

LAST MINUTE ATTEMPT TO SLIP OVER BILL TO HELP CORPORATIONS

House Bill for Condemnation of Government Land Is Brought in by Moser.

SUPPOSED KILLED ONCE

Committee Members Had Once Voted to Kill It; When Vote Is Taken on Measure It Is Lost, 18 to 8.

(Salem Bureau of the Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 21 (Sunday).—An attempt was made to slip over H. B. 351, the Smith bill giving corporations the right to condemn government land along streams when the members of the judiciary committee in confusion tonight. The reading clerk announced that the judiciary committee had submitted the bill without recommendation. He began reading the bill.
Senator Dimick, however, was on the alert. He stopped the reading clerk.
"How does it come this bill is submitted without report?" he demanded.
"The judiciary committee reported to kill that bill. Why is it showed up here now at this hour? Why has it lain on the desk all this time?"
"What are you trying to slip over here at the last hour of the session?" he called upon the members of the judiciary committee as witnesses that the bill was reported unfavorably.
"The bill was laid on the table to await the president Moser, chairman of the committee."
When Moser returned he explained that as members of the committee could not agree on the bill, he decided to report it and without recommendation.
He said the bill was a good bill. Byler and Garland said that Moser had spoken to them about the bill and they gave their consent to have it reported if it was not reported favorably. Dimick said the committee voted on the bill and voted against it. The bill was killed by a vote of 18 to 8. The six who voted for it were Bingham, Burgess, Leinenweber, McBride, Moser, Perkins.

West Virginia to Vote on Suffrage

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 20.—The West Virginia legislature has submitted to the voters of the state an amendment to the constitution giving women the right to vote, and it will come up at the regular election in 1916. The suffrage campaign has been started and will be carried to every corner of the state. The feeling is general that suffrage is gaining ground steadily, and, unless some setback comes, should sweep the state.
The legislature in submitting the question to a vote of the people was almost unanimous, one senator voting against it, while in the house there were only six in opposition. Virtually all church organizations in the state have endorsed the women's movement, and the Progressive and Socialist parties are making it part of their campaign.

Diplomatic Bill Passed by House

Appropriation Measure Carries $4,450,000; Strikes Out Provision to Make Cuba Pay for Pacification.
Washington, Feb. 20.—The house this afternoon passed the diplomatic appropriation bill carrying $4,450,000. The house rejected provisions for an appropriation to cover a proposed conference of Pan-American financial experts. It also refused to appropriate $250,000 for a new consulate at Shanghai, China, and struck out a proposal

PREY FOR THE WOLF

GOLD KEY AND IVORY KEYBOARD ARE USED FOR WILSON SIGNAL

Elaborate Ceremony Marks Flashing of Presidential Message to San Francisco.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Feb. 20.—President Wilson stood in the east room of the White House today with his fingers pressed down upon a small ivory button while cabinet members, senators and congressmen watched intensely.
"Tell me when to let go," said the president quietly. A moment's silence followed.
"Now," whispered an attaché. The president lifted his fingers. The Panama Pacific exhibition, 3000 miles away, was opened.
As a precaution against any hitch, the flash was sent both by wire and a wireless. While one message was speeding across the continent on the telegraph lines, the other was rushing through space by way of the powerful Tuckerton radio station.
"We could not make this very dramatic," said the president with a laugh, "but it certainly appeals to the imagination if not to the eye."
An ivory keyboard with solid gold fixtures and studded with gold nuggets was used for the ceremony.
The key that the president used in the ceremony was given to former President Taft in 1909 to open the Alaska-Yukon exposition. It was the gift of George W. Carmack, the discoverer of gold in Alaska. It is almost entirely of gold.

Seven Indicted in Alleged Conspiracy

Many Remors That Other Californians Are to Be Arrested Charged With Fomenting Mexican Revolution.
Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 20.—The seven men indicted Friday by the federal grand jury on the charge of organizing a revolution against Carranza in lower California, will appear before Judge Biedsoe next week for arraignment. All will enter pleas of not guilty, and their cases will be set for trial.
It is not likely that the trial can be had earlier than July as the calendar in the federal court is crowded and the trial will have to await its regular turn.
Government agents continue to maintain the strictest secrecy regarding their future investigations and refuse today to deny or admit that additional arrests in the alleged conspiracy are to be looked for. There have been many rumors to the effect that others are to be drawn into the government dragnet, but no information concerning these reports has been given out by the government operatives.
At the headquarters of the Carranzistas in this city today it was said that agents working in the interests of the Carranza regime have been gathering evidence tending to show the source of the money contributions to Villa and other enemies of Carranza.

Lack of Backbone Arouses Strayer

When Senate Indefinitely Postpones Yearly County Auditing Bill and Then Passed It.
(Salem Bureau of the Journal.)
Salem, Or., Feb. 20.—"The tenacity of the barnacles is only exceeded by the lack of backbone of some people," so declared Senator Strayer tonight when the senate reversed itself in less than an hour on the bill providing for yearly audits of county records and books. The senate indefinitely postponed the bill, which at one time had voted to reconsider its action and then passed the bill.

MAY BE CLUE TO ROBBER

Exchange of stamps for 10 cents in a saloon at First and Sheridan streets by a stranger who purchased a drink, has been reported as a possible clue to the identity of one of the two men who robbed the postoffice substation at East Alder and Union avenue last week. Patrolmen Helms reported that the stranger, who appeared to be plentifully supplied with stamps, was about 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighs 125 pounds and wore a light checked cap, light colored shirt and dark suit of clothes.

Jitney and Wagon Collide

In a collision between a jitney bus and a wagon at East Thirty-first and Belmont last night the wagon was smashed up and the auto damaged. C. Cauff, driver for a groceryman, was arrested for failure to display lights and J. H. Williams, driver of the jitney, was arrested for reckless driving.

Amidon Hangs on Like Grim Death

Republican Wheel Horse Wants to Be Inspector in State Corporation Department or Something Similar.
Salem, Or., Feb. 20.—Still jobless but hopeful in these days of wholesale extensions of the gubernatorial appointive power, E. L. Amidon of Portland has been at the state house for several days on his third separate and distinct mission since the legislature opened.
This time, scenting dispersment of the forces in the state corporation department, he is circulating a petition that he be appointed to an inspectorship, either in the present department if it remains, or in the combined corporation-insurance department if the consolidation takes place.
Amidon had little success in his previous visitations upon the legislative and executive officers. His great recommendation of being a staunch Republican wheel horse, however, is being relied upon.
Amidon's hopes were dashed earlier in the week when the bill to create another judicial job in Multnomah went wrong. Not that he could qualify, but this judgment would have benefited him through the extra political influence it would set up. Many months ago Amidon had promised himself the control of the political patron of the Panama canal have performed their task with all the zeal and devotion of which they were capable.
"We offer our respectful homage to you, and through you to the people of the nation, and dare to express the hope that our patriotic endeavors will merit the commendation of our government and the appreciation of mankind."
"We now await your official opening of the exposition by pressing the electric button which will, by wireless telegraph, start the activities of the exposition."
"This will be the first time any exposition has been opened in this manner."
"To this the president's reply will be simply to push the button," continued Moore, "and I will send him the following dispatch:
"I have the honor to announce that the exposition is now officially open. God bless the people of the United States."
Then from the key of the wireless machine there sped a series of dots which, recorded at Washington, formed the signal that gave warning the time was close at hand and that all things must be ready.
On the stroke of noon the wireless man sent a rapid volley of electrical dashes.
President Wilson pressed the button.
The act released the magic of electrical energy which, transmitted simultaneously to San Francisco, sent leaping into the sun-drenched air under the blue sky the water of all the fountains in the southern region of the exposition, and discharged a battery of 21 guns, and opened the doors and set working the machinery in machinery palace.
The Panama-Pacific International Exposition was officially opened. All the silk-hatted, frock-coated dignitaries in the grandstand, President Moore, Secretary Lane, Bishop Hanna, Mayor Rolph and all the others were on their feet, swinging the silk hats and howling like school boys.

Will Boost Oregon Fir in New York

It is reported that the Charles R. McCormick Lumber company has opened a selling agency in New York for the purpose of handling Oregon fir. In pursuance to plans to build up the home product now being waged by commercial organizations and lumber interests of Oregon. The first step in the new field, it is said, is the chartering of the steamer St. Helens to load 1,000,000 feet of timber for departure from this port March 1.

Great Crowd Waits Patiently for Word from the President

When Wilson Touches the Button in Washington Multitude Cheers Loudly.
San Francisco, Feb. 20.—Between the formal exercises and the stroke of noon there was a short interval that was thrilling with the sense of a great expectancy.
Shortly before noon President C. C. Moore arose, and with upraised hand stilled the sound of voices that, from in front of the grandstand, arose like the deep booming of a mighty surf upon the shore.
"I will read you a message which has been sent by me to President Wilson at Washington," he said.
"To the President, Wash., D. C.—"The Panama-Pacific International exposition of 1915 is ready. Those to whom the congress of the United States with approval of the president, entrusted the great work of preparing this celebration of the completion of the Panama canal have performed their task with all the zeal and devotion of which they were capable."
"We offer our respectful homage to you, and through you to the people of the nation, and dare to express the hope that our patriotic endeavors will merit the commendation of our government and the appreciation of mankind."
"We now await your official opening of the exposition by pressing the electric button which will, by wireless telegraph, start the activities of the exposition."
"This will be the first time any exposition has been opened in this manner."
"To this the president's reply will be simply to push the button," continued Moore, "and I will send him the following dispatch:
"I have the honor to announce that the exposition is now officially open. God bless the people of the United States."
Then from the key of the wireless machine there sped a series of dots which, recorded at Washington, formed the signal that gave warning the time was close at hand and that all things must be ready.
