

PORTLAND, OREGON, SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 13, 1915

German Army of Invasion Publishes Paper for Benefit of the Poles .: Pay for Wounded British Wounded Brought to England Take Tea in Style at Famous London Hotel

A MERCIFUL MAN IS MERCIFUL TO HIS BEAST
Snow and mud make dreary going in Poland. Here is a German cavalry patrol on duty in the Czar's territory walking in order to give their horses a rest.

GERMAN WOUNDED IN HOSPITAL GET PAID
German soldiers do not lose their pay while they are recuperating in hospitals. This picture was taken when a paymaster visited a Berlin hospital.

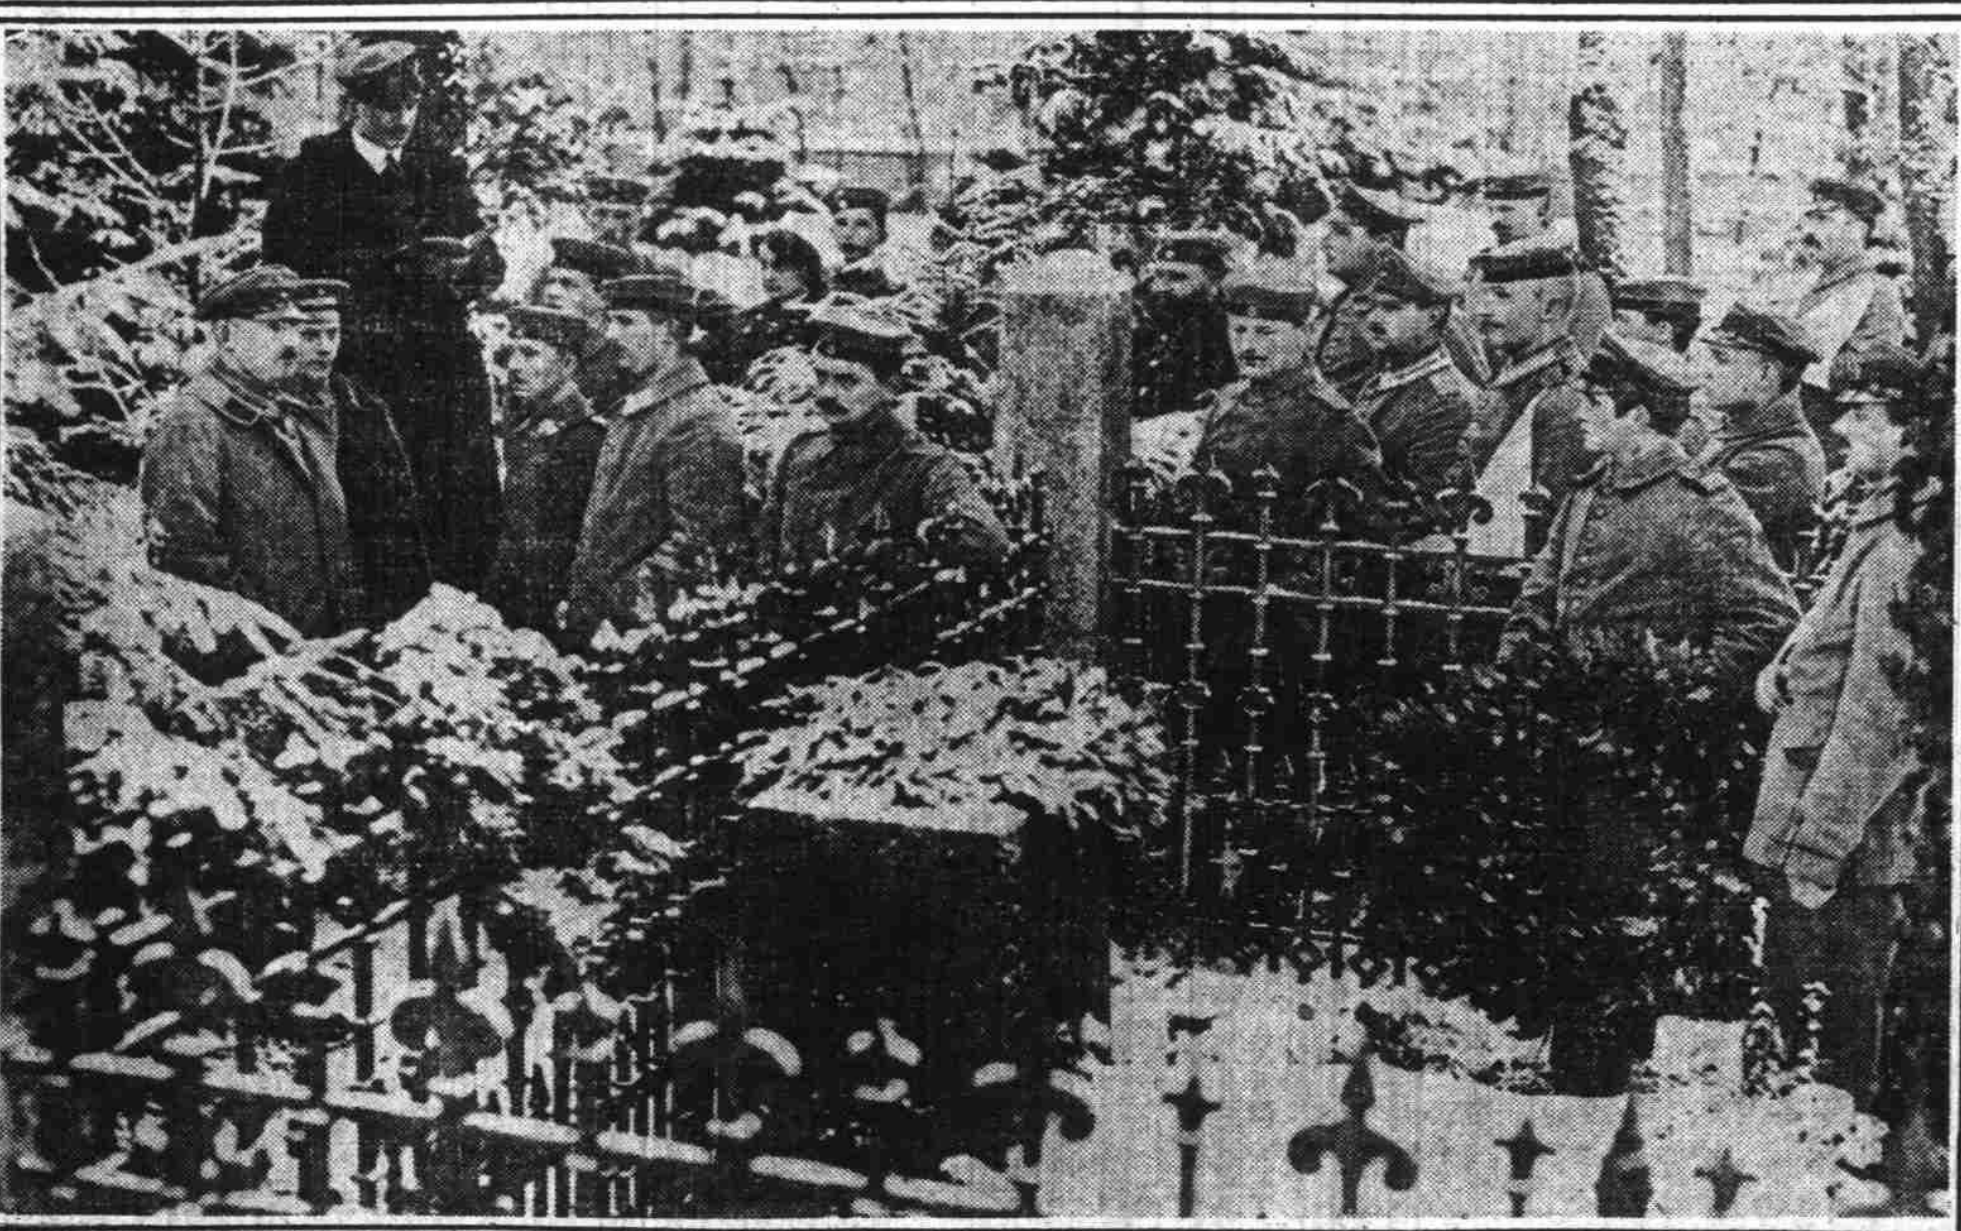

COLONEL ROOSEVELT WORKS FOR CITY
Former President Roosevelt recently filed an application for work with the mayor of New York's committee on unemployment and received it. He worked 15 minutes rolling bandages for the allies. With a committee he visited several of the city's workshops investigating conditions.

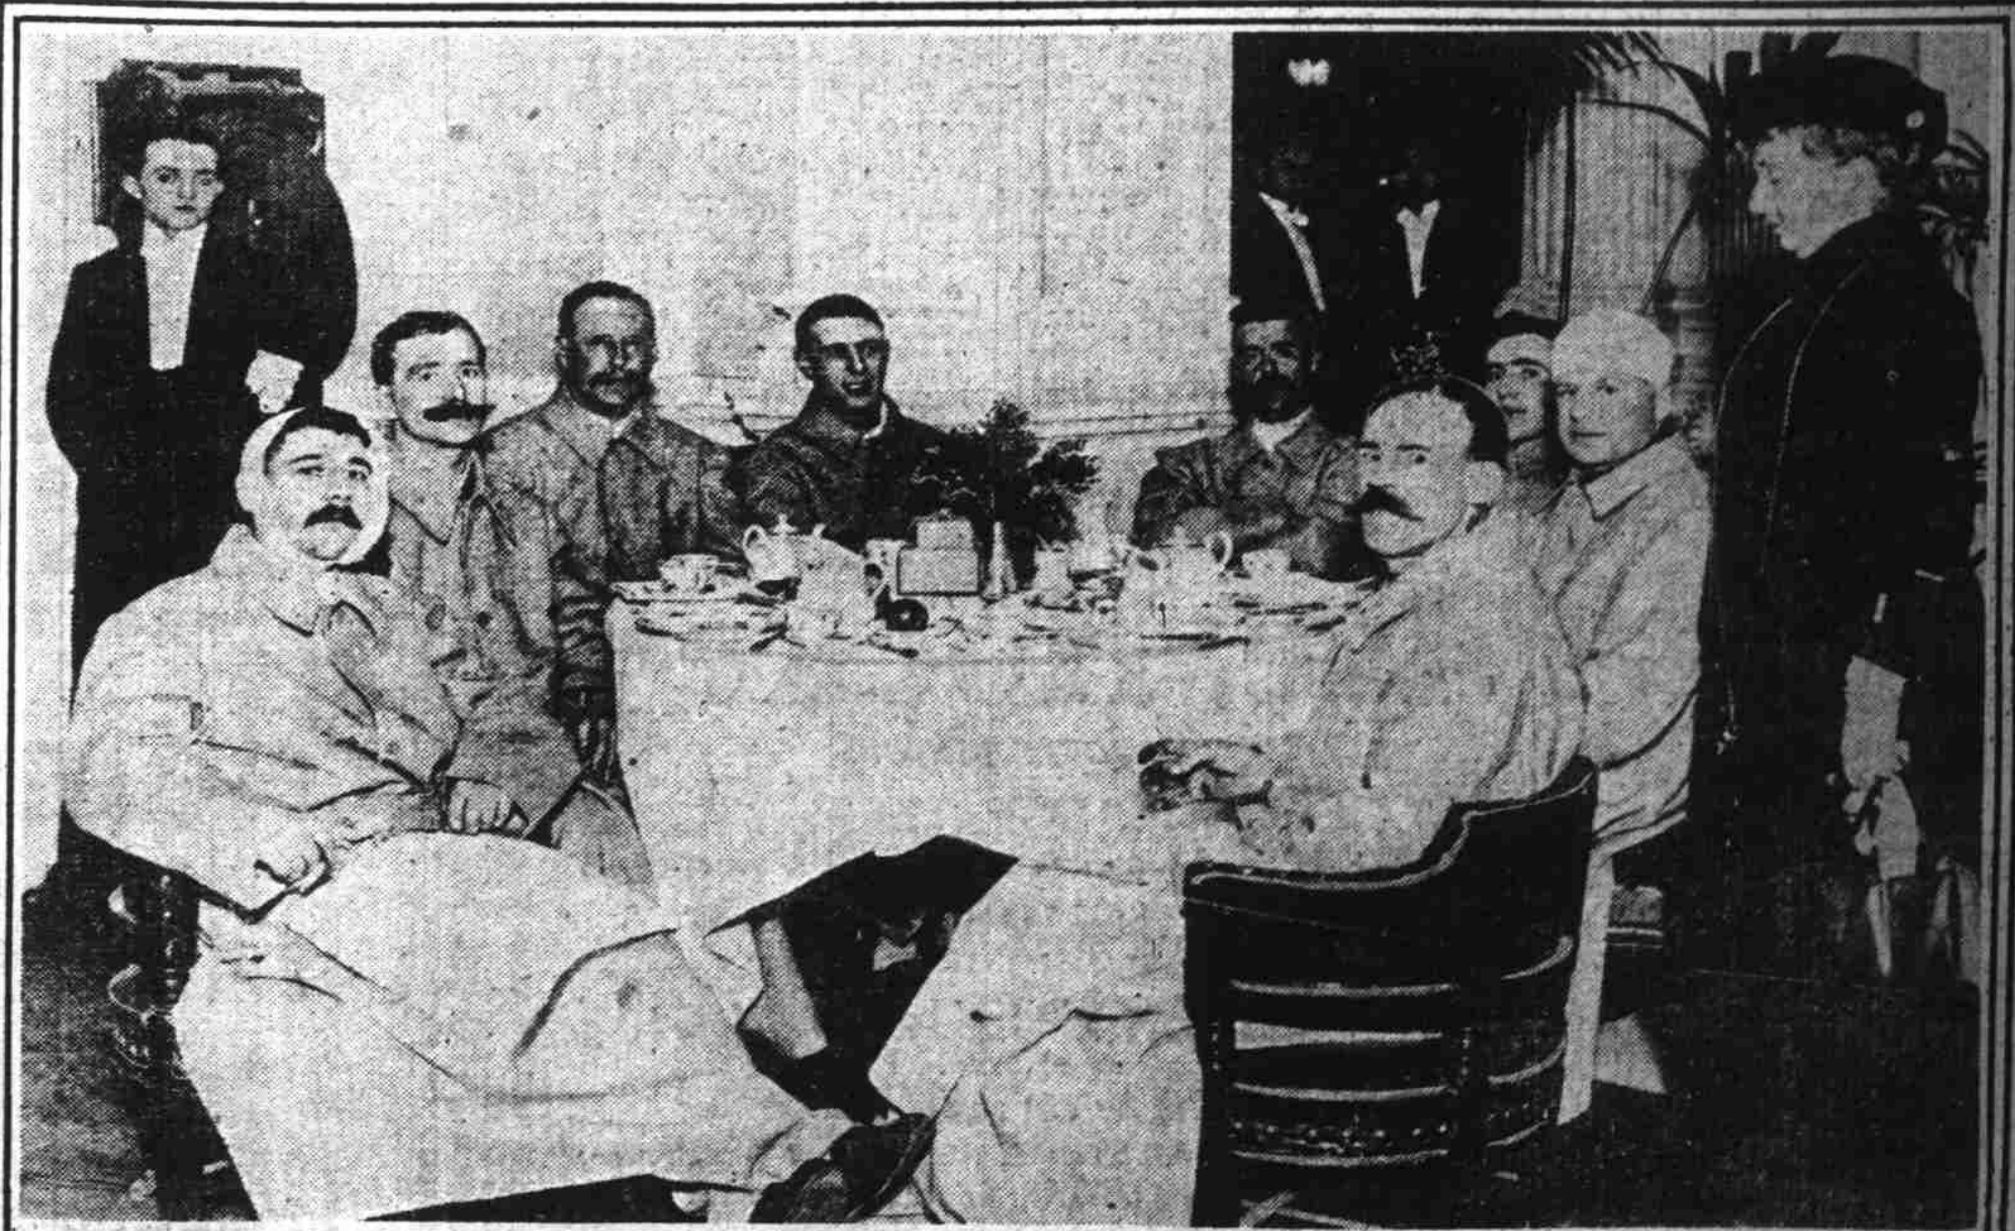

GERMAN SOLDIERS PUBLISH PAPERS
For the convenience of the inhabitants of Poland, the German army publishes newspapers in Polish containing news from all parts of the world, sent from Berlin.

OFFICIALS OF PANAMA PACIFIC EXPOSITION
Left to right the men are: C. H. Woolworth, naval aide; William H. Crocker, exposition director; secretary of Interior, Franklin K. Lane, personal representative of President Wilson; R. B. Hale, exposition director; C. C. Moore, president of the exposition, and Captain Edw. Carpenter.

GERMAN SOLDIERS HONOR VON KLEIST
Wounded German soldiers laying a wreath on the grave of Friedrich von Kleist in Wannsee, while their commander gives them a lecture on the battle of Tuetoburg forest.

WOUNDED BRITISHERS TAKE TEA IN STYLE AT CLARIDGE'S
The famous Claridge's Hotel in London, the resort of the nobility, with wounded British soldiers taking tea and relating their experiences to the Princess of Monaco. These men were wounded at La Basse and are recuperating at the French hospital in Shaftsbury avenue.