Drummer Evangelist Here.—Drummer Evangelist Billy Williams closed a successful two weeks' revival meeting last night at the Central Congregational church on Howell's Prairie near Salem. He is in Portland today on his way to Ellensburg, Wash., where he will begin a 10 days' meeting under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. He will then go to Y. M. C. A. at Seattle, January 20 to February 8. He next will be with the Methodist church at Arlington, Or. The old knight of the grip has now spent about four months in and around Portland in several meetings. After the Arlington meeting he will go to his home town, San Jose, Cal., for a three weeks' meeting in the Methodist Church South.

Two Divorce Suits Filed.—Mrs. Grace M. Clapp filed suit for divorce in the circuit court this morning against Robert N. Clapp. Cruelty is alleged in the complaint. The plaintiff asks one-third of the property, which is valued at more than $150,000. The real estate is located in Chicago, Iowa and Prince Rupert. The defendant was until last August employed as a salesman for the Blumauer-Frank Drug company and his salary, according to the plaintiff, was $400 a month. It is alleged that the defendant on one occasion pawned his wife's jewelry. They were married in Chicago January 14, 1911.

Up to Minute Dances Will Be Given at the Jinks of Press Club.
One Big Surprise and Several Little Ones Will Be Sprung Friday Night.

Miss Frances Magill.
Miss Frances Magill, star of Professor Ringler's dancing academy, made such a hit in the November jinks of the Press club, the news men have imported the entertainment committee to engage Miss Magill for the big jinks to be held next Friday night. Miss Magill's dancing partner will be Arthur Himes. They will give a demonstration of up-to-the-minute dances, many of which have only become popular in New York within the past month. These will include trots, dips, bends, twists, whirlies, whirles and swirles, none of which has yet been seen on the vaudeville stage of the west, although they are featured by dancers on Broadway.

Business Conditions Show Clear Signs of Developing Activity.

augured with all its facilities for the conservation of reserves and the wider extension of commercial credits.
Finances Now Normal.
Feeling its way cautiously, the securities market gradually overcame its early prostration, and in December the New York and other stock exchanges of the country were reopened without evidence of extensive liquidation, while the cotton and coffee exchanges also resumed business. Money became easy and exchange more normal, and the whole financial machinery of the country resumed its regular and orderly movement.

McAdoo's Return East.
San Francisco, Jan. 5.—After visiting the exposition grounds yesterday Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and wife left for Washington.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend thanks to our many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Yost, also for the many floral offerings received.

ular in New York within the past month. These will include trots, dips, bends, twists, whirlies, whirles and swirles, none of which has yet been seen on the vaudeville stage of the west, although they are featured by dancers on Broadway.
Miss Magill has declined many tempting offers to enter vaudeville, her dark beauty and grace in dancing impressing every danseuse for whom she danced at Cottillon hall. She prefers to remain in Portland and complete her course in fancy dancing before seeking stage honors.
Mrs. E. M. Hogan, another stellar hit in the November jinks, also will play a return engagement next Friday night, members of the Press club declaring no jinks would be complete without the lively pianologue entertainment offered by Mrs. Hogan.
One big surprise and probably several smaller ones will be sprung in Friday's jinks. These may be announced tomorrow.
All news men attending the jinks will be allowed to take one or several men friends, and all members of the Press club who come alone will be compelled by the reception committee to enter by the side door.

Drummer Evangelist Here.—Drummer Evangelist Billy Williams closed a successful two weeks' revival meeting last night at the Central Congregational church on Howell's Prairie near Salem. He is in Portland today on his way to Ellensburg, Wash., where he will begin a 10 days' meeting under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. He will then go to Y. M. C. A. at Seattle, January 20 to February 8. He next will be with the Methodist church at Arlington, Or. The old knight of the grip has now spent about four months in and around Portland in several meetings. After the Arlington meeting he will go to his home town, San Jose, Cal., for a three weeks' meeting in the Methodist Church South.

Two Divorce Suits Filed.—Mrs. Grace M. Clapp filed suit for divorce in the circuit court this morning against Robert N. Clapp. Cruelty is alleged in the complaint. The plaintiff asks one-third of the property, which is valued at more than $150,000. The real estate is located in Chicago, Iowa and Prince Rupert. The defendant was until last August employed as a salesman for the Blumauer-Frank Drug company and his salary, according to the plaintiff, was $400 a month. It is alleged that the defendant on one occasion pawned his wife's jewelry. They were married in Chicago January 14, 1911.

Up to Minute Dances Will Be Given at the Jinks of Press Club.

Miss Frances Magill.
Miss Frances Magill, star of Professor Ringler's dancing academy, made such a hit in the November jinks of the Press club, the news men have imported the entertainment committee to engage Miss Magill for the big jinks to be held next Friday night. Miss Magill's dancing partner will be Arthur Himes. They will give a demonstration of up-to-the-minute dances, many of which have only become popular in New York within the past month. These will include trots, dips, bends, twists, whirlies, whirles and swirles, none of which has yet been seen on the vaudeville stage of the west, although they are featured by dancers on Broadway.
