COLLEGIANS TO TURN OUT

Although it has not been officially the twenty-fourth annual regatta of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen, scheduled to be held in Victoria, B. C., will be cancelled on account of the European conflict. The crews of the Vancouver and Victoria clubs are shot to pleces, because a number of the athletes of those clubs have enlisted in Canadian regiments. In case the northwest regatta is vade California. The Pacific Associa-tion of Amateur Carsmen is planning to stage a big regatta during the latter part of the summer on the Oakland estuary. The local club also expects to challenge from the Univermity of Washington. Coach Conibear, of the Puget Sound Students, has challenged the local oarsmen regularly for the past several years, but has not yet eded in securing a race, because of different seasons and shells.

There will likely be several new faces in the crews of the Portland Rowing club this season. C. J. Frankland, who rowed stroke on the University of Washington crew, which twice and will turn out with the local oarsmen. George Hutton, another member of last year's University of Washington crew, will also try out for a position on the local crew. Hutton weighs 186 George Gore, who rowed on the Yale varsity crew three years ago, and Louis sity oarsman and football star, will be members of the local crews. Another collegian who will turn out with the local oarsmen again this coming season is E. A. Stevens, who formerly rowed at Cornell. There is some talk of organizing a college four-oared crew, C. J. Parsons, who was bow on the 140-pound crew, which won the championship of Canada a couple of seasons ago, has joined the local club, and Jensvold, who was a member of the local crews a couple of years ago, will be back this summer.

Arrangements have been made with the Portland Commercial club to use its large dining room to stage a simultaneous performance by the champion on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. Fifty or 60 of Portland's best chess players are expected to meet him in play to determine whether Marshall can repeat his fine score made two years ago.

Local chess players who desire to have a board reserved for the simultaneous exhibition are requested to communicate with H. R. Burnaby, sec retary of the Portland Chess and Checker club, room 101, Washington to attend the performance

Most of them are fourth and fifth raters—the type of 'fighters' that would be 'soft pickings' for a hard hitting lightweight. 'Against the second rate fighters Willard has been turned back and beaten. Gunboat Smith, who is about one-half of Willard's size, beat Wil-lard in that 20 round affair in 'Frisco, and both Luther McCarty and Arthur Pelkey were given the popular decision over Willard. Tom McMahon, a joke fighter, tackled Wil-lard in a 12 round bout in Youngstown, Ohio, last March and gave 'the greatest heavyweight pugilist in the world' a thorough beating.
