

THE WAYS OF WAR ARE NO MORE STRANGE THAN THOSE WHO TAKE PART

A typical East Indian soldier in the British camp near Ypres enjoying a smoke from his cherished hookah

An old woman is seen cooking in the open, while an armed guard stands by. This photograph was taken in France

GERMAN FIELD POSTOFFICE IS CRUDE AFFAIR BUT POPULAR WITHAL

A group of German officers and soldiers are here seen gathered about a temporary field postoffice. One is posting a letter in a mailbox attached to a window shutter. The others are reading letters from dear ones at home perhaps —Photographs copyright, 1914, by the International News Service.