

FAMOUS CANTATRICE SINGS AT FUNERAL OF NEWSPAPER MAN

John Jay Harrison Laid to Rest by Members of Portland Press Club.

John Jay Harrison, financial writer and newspaper man, well known in San Francisco and Portland, was laid to rest yesterday afternoon by his fellow craftsmen.

The funeral service, held in the chapel of J. P. Finley & Son, was conducted by Rev. Frederick K. Howard of the Episcopal church.

The reading of the Episcopal service was preceded by the singing of Gounod's "Ave Maria" by Madame Jeanne Jomelli, world famous prima donna soprano, accompanied by the press club's pianist, Miss Letha McBride.

Those who bore Colonel Harrison's body were Mark Woodruff, John L. Travis, Orton E. Goodwin, O. C. Merrick, M. W. Boyle and A. A. Rosenthal. Interment was in Multnomah cemetery.

Unitarian Church Discusses Building

One Suggestion Is To Erect 12-Story Block With Auditorium on Second Floor, Other to Sell Property.

Future plans for the Church of Our Father, Unitarian, Broadway and Yamhill street, were discussed last night at the forty-eighth annual meeting of the church body held in the church.

Rev. William G. Elliot, pastor of the church, made two suggestions as to use of the present property. One was to have erected a 12-story office building with an auditorium and other necessary church rooms on the second floor and with gassy stairways leading to the rooms.

The other plan was to sell the site for $250,000 if possible, secure $150,000 cash with which to buy another site, erect a church, parish house and pastor's residence and with the $100,000 mortgage remaining paying interest to use the interest for church extension work, such as an associate pastor and enlarged staff.

Reports of officers were read, the treasurer's report showing excellent financial conditions. W. F. Woodward, re-elected moderator of the board of trustees, spoke. R. W. Montague and F. J. Kendall were also re-elected members of the board. John Claire Monteth and Frank Mead sang. The women of the Alliance served dinner.

Rev. T. L. Elliot, pastor emeritus, announced an all-day sewing bee for today by the Ladies' Alliance and closed the meeting with a benediction.

SIGHT RESTORED TO AN AGED MAN

F. H. Loomis.

Blind for the past five years, F. H. Loomis of 107 1/2 East Tenth street went to his home from the hospital last Sunday able to read the street signs from the automobile in which he rode.

The recovery came as the result of a successful and delicate operation for cataract.

Mr. Loomis has lived in Portland for the past 15 years or more, coming here from Nebraska, where for many years he was a successful farmer.

Three of his daughters are now in Portland. Mrs. P. A. Chard and Mrs. Elizabeth Gossard of 107 1/2 East Tenth street, with whom he makes his home, and Mrs. C. B. Sawtelle, 61 West avenue.

Older Boys Placed In Separate Classes

Segregation From Youngsters Proving Popular Move, and Is Expected to Maintain Interest in Y. M. C. A.

Segregation of the older boys from the youngsters has begun in the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association. Hereafter plans for the activities of the department will be worked out separately for each division.

J. C. Meehan, boys' secretary, has gathered 100 youths of the "off age" into a new club, which was born but a few days ago, and which now has nearly 100 boys. Special lobbies, club rooms and entertainments have been arranged for them.

By this scheme Mr. Meehan believes that he will retain the interest of the boys in the boys' department even after they have become old enough to join the young men's classes, but where they will have to form a new circle of friends.

AUTO BUSESSE DIVIDE INTO HOSTILE CAMPS AND DON WAR PAINT

First Company, Which Started Last Week, Now Has Competitor of Own Kind.

The 5-cent auto busses which are competing with the street car company have now divided into two camps and an auto bus war is brewing and will break soon unless those heading the rival motor transportation systems arrive at some sort of an agreement.

Last week Portland was startled by the appearance of the first line of 5-cent auto busses. This week found another company on the job, and now a citizen can have his pick of three transportation lines and two distinct mediums for ground covering.

The last company to enter the auto field is capitalized at $5000 and is headed by E. E. Gerlinger, who has been engaged in the automobile business in Portland for some time. He and his associates which include C. E. Beach, traffic manager, have incorporated under the name of the "Jitney Auto Bus" company, and have opened offices and a waiting room at Tenth and Alder streets.

They are going after the business in cities like San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego the jitney bus is in general use. There are more than 1200 of them in operation in Los Angeles alone. Most of these are the used car type of machines carrying from five and seven to 12 passengers each.

Although Mr. Gerlinger would not admit it, negotiations, it is said, are under way looking toward the consolidation of the rival auto bus companies. Such a step is contemplated, according to information at hand, for the reason that with two auto bus companies fighting, those who own the "jitney" would go down to defeat before the streetcar company.

No One in Baker To Fight Rabies

Citizens Generally Are Not Pleased That County Court Abolished Office of Veterinarian Just When Needed.

Baker, Or., Jan. 13.—The people of Baker county are much stirred up over the abolishment of the office of county veterinarian by the new county court, inasmuch as now is just the time when such an official is needed, if he ever is.

The rabies situation in the county is critical, and has been serious for some months, over 300 head of cattle alone having been lost through infection by coyotes and dogs. Dr. F. T. Notz, the county veterinarian, died at frequent times by the State Veterinarian Lytle has done much to prevent the spread of the disease, and has been at the call of all farmers, whose animals were infected. He also looked after the sending of infected and diseased animals to Portland for examination, and the expense was paid by him out of his salary.

Judge Messick says that the ranchers in the future must bear this expense, and the doing away with the veterinary means probably that the coming of spring will see a great increase in the epidemic, with no means of stopping it. It is the consensus of opinion that Dr. Notz did good work in the situation, and the present condition is causing much discontent. The veterinary now refers all calls and requests, of which he has had many the past few days, to the county court, which, of course, has no means of relieving the situation, except through his assistance.

The law that requires to pay the county a veterinary $500 a year, but Notz received only $400 from the court. At the present session of the commissioners, he appeared to ask that he be given the maximum salary in view of the extra amount of work the hydrophobia epidemic has entailed, but instead of getting the raise, he found out that his job had been done away with entirely.

Molalla Now Has Fire Department

Last Year There Were Several Bad Fires, and Citizens Are Determined to Become Better Prepared to Fight.

Molalla, Or., Jan. 13.—At a special public meeting last night a fire department for the city of Molalla was organized. It was decided to have two companies, and the citizens were elected who will select their own men.

This is the first fire-fighting organization the town has had. Those who are interested in the project were contacted by the city about two months ago. The two companies for the present will consist of volunteer firemen, and there will be 29 men in each company. The captains elected last night were H. N. Everhart and George Case, both business men.

The town has an adequate supply of water for fire-fighting purposes from a system installed last September, and it is considered there are hydrants enough for present needs. Previous to the installation of the water system last summer there were several bad fires which were beyond control due to lack of water.

Ladue Wins Second Block From R. Scott

Charley Ladue, who claims the Pacific coast pocket billiard championship, won the second block of his match with Robert Scott last night at McGredie's parlors by the score of 299 to 159. The captains elected last night were H. N. Everhart and George Case, both business men.

Gilkey Wants Depot

Salem, Or., Jan. 13.—Leonard Gilkey yesterday filed a complaint with the railroad commission against the Southern Pacific railroad in which he asserted that no depot is provided for freight or passengers at Gilkey station on the Woodburn-Springfield branch. He asks that the commission make an order providing a station.
