Irvington P-T Association Gives Medal

Brave Service Rendered by Hugh Perry Kyle in School Fire Is Recognized by Parent-Teacher Circle.

THE Parent-Teacher association of fryington school met Tuesday afternoon in one of the most interesting and enthusiastic meetings of the year. The auditorium of the school house was well filled and many matters of vital interest of the school home and city were discussed during the business session, at which the president, Mrs. E. G. Titus, presided. The notable feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a testimonial commendation from the Parent-Teacher association to the principal and teachers of the school as a memorial of its appreciation of their splendidly unselfish conduct during the fire which occurred in the school last December and the presentation of a gold medal to Hugh Perry Kyle, a student, as a token of appreciation of his voluntary and heroic conduct on the same occasion. The speeches of presentation were made by Mrs. Alva Lee Stephens in her usual gracious and fitting manner. Elmer Brown, the principal, responded with words of appreciation on behalf of himself and his staff of teachers.

The testimonial, which is handsomely framed in ebony and will hang in the principal's office, is worded as fol-

Carrie Jacobs Bond Honored

Boys and Girls Under 15 Years of Age, Interested in Music, Name Club After Well-Known Composer.

in Portland

ORTLAND has the novel distinction of having a Carrie Jacobs Bond musical club, composed entirely of hildren-boys and girls under the age of 15 years. Probably in no other city, except, perhaps, her home city of Chi cago, has Mrs. Bond, the poet, composer and reader, more ardent admirers than in Portland. Her appearances here are always sources of great delight to immense audiences, and now it seems her admirers are not limited to adults, for last November there was organized this little club bearing her name.

The club was organized by and is di-rected by Mrs. John F. Beaumont, Meetings are held every second Saturlay afternoon at the homes of members, at which times there are musical and literary programs, followed by a social time, with refreshments. The club comprises active and associate members, the officers of which are: President, Etelka Parrish: vice-president, Mary E. Harney; recording secre tary, Jennie BoDine; corresponding sectary, Margaret Holbrook; treasurer, Imacted by the little pupils of Miss popular in the district with both Yeager to raise money for the "city boden Parrish; Cecelia O'Day, chairman Thelander's room, to the delight of parents and children. This resulted program committee; Patricia Neilan, in clearing $21, which will be used to chairman membership committee; Dorothy Albaugh, Catherine Bonham, Leonora Powell, Orla Powell, Mary Lou Moser, Nina O'Day, Hazel Mary Price,

Margaret Barrow.

The active members of the club are those who play the piano, and the associate are those who sing, read, or have some other accomplishment, and the honorary members, of whom there are 13, consist of the mothers of the children and several older musicians, as follows: Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond Mrs. John F. Beaumont, Mrs. George Parrish, Mrs. J. N. Harney, Mrs. Lawrence Holbrook, Mrs. S. L. Albaugh Mrs. H. W. Bonham, Mrs. Leonard Louise Odeatl, Mrs. H. A. Moser, Mrs. Chris O'Day, Mrs. O. L. Price, Mrs. D. BoDine, Mrs. Arthur M. Odell, Mrs. J. D. Neilan, Miss Helen O'Day Mrs. Frank Barrow.

The club's most treasured possession is the following letter from Mrs. Bond: "November 21, 1914.

Girl Problem Discussed by Social Agents

Interesting Discussion of Current Social Problems Feature of Thursday Luncheon at Neighborhood House

46 TY HAT Can We Do for the Girls." was the general topic for discussion at the luncheon given by the workers at the Neighborhood house in South Portland Thursduy. The workers who give so generously of their time, money and strength toward social uplift, through the activities of the Neighborhood house, feel that they are falling short in caring for the girls, many of whom are without homes, while others are in homes where the influences are not good and where the standards are low. During the serving of the luncheon Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, the chairman of the work, called the assemblage to order and introduced the first speaker. Miss Ida Loewenberg, who told in a very clever manner some of the amusing incidents of a day at the Neigh-borhood House in which she is the head worker.

Dr. Jonah B. Wise was the next speaker. In the course of his remarks he said that the mission of the Neighborhood House is not educational, but social and that it should be a social center first. He expressed himself as in favor of some changes in the build ing to meet what he termed its real need. Mrs. Alex Bernstein expressed herself very freely as opposed to the usual institution as a substitute for a home. She made a plea for more liberal financial support in order that the work of the Neighborhood House might be extended and made more thorough. Mrs. Carrie Myers Herman said that she thought a home for Jewish working girls similar to the Portland Woman's Union would help to solve the girl problem.

Judge W. N. Gatens declared that his experience had failed to teach him

effort to train the parents in order that they might wield the right sort of influence over their daughters and he said that he would like to see a court where parents instead of children should be punished. Miss Porter, principal of the Failing school, said that the Neighborhood House had been of more assistance to her and to the teachers in that school in solving the problems of the children, than any other organization. Mrs. Isaac Swett. president of the council, spoke earn-estly of her interest in the work being done and congratulated Miss Loewenberg on the success thus far attained. L. R. Alderman suggested the opening of the Falling school in the eyenings for any classes that the Jewish people might care to conduct, thus leaving the Neighborhood House open as a social center. He spoke in favor of the Big Sisterhood as a valuable factor in solving the girl problem and he also advocated the back to the home movement and an effort to get away
