

WORK OF EXTENSION IN AGRICULTURE IS DECLARED A WINNER

House Votes to Retain Continuing Appropriation for Experiment Stations.

SOME ITEMS STRICKEN

Schubel Started Argument and a Number Express Views on the Subject.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 26.—The state's agricultural extension education and for the county experiment stations won two victories yesterday afternoon in the house when the Schubel bill to abolish all continuing appropriations came up in committee of the whole and again in open session.

The house voted to retain as continuing the appropriation of $2500 for the Sherman county experiment station, $2000 for Umatilla experiment station, $4000 for the Harney county station, $7500 for the eastern Oregon station, $2500 for the southern Oregon station, $25,000 for extension work and $3000 for the Clatsop county station.

The items taken out of the continuing appropriation policy included in the bill involve $885,140 and cover in general the extension work and substitution not covered by the millage taxes.

Another Fight Expected.

Another fight is expected when the bill, as amended by the committee of the whole and the ways and means committee, comes up for final passage. Representative Schubel, author of the measure, declared his intention of pursuing his fight to get all appropriations on a biennial basis and substituting each upon its merits before such succeeding legislature.

Representative Forbes of Crook county, Representative Olson of Multnomah, Representative Davey of Harney, Representative Stewart of Gilliam, Representative Jeffries of Clatsop and Representative Barrow of Clatsop defended the continuing appropriation and the state's educational extension work in committee and on the floor. The fight to abolish the continuing appropriation system, which has been instituted with respect to the institutions along with others, was led by Representative Schubel of Clatsop, and Representative Cobb of Multnomah, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Mr. Schubel started the three-hour wrangle by citing references to the constitution under the millage tax law, declared that the millage tax is sufficient to take care of the needs of the Agricultural college proper, and of the extension work besides. The millage tax for 1915 will bring in $250,000, he said, and the continuing appropriation until April 1, 1916, will bring in $50,000 besides, which, with the continuing appropriation provided for in other cases he would have stricken out, brings the total up to $477,500. He contended that the plan is not to hurt the projects in the future, but to curtailment of appropriations, not to arrange the system so that the needs of each biennium will be considered on their successive merits.

Cobb is heard.

Mr. Cobb contended that if the continuing appropriations are to be allowed to remain, it would be folly for the ways and means committee or any other committee to visit the different institutions and determine what its requirements are. And as for investigation, he declared that necessary as he has just received a letter showing that an appropriation of $3000 for maintenance of a state pilot schooner, is useless because the state now owns no pilot schooner whatever. He declared that the appropriation would have been allowed again this session, he said.

The time has come to stop and get down on a business foundation. If the members have had no opportunity to investigate the subject, it is their duty to do so. Mr. Forbes declared the question is not one of appropriation for the benefit of the agricultural college, but of the farmer.

Journal Editorial Quoted.
He pointed to the cooperative part the counties take in maintaining the experiment stations, where the college has little more than a supervising share in their activities. He read an editorial from The Journal touching on the subject of log-rolling for appropriations which featured many previous sessions of the legislature. This bill came about after Mr. Schubel attempted to summarize for the benefit of the members the various items included in the amendments. Mr. Schubel did so, but proceeded to discuss the merits of the various items while he was on his feet. Mr. Olson called a point of order, but the speaker ruled that, while he was technically out of order, the subject was one the members should be enlightened upon.

Schubel Makes Explanation.
Mr. Schubel then said the O. A. C. general appropriation of $200,000 was supplemented by the various items he had included in the bill. The bill was taken out from the continuing system. Aside from those retained by the amend-

THIEF HIT ON HEAD

Purse Snatcher Drops Woman's Money Bag and Makes Escape.

The purse snatcher who has been causing consternation among women who reside in the vicinity of Fourteenth, Salmon, Main and Jefferson streets by his depredations in the last three weeks, very nearly met his Waterloo last night when a purse snatcher hit him over the head with a hose handle.

Mrs. R. T. Lyng, of the Hotel Lenox, was walking on Fourteenth near Salmon. The young man approached from an opposite direction, grabbed the purse and started to run. Mrs. Lyng, screaming for the police, started in pursuit. A little farther down the street was an employee of the street cleaning department, and he ran towards the thief. As the latter dodged he was caught a glancing blow over the head. Staggered by the blow, the man dropped the purse which was recovered by the woman. The thief kept running and the pursuit was abandoned.

Temperance Worker Sheldon Is Dead

Former Superintendent of Anti-Saloon League of Oregon Passes Away at Pasadena, Cal.

Harvey Llewellyn Sheldon, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of Oregon and a prominent temperance worker died last Friday at Pasadena, Cal., according to information just received in Portland.

He had been in California on a six months' vacation granted with a view of allowing him time to recover from pernicious anemia from which he had been suffering for four years. Last week he underwent an operation. Blood was transfused from his wife to himself, but the disease had progressed too far and heroic methods failed.

Mr. Sheldon had been prominent in temperance work for a number of years. He was the father of the Illinois law under which many saloons were banished from the state. As a member of the legislature of South Dakota he fought and succeeded in preventing the repeal of the state prohibition law.

He is survived by a widow, a 14-year-old daughter and a brother, all of whom are in Pasadena.

In Oregon Mr. Sheldon had scores of friends.

Editors to Meet in Annual Convention

Willamette Valley Association Sends Invitations for Meeting at Corvallis Saturday.

Much corrected galley proofs reached several of the Portland newspapers today, coming not from the composing rooms, but from a committee of the Willamette Valley Editorial association, inviting attendance at its annual convention to be held at Oregon Agricultural college in Corvallis, Saturday, February 6. The suggestion is that, having defeated freck legislation in Oregon, emancipated the male sex, wiped Demon Rum off the earth, backed old Hard Times into a corner, set the legislature up in business and sat down proper on Old State generally, Oregon newspaper men, we believe, are entitled to take a day off to catch the editorial breath and stretch the editorial limbs. The committee on invitation is composed of C. J. McIntosh, N. R. Moore, E. T. Reed.

"Brokerage" Note Is Not Held Legitimate

District Judge Dayton held Saturday that payments on a loan where two notes have been made out, one for the amount borrowed and the other for "brokerage," must apply to the loan as brokerage, he said, is not a legitimate debt.

Under the name of J. Richards, from whom he has a power of attorney, E. K. Ware, manager of the State Security company, had sued J. R. McDonald for $42, alleged to be due as balance on a $100 note and a $25 note, the former note given to secure the loan, and the latter to cover "brokerage." It was admitted that McDonald had paid but $34, but he had been credited with payments on each. Judge Dayton held the payments must be credited on the $100 note and allowed Ware the $16 remainder of the $100 note. As the note did not bear interest until maturity and no interest was asked for, none was allowed.

ments, these issued were: $2500 for institutional and commission station; $15,000 for investigating fruit pests; $10,000 for agricultural college experiment station; $6000 for industrial school farm; $1000 for testing seeds. All these were left in the bill as amended.

Mr. Schubel then moved that the report of the committee of the whole be amended to strike out all the sections amended in committee, leaving the bill exactly as it was when introduced. His motion included an instruction of the ways and means committee to introduce a bill amending the millage tax law to require the county to divide its appropriation among these various experiment stations and extension features.

This failed but Mr. Schubel attempted to divert the committee to lay the whole bill on the table and to instruct the ways and means committee to bring in the new bill as he had suggested. This also failed and the house adjourned with the adoption of the committee of the whole's report.

Red Crown has lots of "pep" but burns clean.

RED CROWN
the Gasoline of Quality

It's ordinary gasoline every drop. It's the best gasoline the Standard Oil Company can make. Dealers everywhere.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (Indiana)

OLYMPIA LAW-MAKERS CLASH BEFORE GOING TO MEMORIAL SERVICE

Senate for First Time Takes Up Passage of Bills; Harmony Is Lacking.

WANT COURT IN HOSPITAL

Republicans Ask to Know Identity of Real Parents of Bill.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Olympia, Wash., Jan. 26.—Merry little warfare marked the morning's sessions in both house and senate of the legislature preliminary to adjournment, until late this afternoon, when all the members of the legislature attended the memorial exercises and joined in paying tribute to the memory of former legislators who have died since the previous session.

For the first time this session, the senate this morning took up the passage of bills, and the resulting debate and discussion disclosed lack of harmony among the members.

The bill, by Senator Chehalis, which would permit sessions of the superior court to be held away from the county seat at Montesano, brought out the united opposition of the Democratic minority. Senator explained that his county years ago built an expensive county hospital between the cities of Hoquiam and Aberdeen, which could be used for courthouses; that most of the litigation of the county came from these cities, and that considerable expense to litigants would be saved by holding court in the hospital.

Sharpstein of Walla Walla got through his bill requiring counties to hold tax sales after five years delinquencies.

Ghent of King fell down on his malpractice bill after a heated debate, in which Ghent was personally a victim of verbal assault. His bill went to the judiciary committee.

On the house side, the only bill introduced provided for a state road from Kelso to Lynden, and carried an appropriation of $125,000. Hill of Walla Walla, Democratic floor leader, started something and encountered the Republican steam roller after a lively discussion.

Yesterday the Republican majority passed a resolution requiring that all bills introduced to carry out the plans of Governor Latta, or of the judicial committee and the boards and commissions should be so indicated for identification purposes.

Hill today offered a resolution that members who introduce any other bills be also required to show where they got the measures, and show if any special interests or others were the real parents.

The best reply to his minority secured was to have the resolution read and to enjoy the resulting debate before the resolution was held out of order as in conflict with the adopted rules.

2 Quarts Whiskey, 15 Beer, Is Limit

House Committee Adds Restrictions to Prohibition Law, Especially as It Relates to Physicians, Drug Stores.

Salem, Or., Jan. 26.—Two quarts of whiskey or wine, and 15 quarts of beer within a period of one month will be the limit of liquor imports allowed under the prohibition bill, according to decision of the house committee on the subject. The committee stated that the bill will be in shape to report back to the house tomorrow. The limit imposed on the quantity of liquor that may be shipped in is more rigid than the Washington law, which allows two quarts of whiskey and 15 quarts of beer in a period of 20 days. Added restrictions are thrown about druggists in the sale of grain alcohol by an amendment which is now being drafted. Druggists will not be allowed to handle other liquor at all and physicians, in prescribing it for patients, will be required to add to the prescription that it is to be out of the two quarts allowance made to any other citizen.

Dean Wilbur Picked As Stanford Head

Dr. Jordan Credited With Prediction As to Dr. Branner's Successor When He Retires Next Fall.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 26.—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, dean of the medical college of Stanford university, will be the next president of that institution, according to a prediction credited today to Chancellor David Starr Jordan. The prediction was made after Dr. Jordan's motion picture lecture at the group of Stanford alumni last night.

The presidency of the university, it is believed, will be vacated next fall by Dr. John Casper Branner, who is said to have decided that he will not hold office after he is 65 years of age.

Jordan further intimated that Ralph Arnold, of Pasadena, will be named to the university trustees' board.

C. C. Colt Elected Club President

C. C. Colt was elected president of the commercial club for the ensuing year at a meeting of the club's board of governors held this noon. He was a member of last year's board of governors.

The new president is president of the Union Meat company of this city and headed the 1914 Rose Festival.

John H. Buegard, insurance man and member of the commission on the docks, was re-elected vice president, and J. Fred Larson was re-elected secretary.

Alinsworth, president of the United States National bank, was chosen treasurer as a successor to F. A. Freeman.

L. C. Coddington was re-elected assistant secretary.

New State Proposed.
Olympia, Wash., Jan. 26.—A new state with Spokane as capital and Lincoln as its name, is proposed in a memorial recommended for passage this afternoon by the memorial committee of the senate.

Burns Is Honored By Scottish Clans

Concert Given in Memory of One Hundred and Fifty-Sixth Anniversary of Birth.

The celebration of the one hundred and fifty-sixth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, under the auspices of Clan Macleay, Order of Scottish Clans, last evening filled the large auditorium of the Masonic Temple. The program of songs, recitations and interesting presentation of Scotch songs, selections and dances, J. H. Macdonald, pipe major, with his bagpipes and Highland costume, appeared immediately after the overture. D. H. Gowans introduced the different numbers and presided as chief of the clan.

G. Findlay, grand chief of the order, made a few remarks. Miss Dagmar Ines Kelly, in contralto solos, appeared twice on the platform. Joseph P. Mules, in tenor solos, also appeared twice. The program of Scotch songs, selections and dances, J. H. Macdonald, pipe major, with his bagpipes and Highland costume, appeared immediately after the overture. D. H. Gowans introduced the different numbers and presided as chief of the clan.

Alec Runciman told anecdotes in a rich Scotch brogue. The Highland reels of Messrs. Hood, Rennie, Elliott and Thompson, in costume, executed great enthusiasm.

Two little misses, Tootsie Williamson and Frances Hanrahan, in the "Auld Lang Syne" song, made a hit. The program was made a hit. The program was made a hit. The program was made a hit.

The floor was immediately cleared for dancing.

COMPANY SUPPOSED TO MOVE WIRES WHEN HOUSE IS MOVED

Home Telephone Loses Out Appeal to Supreme Court in the Moodie Case.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Jan. 26.—The supreme court today held in the case of the Home Telephone company of Portland against A. D. Moodie that the plaintiff could not recover for services performed in removing wires at request of the defendant when he was moving his house from one place to another, because such services constitute a part of the duty enjoined upon it by its franchise.

The judgment of Circuit Judge Davis in favor of plaintiff was reversed, and the case was remanded for trial. The opinion was written by Justice Burnett.

Among the other decisions today were the following: Oregon ex rel. Harris vs. P. S. Rider, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to quiet title deeded to plaintiff; judgment in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice McBride.

Presley Gilliland et al. vs. George W. Cleola, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to quiet title deeded to plaintiff; judgment in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice McBride.

W. H. H. Morgan vs. George W. Cleola, companion case to above, same facts; judgment in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice Burnett.

Frederick & Nelson vs. W. H. H. Bard, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to recover on note, decision in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice Burnett.

M. J. Kinney vs. H. C. Eckenberger, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to quiet title deeded to plaintiff; judgment in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice Burnett.

State of Oregon ex rel. T. E. Mitchell vs. U. S. Rider, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to quiet title deeded to plaintiff; judgment in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice McBride.

Bridal Veil Lumbering company, appellant, vs. Pacific Coast Casualty company, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to recover on policy of insurance policy to recover $3750, brought because the plaintiff had failed to build a railing necessary to safety of employees, decision in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice Burnett.

City Messenger & Delivery company vs. Federal Express company, appellant, appealed from Multnomah county, suit to recover reasonable value of certain services rendered; defendant, decision of Judge Davis in favor of plaintiff; affirmed; opinion by Justice Burnett.

Rehearings were denied as follows: McKinney vs. Watson, state vs. Hamner, West vs. McDonald, state ex rel. Harris.

Died at Birth of Fourteenth Child

Mrs. G. E. Lawrence, Dillard, Or., Was Able to Leave Hospital After Last Baby Came, But Succumbed Later.

Roseburg, Or., Jan. 26.—Mrs. G. E. Lawrence, of Dillard, died at Roseburg Sunday night as the result of illness attendant to the birth of her fourteenth child. After the birth of a daughter, the hospital here last week she was able to return to her home at Dillard. Late in the week she had to return to the hospital, where she died. She was 44 years old and has resided in the Dillard village for nearly 12 years. She was the mother of seven sons and seven daughters, all but three of whom are living.

AMOUNT IS NOW REPAID

Having complied with the provisions of the conditional pardon granted by ex-Governor West by paying Mrs. Maria Grace $500, which it was charged he had taken unlawfully while acting as bailie, W. H. Chapin must now look to Governor Withycombe for a full pardon. A check from C. W. Hodson for $500 was received by Mrs. Grace last Friday completed the repayment.

HE WROTE Get Rich Quick Wallingford WHO?

George Randolph Chester the author of

Runaway June

The Greatest Serial Yet!

LINN COUNTY PAID TOO MUCH FOR TWO OF ITS STEEL BRIDGES

Highway Engineer Bowly Accepts Senator Garland's Challenge and Wins.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 26.—Senator Garland has pending a bill which provides that county commissioners if they see fit to reject all bids for the construction of a bridge costing over $500, may proceed to buy the material, employ a superintendent and have the bridge constructed by day labor.

The bill has ardent supporters and equally ardent opponents. Senator Garland made the statement that in his county, Linn, the county commissioners could build bridges just as cheaply as a contractor. He contended that his county was getting full value for the money it expended on bridges.

He bet the clergs with State Highway Engineer H. L. Bowly that Bowly could not find exorbitant costs in Linn county that have been reported from other counties. Bowly investigated and yesterday submitted his report to Senator von der Heiden, chairman of the committee on roads and highways. He investigated the cost of two bridges. One of them, the Stanton bridge, cost the counties $1000 and Marion, which built the bridge, $1000 more for steel than the counties ought to have paid, according to his report. For the Calapooia bridge, Engineer Bowly found that the county had paid $10240 excess profit on the steel. The Coast Bridge company was the beneficiary in each case.

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

"Investigations that have been made by this office do not indicate dishonesty on the part of county officials or highway engineers in building bridges. These investigations, however, make it clear that the county courts are the victims of a system in which the county is absolutely helpless. I believe that the most important item on the road question is concerning the construction of county bridges."

"My report shows that conditions in Linn county do not vary to any great extent from conditions in any other county in Oregon, with regard to building of bridges costing more than $500," says Mr. Bowly.

Old-Time Hunter Kills Three Cougars

The Only Way in Which to Get the Meats Is With Dogs, Says Tom Scott.

Tom Scott, an old time hunter and trapper around Molalla, came to Portland this morning with six specimens of his prowess in the shape of three bob cat and three cougar skins, the result of two days hunting 12 miles back of the Malakia Four Corners.

"The only way to hunt cougars is with dogs," said Tom this morning at the store of the Hudson Arms company on Third street, where the skins may be seen.

"I used two 18-months-old Alredales to get the big skins—pups that had never trailed before, but they did a good job. I am not afraid of any animal in the woods as long as I can meet him face to face. But alone without a dog, I could not have leaped on your back out of a tree without giving you a chance. The largest cougar killed measures seven feet from tip to tip."

Deer are suffering heavily from attacks by cougars, according to the hunter, many frayed carcasses and antlers being found in the woods.

Buyer of Bank's Old Quarters Is Sued

First National Alleges E. May Failed to Make Payment; Tutor of Children Alleged; Store Defendant.

Alleging failure to make the second payment on the purchase price of the old First National bank corner at First and Washington streets the First National bank began suit yesterday for $24,000 against E. May, a purchaser. According to the complaint May agreed to pay $85,000 in three payments, $3000 down, $41,000 on November 1, 1914, and the remainder of $41,000 on November 1, 1915. It is alleged that only the $3000 has been paid. The lot is 75x109 feet.

Frank B. Uphaw yesterday sued P. C. Staley for $25,000 alleged to be due for the purchase of a building on the Portland academy from Staley for education of his three children. Staley, it is alleged, was to pay $60 a term for each child and to receive a rebate of $9 on each payment of $60. The claim was assigned to Uphaw.

Ella J. Cronin, an employee of Lipman, Wolfe & Co., yesterday sued the company for $25,100 damages for injuries alleged to have been received on an elevator accident in the store March 24, 1914.

For injuries alleged to have been received while boarding a street car at West Park and Washington streets December 12, F. J. Finger yesterday sued the P. R. L. & P. company for $10,000 damages.

JOHNSON'S WIDOW DIES

Word has been received here of the sudden death of Mrs. Philip E. Johnson in Vancouver, B. C., where she was visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Natter. Mrs. Johnson was the widow of Dr. Johnson, who on January 7, 1907, either was murdered by being thrown from the Ford street bridge or jumped to his own death. Whether he was a suicide or was killed has never been determined.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson had just come west to make their home in Portland. Mrs. Johnson returned at that time to her former home in Richmond, Va., and it has been two years since she has been in Portland. Dr. Johnson was a cousin of Mrs. William C. Alvord and Mrs. Alvord was expecting Mrs. Johnson here next week as her house guest. Mr. and Mrs. Alvord left Sunday night for Vancouver.

Other members who might have been held are said to have escaped service or to have been overlooked when the suit was instituted. Most of the defendants were members of the club which was engaged from using the name Oregon Cat club.

100 PRECINCTS COUNTED
An even 100 precincts had been partially counted at noon today in the

"We have made a complete analysis of the contents of a can of Rumford Baking Powder purchased of a Portland grocer, and found it to be worthy of the highest commendation as a