will be necessary to ceil with shiplap and to lay flooring over the shiplap. But the building as it is will be comfortable for the winter and will add very much to the convenience and the comfort of the home if not to its appearance. The total cost for all material was but little over $30. Shiplap and surfaced lumber cost $5 per 1000 feet and rough $3. I did the hauling. The shakes cost $4.50 per 1000 and go nearly three times as far as shingles. They are also more durable and make a splendid roof. With a little additional lumber and shakes I could have a comfortable henhouse and a woodshed 14 by 18 feet, so that now we are quite comfortably fixed for the winter.

Cheap Lumber.
The use of shakes is quite common here for the covering of farm buildings, and they make a splendid roof. On the place is an old barn, which neighbors tell me was built over 33 years ago, and the shakes, although now badly decayed, still turn the rain surprisingly well. Shakes are much cheaper, easier to lay and more durable than shingles where they can be easily secured. Five dollars per 1000 is the usual price here and, laid with a short lap, shake fashion, they go from three to five times as far as shingles, according to length and quality.

Most farmers, even though they live near a city, can get their lumber much cheaper by going to a backwoods mill where they have to haul it some distance to market. There is usually some time when the farm team is not too busy and the hauling can be done. In this way a considerable saving can be effected. Then, too, shiplap and surfaced lumber can be got for a mere trifle, about $1 per 1000 feet more than rough lumber, while rustic flooring and other finishing lumber come much higher.
The erection of comfortable buildings on the farm is of the utmost importance. I believe they should be as neat in appearance as possible, but I need rather sacrifice in appearance than comfort than go broke in the Valley Roller Mills Destroyed by Fire

Tygh Valley, Or., Nov. 4.—The Valley Roller Mills, belonging to A. M. Young, burned to the ground Friday at 1:30 p. m. The loss is at least $3000 to $40,000, with but $6000 insurance. Had not it been for the coolness of F. C. Butter, doublet's A. M. Young would have perished in the burning building as it was being lit. The building to try to save something but was held back.

No siree! This isn't a snapshot of the goings-on at Grand Old 142 last night; it's merely a sketch to show what even an ordinary player piano will do to get a crowd into good humor.

And just imagine what a fine, new, modern, genuine Autopiano Player Piano or one of those beautiful and costly player pianos DeLuxe would do in the way of education, entertainment and enjoyment. Every one of these very latest and magnificent instruments is included in the Manufacturers' Emergency and Surplus Sale now being conducted at Eilers Music House. The factory Representatives, Messrs. Ellsworth, Barns and Davey, are certainly cutting the prices down so low that no home worthy of being called "Home" need be without a first-class Player Piano. Music rolls are included free of charge with each player piano at the sale prices, and terms of payment are made so easy that even a number of telephone girls are arranging to buy player pianos out of their savings.
