

AUSTRIAN CONSUL STARS ABYSSINIANS AGAINST ITALIANS

Serious Trouble for Allies If Herr Schwimmer's Plotting in Africa Is Successful

ITALY SENDS TROOPS

Italian Public Is Not Given Full Information for Fear of Effect on Relations With Austria.

Rome, Nov. 29.—(By mail via New York.)—Austria is trying to drag Abyssinia into the world war. It may be that Germany is trying, too, but the Italian government is certain concerning Austria. It has received detailed reports from absolutely reliable sources of the plotting of Herr Schwimmer, the Austrian consul at Addis Ababa.

This information was not given out officially. In view of the fact that the government has made it public, it probably would be refused transmission over the Italian telegraph wires. It was obtained, however, from unquestionable authorities, and for that matter it is not much of a secret in well posted circles.

Whether or not Herr Schwimmer has also intrigued against Italy is not certain.

More Troops Are Sent.

Even if it was unintentional on his part, he has nevertheless succeeded, as a result of his mischief making for the allies' benefit, in stirring up considerable hostile Abyssinian sentiment against the Italians.

Signs of this feeling became so evident recently that the Rome government deemed it necessary to strengthen its military establishment in its possession of Eritrea, which lies between the Red sea and the Abyssinian frontier.

It was announced when the troops left Italy that they were destined for the Tripolitan Egypt frontier and the explanation was given that fears were entertained of an overflow of the Turkish campaign in Egypt into Tripoli.

This occasioned considerable surprise at the time, since the Turks had not even across Egypt's eastern frontier then, and some hundreds of miles lay between them and Italian territory.

It was it a fact that the government intended to use its reinforcements in Tripoli. Instead it was for Eritrea that they were bound.

May Have Been Accident. The presumption is that it was by accident that Herr Schwimmer stirred the Abyssinians to a state of un-friendliness so far as Italy is concerned. It is recognized that both Germany and Austria resent the Italian failure to help them against the allies, but they are so anxious to prevent them from joining the allies themselves that it is unlikely they would purposely risk angering them by their representatives' activities at Addis Ababa.

The possibility is also that the Italian government's reasons for suppressing news of the situation in Eritrea was its unwillingness to let the public know of the fact that Herr Schwimmer, as is well known, there is already a strong sentiment throughout Italy in favor of war with Austria, and if the fact should be published that a military expedition to Eritrea had been rendered necessary by the Austrian diplomat's meddling, the people's anger might render it impossible for the government to avert hostilities longer.

Trouble for the Allies. Should the Teutonic agent succeed in inducing the Abyssinians to go to war, he will have accomplished what will prove very serious for the allies, as well as for Italy.

The Egyptian Sudan, British Somaliland, British East Africa, Eritrea, Italian Somaliland and French Somaliland all border on Abyssinia and would be very difficult if not impossible to protect against extensive invasions.

The Abyssinians, too, have a high reputation as fighting men, as Italy knows to her cost.

The obliteration, a generation ago, of a large Italian military expedition engaged in operations against King Menelik has never been forgotten here. It has not been forgotten in Abyssinia. There has been a smolder of resentment there against Italians ever since, and this was probably responsible for the fact that Schwimmer against his own wishes, Herr Schwimmer's attempts to provoke the negus to an invasion of the neighboring possessions secured to him by treaty.

In Tazewell vs. Davis, 64 Oregon, 325. It is said that the act of 1905 is general in its scope, particularly section 3529, L. O. L., and we think authorize any elector of the state, or any political division thereof, to contest the right of any person to any office for which such elector has the right to vote, including the office of circuit judge.

If this (Word vs. Hurlburt) were a case of first impression, I might reach a different conclusion; but this court is bound by the decision of our court of last resort. Under this ruling it seems clear that the act of 1905 in relation to election contests is general in its scope and provides an adequate mode for the contest of an election to the office of sheriff by a defeated candidate against a successful candidate to determine who has received a plurality of the legal votes cast at the election; that is, to determine who was legally elected to the office.

Act General in Scope. "To be eligible to election to this office one must be an elector and entitled to vote at the election which is the subject of contest. Since the act is general in its scope and authorizes any elector to contest the right of any person to any office for which he has the right to vote, it certainly authorizes this contestant to contest the election of the contestant to the office of sheriff. If both acts are in effect, a defeated candidate for a county office has a choice to proceed under the old law or under the new in an election contest. A candidate for a district office comprising this county would be confined to the proceedings provided by the Corrupt Practices Act."

What Was Electors' Intent? Did the electors intend to repeal the former law, or was the new law intended to be merely cumulative? Did they intend to express in the later act the whole law on the subject of election contests as it should then exist? Several provisions of the two acts are in conflict and their provisions differ widely in several particulars. The provisions of the statute under consideration relate to the same subject, to election contests. The new law is vastly wider in its scope, and enlarges materially the remedy provided by the old law.

An intention will not be ascribed to the lawmaking power to establish conflicting systems upon the same subject, or to repeal a law by the provisions of a law which the later will of the legislature may be thwarted or overthrown.

New Law Covers All Contests. The act of 1905 as construed by the supreme court appears to cover the whole subject of election contests, by candidates as well as by electors who were not candidates; it provides all the essential remedies provided by the old act and enlarges materially the scope of election contests; it provides other conditions upon the exercise of this right; it falls to provide an appeal, or there is no constitutional vested right to an appeal. It seems to me that it was the intention of the legislature to repeal at least so much of the former law as conflicted with or differed from the provisions of the later act, and that they intended by this act to regulate by a uniform rule the entire subject of election contests. In my opinion there is no constitutional right to be pursued by filing a petition and bond and by issuing a citation in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1905.

Not was it a fact that the government intended to use its reinforcements in Tripoli. Instead it was for Eritrea that they were bound.

May Have Been Accident. The presumption is that it was by accident that Herr Schwimmer stirred the Abyssinians to a state of un-friendliness so far as Italy is concerned. It is recognized that both Germany and Austria resent the Italian failure to help them against the allies, but they are so anxious to prevent them from joining the allies themselves that it is unlikely they would purposely risk angering them by their representatives' activities at Addis Ababa.

The possibility is also that the Italian government's reasons for suppressing news of the situation in Eritrea was its unwillingness to let the public know of the fact that Herr Schwimmer, as is well known, there is already a strong sentiment throughout Italy in favor of war with Austria, and if the fact should be published that a military expedition to Eritrea had been rendered necessary by the Austrian diplomat's meddling, the people's anger might render it impossible for the government to avert hostilities longer.

Trouble for the Allies. Should the Teutonic agent succeed in inducing the Abyssinians to go to war, he will have accomplished what will prove very serious for the allies, as well as for Italy.

The Egyptian Sudan, British Somaliland, British East Africa, Eritrea, Italian Somaliland and French Somaliland all border on Abyssinia and would be very difficult if not impossible to protect against extensive invasions.

The Abyssinians, too, have a high reputation as fighting men, as Italy knows to her cost.

The obliteration, a generation ago, of a large Italian military expedition engaged in operations against King Menelik has never been forgotten here. It has not been forgotten in Abyssinia. There has been a smolder of resentment there against Italians ever since, and this was probably responsible for the fact that Schwimmer against his own wishes, Herr Schwimmer's attempts to provoke the negus to an invasion of the neighboring possessions secured to him by treaty.

In Tazewell vs. Davis, 64 Oregon, 325. It is said that the act of 1905 is general in its scope, particularly section 3529, L. O. L., and we think authorize any elector of the state, or any political division thereof, to contest the right of any person to any office for which such elector has the right to vote, including the office of circuit judge.

If this (Word vs. Hurlburt) were a case of first impression, I might reach a different conclusion; but this court is bound by the decision of our court of last resort. Under this ruling it seems clear that the act of 1905 in relation to election contests is general in its scope and provides an adequate mode for the contest of an election to the office of sheriff by a defeated candidate against a successful candidate to determine who has received a plurality of the legal votes cast at the election; that is, to determine who was legally elected to the office.

Act General in Scope. "To be eligible to election to this office one must be an elector and entitled to vote at the election which is the subject of contest. Since the act is general in its scope and authorizes any elector to contest the right of any person to any office for which he has the right to vote, it certainly authorizes this contestant to contest the election of the contestant to the office of sheriff. If both acts are in effect, a defeated candidate for a county office has a choice to proceed under the old law or under the new in an election contest. A candidate for a district office comprising this county would be confined to the proceedings provided by the Corrupt Practices Act."

What Was Electors' Intent? Did the electors intend to repeal the former law, or was the new law intended to be merely cumulative? Did they intend to express in the later act the whole law on the subject of election contests as it should then exist? Several provisions of the two acts are in conflict and their provisions differ widely in several particulars. The provisions of the statute under consideration relate to the same subject, to election contests. The new law is vastly wider in its scope, and enlarges materially the remedy provided by the old law.

An intention will not be ascribed to the lawmaking power to establish conflicting systems upon the same subject, or to repeal a law by the provisions of a law which the later will of the legislature may be thwarted or overthrown.

New Law Covers All Contests. The act of 1905 as construed by the supreme court appears to cover the whole subject of election contests, by candidates as well as by electors who were not candidates; it provides all the essential remedies provided by the old act and enlarges materially the scope of election contests; it provides other conditions upon the exercise of this right; it falls to provide an appeal, or there is no constitutional vested right to an appeal. It seems to me that it was the intention of the legislature to repeal at least so much of the former law as conflicted with or differed from the provisions of the later act, and that they intended by this act to regulate by a uniform rule the entire subject of election contests. In my opinion there is no constitutional right to be pursued by filing a petition and bond and by issuing a citation in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1905.

Not was it a fact that the government intended to use its reinforcements in Tripoli. Instead it was for Eritrea that they were bound.

May Have Been Accident. The presumption is that it was by accident that Herr Schwimmer stirred the Abyssinians to a state of un-friendliness so far as Italy is concerned. It is recognized that both Germany and Austria resent the Italian failure to help them against the allies, but they are so anxious to prevent them from joining the allies themselves that it is unlikely they would purposely risk angering them by their representatives' activities at Addis Ababa.

The possibility is also that the Italian government's reasons for suppressing news of the situation in Eritrea was its unwillingness to let the public know of the fact that Herr Schwimmer, as is well known, there is already a strong sentiment throughout Italy in favor of war with Austria, and if the fact should be published that a military expedition to Eritrea had been rendered necessary by the Austrian diplomat's meddling, the people's anger might render it impossible for the government to avert hostilities longer.

Trouble for the Allies. Should the Teutonic agent succeed in inducing the Abyssinians to go to war, he will have accomplished what will prove very serious for the allies, as well as for Italy.

The Egyptian Sudan, British Somaliland, British East Africa, Eritrea, Italian Somaliland and French Somaliland all border on Abyssinia and would be very difficult if not impossible to protect against extensive invasions.

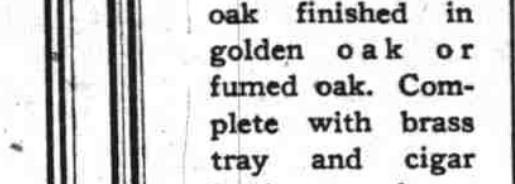

The Abyssinians, too, have a high reputation as fighting men, as Italy knows to her cost.

The obliteration, a generation ago, of a large Italian military expedition engaged in operations against King Menelik has never been forgotten here. It has not been forgotten in Abyssinia. There has been a smolder of resentment there against Italians ever since, and this was probably responsible for the fact that Schwimmer against his own wishes, Herr Schwimmer's attempts to provoke the negus to an invasion of the neighboring possessions secured to him by treaty.

Store Open TONIGHT From 6 Until 9 P. M. With a Greatly Increased Force of Experienced Salesmen

Smoking Stands Special $4.50

—Made of solid oak finished in golden oak or fumed oak. Complete with brass tray and cigar holders as shown in the illustration.

Wicker Sewing Basket Special $4.45

—These baskets are firmly constructed—made of selected quality wicker. They would make most useful and practical gifts. In style as illustrated.

Sewing Stands Special $3.95

—Of solid oak, finished in golden oak, fumed oak or mahogany. Fitted with four small compartments for thread, needles, etc., and one large compartment for sewing materials. In style as illustrated.

Good, Practical Gift FURS

—There are two dominant factors that make this sale unique: First, that Every Fur Reduced which makes this occasion of unprecedented importance. But most important of all is the fact that our furs are guaranteed and that every piece shown is in the most popular fashion.

—The regular prices range from $10.00 a set to $200.00. Special now from $8.10 to $160.00.

—Third Floor

ALSO OFFER IN THE SUIT STORE

Every Suit Reduced Every Coat Reduced Every Waist Reduced Every Skirt Reduced Every Dress Reduced Every Sweater Red'd

Just Received From Our Florence Office The Latest Novelty ITALIAN BLANKETS $1.00, $1.75, $3.50, $5.00

—Fifth Floor

The Enduring Gift of Fine Gold and Silver Expressed in a Wealth Of Variety In Our Jewelry Store

When Every Article Is Marked From A Fifth to Half Less Than Regular

SLIPPERS

Hundreds of Slippers for Xmas Gifts FOR WOMEN

—Felt toilet de luxe slippers in blue, old rose, taupe and lavender at $2.00 pair.

—Felt comfy slippers with felt padded soles, in blue, Oxford, purple, taupe and orchid, at $1.50 pair.

—Felt Juliet Fur-Trimmed Slippers, special 98c.

—Felt Juliet Ribbon-Trimmed Slippers, special, $1.19.

—Felt Easy Soft-Soled Slippers, special, $1.19.

Slippers for Men

—Brown kid Romeo hand-turned soles, $1.50 to $3.

—Slippers in opera styles, custom grade, in tan, seal, brown, vici, black; hand-turned soles, custom last, $3.50 pair.

—Full line of men's black or tan kid Everet and opera slippers, priced from $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 to $2.50 pair.

Matinees and Negligees Half Price

—Handsome, long, graceful negligees of soft albatross, French flannels and some of silks. Made in Empire and loose-flowing styles; trimmings of laces, ribbons, scalloped edges and some with small lace sleeves.

—Nothing quite takes the place of the volume that carries between its covers hours of delight, forgetfulness, help for the man, woman, boy or girl you want to greet.

—Even the big gift of something else is made richer if you tuck a carefully-chosen book in with it.

—Come into the Lipman-Wolfe Book Store Tuesday and order the books that will carry your message to friends.

—If you don't know just what to choose, ask us. We know them all.

The Power of a Dollar

Is Forcefully Demonstrated in The Holiday Bazaar On the Second Floor Where Thousands of Xmas Gifts Are Assembled for Your Inspection Nearly Over One Dollar

Linen Handkerch'fs—Odd Initials

100 DOZEN IN THIS SALE Regular 25c Handkerchiefs Special 17c

—All pure linen, with real hand-embroidered initials in dainty wreath design, quarter-inch hems. In these handkerchiefs there are only initials D, P, J, H, S, W, T and R.

75c Box Handkerchiefs, Special 48c Box

—Pure linen handkerchiefs, with neat hemstitched hem, embroidered initials in corner. Initials G, L, E, M, D, N, A, F, B, C, K and R only in this assortment. Three handkerchiefs in a box.

The Christmas Book

—"Christmas won't be Christmas without any presents," grumbled "Jo" in Miss Alcott's immortal "Little Women."

—A good many people feel that way about Christmas if it doesn't bring them any books.

—Nothing quite takes the place of the volume that carries between its covers hours of delight, forgetfulness, help for the man, woman, boy or girl you want to greet.

—Even the big gift of something else is made richer if you tuck a carefully-chosen book in with it.

—Come into the Lipman-Wolfe Book Store Tuesday and order the books that will carry your message to friends.

—If you don't know just what to choose, ask us. We know them all.

THE DOLLS

Have a Store All Their Own "The House of a Thousand Babies" On the Second Floor.

—The biggest, brightest, airiest doll house ever seen

—Thousands of dolls of every kind imaginable.

—$2.50 Full Jointed Dolls 98c

—25 inches long—the famous "Pansy" and "My Dearie" dolls, with character bisque heads, natural curly hair, movable eyes.

—75c Character Dolls 48c

—Dressed in gingham dresses, with bonnet, shoes and stockings—bobbed hair.

—$1.25 Dressed Dolls 75c

—11 inches long—full jointed, movable eyes, dressed in character styles. Also many character dolls in different sizes.

Lipman Wolfe & Co

Merchandise of Merit Only

Practical, Artistic Gifts From the Art Room Sixth Floor

$1.50 Silver Deposit Trays, Special 59c

—11-inch celery trays, with cut star bottom and decoration of silver deposit in attractive design, as illustrated.

$1.50 Cut Glass Nappies, Special 79c

—6-inch nappies, with or without handle, deeply cut in rich pattern on heavy blanks—As illustrated.

$1.50 Crumb Tray Set Spec'l 98c

—Tray and brush of brass in antique finish, embossed decoration—As illustrated.

$4 7-Piece Cake Sets Special $1.98

—Set consists of a 10-inch plate and six 6-inch plates, hand-painted on Nippon china, decorated in gold.—As illustrated.

75c Imp. Candle Lamp Special 39c

—Of white bisque, ornamented with child figure, finished with handsome colored shade. Stands 11 inches high—As illustrated.

75c Sil. Deposit Dish Special 48c

—5-inch jelly dishes of heavy crystal, with attractive decorations of silver deposit.—As illustrated.

$2.00 13-Inch Serving Trays, Special 98c

—Mahogany finished serving trays in oval shape, with brass handles, glass and felt back. Decorated center.—As illustrated.

$2.48 Sil. Pie Dishes Sp'l $1.75

—Heavily silver plated frame in pierced design, with fireproof baking dish, 10 inches in diameter. Ebony handles.—As illustrated.

$2.25 10-Inch Bisque Figures Special 98c

—Including famous subjects, such as "The Boy With the Thorn," etc. Finished in pure white.—As illustrated.

$4 French Mirrors $2.98

—Handsome mirrors for halls, living-rooms and bedrooms, 36 inches long. In antique gold frames, ornamented at the top with hand-colored rosettes, and also a small colored picture reproducing the old masters. These mirrors would make most acceptable Xmas gifts.

Framed Pictures Selling to $3.50, Very Special 95c

—This sale embraces one of the largest and most diversified assortments of framed pictures that we have ever presented at one price, and at a price so low as this.

—Pictures reproducing famous paintings by the old masters, framed in handsome antique gold frames and dark colored frames.

—Also a large assortment of popular pictures by American artists, hand-colored with walnut veneer frames.

$1.25 Framed Maxfield Parrish Pictures 69c

—A complete assortment of all the newest subjects of Maxfield Parrish pictures, in color, framed with carved old gold frames.

Six Big Holiday Glove Attractions Continuing Our Great Glove Sale Special $1.25

$1.50 Doe and Chamois Gloves, Guaranteed Washable Special 95c

$1.25 One-Clasp Lambskin Gloves, in White, Tan, Gray Special $1.95

$3.00 Cape Gloves, in 16-Button Length Special $1.19

$1.50 French Lambskin Gloves, in Two-Clasp Style Special 98c

$1.25 Cape Gloves, in an Extra Serviceable Quality Special $1.95

$2.50 Lambskin Gloves, in 16-Button Length.—First Floor

Act General in Scope. "To be eligible to election to this office one must be an elector and entitled to vote at the election which is the subject of contest. Since the act is general in its scope and authorizes any elector to contest the right of any person to any office for which he has the right to vote, it certainly authorizes this contestant to contest the election of the contestant to the office of sheriff. If both acts are in effect, a defeated candidate for a county office has a choice to proceed under the old law or under the new in an election contest. A candidate for a district office comprising this county would be confined to the proceedings provided by the Corrupt Practices Act."

AGENTS FOR FREE SEWING MACHINES