

GREATER CHRISTIAN CHURCH PREDICTED AS RESULT OF WAR

Religion Means More Than Mere Saving of Souls, Declaration of Dr. Rarick.

BROADER NOT UNIVERSAL

Single Denomination Impossible, but Higher Purpose Will Bring New Power.

That a greater Christian church than the world has ever seen will follow the closing of the European war, is the prediction of Rev. C. C. Rarick, pastor of Central Methodist church, Vancouver avenue and Fargo street, in his sermon last night.

"The church of the future will be a vital force in the solving of the problem sociological," he asserted. "It will recognize the fact that religion means more than the mere salvation of the soul. It means the feeding of the hungry, the clothing of the naked, the healing of the sick, the visiting of the prisoners, the relief, comfort and help for the whole being; in short, the application of Christian thought to all social classes and all social relations."

"Prophecy declares that Christ's kingdom is an everlasting kingdom; that his dominion will endure through all generations. Other kingdoms have perished, mowed down by the relentless scythe of the time—Babylon, Media, Macedonia, Persia, Syria, Egypt, Greece, Rome—each swept away as though it had never flourished."

"The present war in Europe may sweep away another kingdom or two, but the church, founded on the rock of Jesus of Nazareth, still lives and grows. Will it finally cease to be? Some teach that it will gradually merge and disappear with the increasing humanitarian impulse. But the world's impetus is not away from the universal, as persuasive as it is prevalent."

"This impulse will be more intelligently educated and more reverently developed in the future than in the past. With the developing years will come clearer visions and broader outlooks and a deepened sense of righteousness, with a profoundness in the presence of spiritual realities."

"The church of the future will not be one universal church. Human beings differ in temperament, and as the world and therefore they will differ in their religious denominations."

"With the deeper life and broader outlook which the coming years will bring to the children of God, there will be a new power the truth that there is nothing peculiar, which religion cannot touch and glorify; that God never meant his saints to have one gospel for Sunday and another for Monday; one religion for the church and another for the world, one conscience for Caesar and another for Jehovah. The church of the future has one aim, to save the world, and will spare no effort to accomplish its aim."

"Kiss Wife More" Minister's Advice

Both Bachelors and Married Men Are Given Sharp Talking To at Opening Service of Week of Prayer.

Some of the old time doctrine of hell fire and damnation of sinners was hurled at an audience of another by Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon by Rev. Lovick Pierce Law, in the opening service of the week of prayer.

Mr. Law divided his talk between the bachelors and the married men, discussing various features of "Pay Day." To the benedicta he said that a kiss of greeting at home does more to make the cooking good than most people imagine and to the single chaps he gave admonition that the wages of sin is death.

The speaker deplored the increasing practice of moving picture theaters on Sunday while the churches are not gaining. He said more belief in hell is a necessity to overcome this tendency of the people.

The week of prayer services will be held each noon during the week. J. Bruce Evans, California evangelist, spoke today. This is Baptist day. Christian church day will be observed tomorrow, with N. L. Loveless as leader. H. L. Cox will lead the Friends' day services, Wednesday, and Rev. L. R. Dyott will lead Congregational day, Thursday. Rev. J. H. Boyd will preside Friday during Presbyterian day, and Rev. Frank L. Loveland on Saturday during Methodist day. General prayer for peace and the advancement of Christianity and universal justice will be voiced.

Words of High Praise Given Dean Sumner

Official Episcopalian Paper of Chicago Says Loss Will Be Greater—Great Future Predicted.

The great loss that Episcopalianism in Chicago will suffer through the appointments of Dean Walter T. Sumner and Rev. Herman Page to the bishoprics of Oregon and Spokane respectively is commented upon in the November issue of the "Diocese of Chicago," the official publication of the denomination in Chicago. The following statement is made:

"More will be said about this in a future issue of this paper. More will be said about the two men who have yielded to the call of the west. In the meantime we have abundant reason for saying that Chicago's loss is Oregon's and Spokane's gain. For it is a tremendous loss to Chicago to have to part with Dean Sumner and Dr. Page. It is a great gain to our brethren in the farther west to have succeeded these two priests for their leaders. Dean Sumner has accepted his election to the diocese of Oregon and Dr. Page has accepted his election to Spokane. We have given of our best to these two fields. We are trying to do it cheerfully and ungrudgingly, remembering that God loveth a cheerful giver. They have stood for great things and have accomplished great things in Chicago. They will be the highest and more responsible office. We are not saying good-bye to them just yet. It will take some weeks (the more the better) for the formalities to be completed, but the higher and more responsible office. We are not saying good-bye to them just yet. It will take some weeks (the more the better) for the formalities to be completed, but the higher and more responsible office. We are not saying good-bye to them just yet. It will take some weeks (the more the better) for the formalities to be completed, but the higher and more responsible office."

"The church of the future will be a vital force in the solving of the problem sociological," he asserted. "It will recognize the fact that religion means more than the mere salvation of the soul. It means the feeding of the hungry, the clothing of the naked, the healing of the sick, the visiting of the prisoners, the relief, comfort and help for the whole being; in short, the application of Christian thought to all social classes and all social relations."

German Zion Church Formally Dedicated

Sermon Preached by Seattle Minister: Pastor of First Congregational Addresses Public Meeting in Afternoon.

With opening services in the morning and a platform meeting in the afternoon, the new German Zion Congregational church at Fremont and East Ninth streets was formally dedicated to service yesterday. The pastor, Rev. J. H. Hopp, was in charge of services for the day, and a large choir, supplemented by an orchestra, furnished music. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. C. A. Detmers of Seattle. Rev. Frank W. Gorman of Atkinson Memorial Congregational church, and Mrs. C. A. Detmers of Seattle gave musical selections. The public meeting in the afternoon was addressed by Rev. Luther R. Dyott and other Congregational ministers of the city. The church was attractively decorated.

20-Peso Fine for Killing American

Then Murderer Was Promoted to Be a Major; He Is Leading Band of Freebooters in Chihuahua Now.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 9.—Arrivals from the interior of Chihuahua say that a band of freebooters commanded by Santa Ana Carvo, formerly a Huerta army volunteer officer, is operating in the rural districts between Chihuahua City and Camargo and that a few days ago had a skirmish with a small detachment from General Hernandez's brigade, defeating them. The battle took place in a small settlement near Camargo and the Hernandez troops retreated to Santa Rosalia.

Carvo is the convicted slayer of a young American at Madaga, Chihuahua. At that time he was a captain in the federal army and on representations from the state department was tried and convicted of killing the American.

The court at Juarez fined him 20 pesos for the killing and the federal army authorities, after he had been released from jail, promoted him to the rank of major.
