MANY BASKETS ARE SENT OUT

No Portland family need be without a Christmas dinner tomorrow because of poverty or misfortune. Hundreds of baskets and boxes full of good things were distributed today.

The Salvation Army relief department began early this morning the distribution of 300 baskets well filled with chickens, potatoes and other articles of food.

The Muts had a line of trucks and automobiles drawn up outside their headquarters in the Pittock block ready to carry to the needy whose names had been listed boxes weighing 40 pounds or more.

Associated Charities gave to a large number of people the names of families who would be made happy by the gift of a Christmas dinner and these individual efforts represented a substantial portion of the good done today.

All the Christmas baskets were made up of plain and substantial food. There was no disposition this year to supply the dainties that have little food value.

Relief Fund Breaks Record. The winter relief fund of Associated Charities has exceeded all previous records. The acknowledgments at noon today had reached a total of $434,551.

Yuletide Celebration Unusually General

All Churches Will Have Special Programs. Practically Every Business House in City to Close.

Christmas Day will be celebrated in every Portland church tomorrow. Church bells will be ringing from early morning, when they will call to the early mass and prayer services, till 7:30 at night when many of the churches will have special services.

Special musical services will be the form of worship in practically every church in the city. Soloists, regular choirs and choruses organized for the one occasion only have been practicing for weeks for the rendition of the Christmas carols.

Business will be at a standstill. Practically the entire waterfront will be deserted. The only vessels in the Columbia river or Willamette river, and which will be working cargo, will be the Grace liner Santa Clara at Astoria.

The city hall, courthouse and custom house will be closed for the day. Many of the stores will close their doors this afternoon giving their employees the advantage of a half holiday today.

Schools dismissed yesterday for the Christmas holidays. The children in most of the schools—recitations and songs.

ARMORY SCENE OF CHRISTMAS JOY FOR TOTS

If you believe in Santa Clause but have sort of forgotten during the years, the joy of the Christmas spirit would all have come back to see the little folk filed into and filled all the seats in the lobby of the Armory this afternoon.

Santa Claus Brings Joy. Such a chorus of "Oh's," and "Ah's" and "I's" of ecstasy were heard resting on the scene before them. They were Santa's great reindeer, his sturdy sleigh, and—wonder of wonders—Santa himself, with his assistant, clad in garments of bright fur trimmed with fur and frost.

The Muts' Christmas celebration is the most the biggest thing ever done in Portland to insure the joy of Christmas to every child in the city. The preparation involved a great deal of work that was gladly volunteered.

Street Car Company Aids. The street car company gave transportation to the Armory free; the city gave the use of the armory and R. L. Adams in presiding, the women of the Parent-Teacher associations and helped seek out the little folks to whom Christmas was a doubtful event.

One division after another of the children was called from the balcony onto the floor where the best gifts were to be distributed. The children were Santa's great reindeer, his sturdy sleigh, and—wonder of wonders—Santa himself, with his assistant, clad in garments of bright fur trimmed with fur and frost.

FIELD MARSHAL BECOMES NATIONAL HERO IN GERMANY

Considering their defective railroads, they have often made very quick marches. The Germans are constantly shifting their forces to deliver new blows.

They forced the Russians to retire 25 miles on the Livny-Coffin road. Lowicz and Lodz to Cracow. The new Russian position is only 20 miles from Warsaw.

Marshal von Hindenburg said there were 20 to 40 Russian army corps—approximately 1,200,000 to 1,600,000 men—opposing the German and Austrian line, which stretches over 250 miles.

Since November 13 the Germans have captured 110,000 Russians. Casualties Break Offensively. "They have suffered enormously," said Marshal von Hindenburg, "in killed and wounded, and in the heavy casualties they suffered in the three battles of the last four weeks resulted in the breaking of their offensive and of their resistance along the entire front."

The Germans are now on the offensive along their front. The Russians made two counter attacks today but were repulsed.

Marshal von Hindenburg is receiving the attentions which are showered only on popular heroes. He gets 300 to 400 letters from admirers daily. Many come from America, but many more are expressions of gratitude from Germans for his success in banishing the danger of a Russian invasion of the fatherland.

Presentations of every description pour in upon him and his men. Last week 5000 bottles of beer arrived at army headquarters as a gift.

KAISER'S HAIR WHITE AND HIS FACE THIN: BACK TO SAWING

(Continued From Page One.) everyone know where he is stopping it could not have been done more effectively than by the number of sentries and black and white striped sentry boxes which surround it.

At the other end of the block live some of the high government officials, and in the block's middle is the foreign office and the temporary home of the imperial chancellor.

Another little private park, with numerous walks, completely shut off from the street, connects the Kaiser's and the chancellor's places, and it is here that his majesty takes his daily strolls and saws wood.

For the German ruler has resumed his old custom of sawing wood, just as he used to do in Sans Souci, in Potsdam, and in Bellevue park in Berlin.

I was told by a member of his suite that he saw for an hour or two every day. He thinks it the exercise which keeps him in the best physical trim.

After cutting up a log, he sits down and rests, smokes a cigarette, thinks, and then saws some more.

Although I was told the name of the town in which his majesty is staying must not be mentioned, the French, it is generally understood, know exactly where it is.

CHINESE COOK HITS SLEEPING ROOMMATE WITH SHARP HATCHET

Assailant Hides in Cellar After Attack and Is Apprehended Later.

Umatilla, Or., Dec. 24.—G. Bing, cook in a local restaurant, probably fatally wounded Tuo Yung, his roommate, when he struck him with a sharp hatchet while the latter was asleep, early this morning.

Bing, it is said, was a highlander in San Francisco about four years ago, and locally he has been generally considered a "bad man." Yung, better known as "Lucy," is well known locally through his connection with the restaurant.

After striking Yung, Bing walked through the restaurant, told the proprietor what he had done, and then hid in a cellar, where he was apprehended some hours later.

No reason has been assigned for the attack.

GERMAN RESISTANCE TO ALLIES' ADVANCE IS GAINING STRENGTH

French Report Mining of the Sand Dunes Upon Belgian Coast Has Helped Allies.

(United Press Special Wire.) Paris, Dec. 24.—Effective mining of the sand dunes along the Belgian coast has won further allied advances against the Germans in that region, according to the daily war office statement issued here this afternoon.

These gains were described as having been made between the North Sea and the river Lys.

Progress was also claimed by the Belgians on the right bank of the Yser, south of Dixmude, and in the Arzonne and Woivre regions it was said the French had advanced.

The official statement did not, however, speak of any such important gains as were reported earlier in the week.

Everywhere, it was stated, German counter attacks had been repulsed. Such encounters were mentioned specifically as having occurred at Lombaertzyde and Zwartelen, and in the Aisne district, the brilliant resistance made by the Zouaves was referred to as having proved entirely successful.

Another German attack in the region of Ville-sur-Tourbe, in the Champagne district, was declared to have been repulsed owing to the effectiveness of the French artillery.

The report made it clear, however, from the number of counter attacks undertaken by the Germans, that the latter were putting up an increasingly vigorous resistance to the allies' general advance.

Operations were said to have been stopped by fog in the Arras region, but east and south of Amiens cannonading was reported to be proceeding heavily.

GERMANS ABANDON A POSITION IN WEST; IN EAST RETAKE MLAWA

Berlin, via wireless to London, Dec. 24.—A continuation of the German offensive in Poland and a rather quiet day in the western war zone were reported in the official government statement issued here this afternoon.

"It was quiet Wednesday at Neuport," said the communication, dealing first with operations in Belgium.

"December 22, we took 250 prisoners near Bixschote.

"The enemy was active Wednesday at Chuechem and we finally abandoned one position we had taken by a successful counter attack, because the trenches were nearly leveled by the enemy's fire. We took more than 1400 prisoners. "In the eastern theatre of war we assumed the offensive along the Niedenburg-Soldau line, repulsing the Russians. "After several days fighting, Mlawka is ours again. We took more than 1000 prisoners there.
