COACH STEWART GETS MEN TO CUT DRIBBLE FOR PASSING STYLE

Aggies Seem to Be Deficient in Art of Shooting Baskets This Year.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Or., Jan. 13.—The Oregon Agricultural college basketball squad is now in the reconstruction of the old dribbling game being gradually supplanted by the passing game.

"The only way in which I can account for the apparent lack of snap and scoring ability of the team," said "Doc" after the Alumni game last Saturday night, "is that the boys are not yet fully accustomed to passing the ball, instead of dribbling and then taking a shot as has been done in the past."

In the first game of the season with the Chemawa Indians, about a week ago, the Beavers showed a lack of defensive strength and scoring ability and in the game with the Alumni the other night they lacked the sufficient punch to roll up any sort of a substantial score, although were going right it could easily have been done.

With one of the most important phases of the game pretty well in hand, "Doc" is now harping on shooting baskets, which the whole team seems to be deficient in. With three good scoring men like King, Dewey and Selberta there should be no reason why the variety's scores in both regular games and night practices should not be larger than they have been.

There is only one ridiculous fact regarding the present Aggie squad and that is the center, who stands five feet six and a half inches tall in his basketball shoes. Although a "little runt" he jumps like a kangaroo and in the Alumni game, outpunched "Spud" Darling, former six foot-two-inch pivot on the Beaver squad.

IN THE LOOKING-GLASS

BY R. A. CRONIN.

If Walter McCredie wants speed in the outfield and on the bases more than he does slugging, then he profited by the trade of Buddy Ryan for Roy Moran, as announced yesterday.

Ryan in his heyday was probably the most popular ball player Portland ever had. He was given a testimonial in 1911 at which there was a generous outpouring of fans, but in these unsentimental days the former greatness is forgotten both by the manager and a great many of the fans.

Gus Fisher, leading batsman of the Pacific Coast league, was seen closeted with Judge McCredie yesterday, in conference over his contract. Gus is one of the few players due for a raise, most of them being cut on account of the reduction of the salary limit to $5000 a month.

It looks pretty much as if President Farr of the Spokane club played the low down on Nick Williams. Farr made a special trip from Spokane to Portland to see Williams, had a long conference with the handsome blonde, assured him that he was thinking of Nick for his 1915 manager and then dropped negotiations altogether.

Monthly Social Swim Draws Crowd

A large number of members of the Multnomah club attended the first monthly social swim of the season in the club tank last night.

The affair was a big success, being, by far, the best attended of the social swims. Frank Watkins, chairman of the swimming committee, announced last night that the next event would be held on the second Tuesday of February.

STATE PLANS TO PROCEED IN CASE OF BOXER COHEN

Manslaughter Charge Placed Against Fighter, Seconds and Promoter.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 13.—Legal action may be taken today by Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Lundin against Ike Cohen, the San Francisco fighter, who has been held in the city jail here in connection with the death of Ludwig Anderson, his opponent in a boxing match at the Pacific Athletic club last Friday night.

Lundin said today that the boxing contests held at the Pacific club were in violation of the state law, and it is believed he will prefer charges against Lonnie Austin, referee; Dan Salt, promoter; and Sammy Good and F. M. Mitchell, Cohen's seconds and trainers, who are out on $100 cash bail.

It is believed that the holding of public boxing contests in Seattle in the future will be prohibited.

"Swat" Mulligan on the Job; McGovern Stops Funnies Blow in Boxing Annals.

New York, Jan. 13.—The negotiations for the acquisition of Swat Mulligan as coach for the New York Yankees, says Roseman Bulger in the New York World, "are proceeding slowly, but Manager Donovan thinks he will yet succeed."

According to Bulger, the following telegram and letters have been exchanged between Mulligan and Donovan: "Everything all right; leave on today's train. Donovan."

"Bill Donovan, General Delivery, New York—There ain't no train today. It leaves Friday. Where will I report and how will I know you when I see you? Swat Mulligan."

"Swat Mulligan, Hoboken, N. J.—You will see my picture in the paper. Donovan."

A bunch of flinty fans gathered around a table in one of the chief fanling places a few nights ago, and began to talk of famous punches.

Terry was coming in like he always did, head down and blazing away with both hands. Corbett just advanced and shot his left eye up at Terry's rushing in. The blow caught Terry flush on the neck behind the ear and he whirled head over heels in the air and landed flat. He got up on one knee and grinned, and we all thought he was resting, taking advantage of the count, but when he made no move to get up as the referee tolled off 10 we knew he was gone. He was clear out. I've seen 'em bowled over, but this bird did a complete loop."
