tionally, the Taube resembling a great eagle in the sky.

When he had reached a height of 6000 feet, Beachey poised the monoplane apparently for another loop. He started the sliding flight downward preparatory to turning over, and then apparently changed his mind.

The machine started the long downward plunge perpendicularly. For more than 3000 feet it hurtled through space, until it was traveling at an estimated speed of three miles a minute.

Desperately Beachey struggled to release the straps which held him to his seat by his arms and body. But it was too late.

Portlanders here during the Lewis and Clark exposition, and many of the visitors, will remember the phrase so often spoken at the time, and so odd that, "Oh, look at the airship!"

Miss Merced Walton, Beachey's fiancée, was overcast, when notified of the airman's death, but hurried to the

Concert Will Aid British Red Cross

Prominent Soloists Will Appear on Program at Masonic Temple Tomorrow Night

In aid of the British Red Cross fund and the Prince of Wales fund, a grand concert will be given tomorrow evening at Masonic Temple, West Park and Yamhill streets, under the auspices of the Associated British societies of Portland.

Those to appear on the program are: Mrs. Pauline Miller Chapman and Miss Nona Lawler, sopranos; Mrs. Lulu Dahl-Miller and Mrs. Virginia Spencer Hutchinson, contraltos; Rev. Frank R. Gorman, tenor; Fred T. Crowther and E. Madyr Evans, baritones; Walter J. Stevenson, basso; Madam G. Howells, violinist; Miss T. Williamson, Miss Marie Watson and Miss Irene Watson, dancers.

Beachey was but 18 years old when he made his Portland flights. He was a quiet, unassuming boy, who would say nothing about his work unless pressed, and then haltingly, and blushing like a schoolgirl.

Colonel John Singleton Moseley, noted Civil war guerilla, now living in Washington, D. C., is 78.

Highwayman Takes Victim at His Word

No trace of the man who held up Henry Feldman, of 68 Ella street, Saturday night at 12 o'clock near Fifth and Market streets, has been found by officers of the detective bureau who are working on the case today.

When Mr. Feldman told the highwayman that he had no money, the robber took him at his word and did not take his pocketbook, containing several dollars and a check. He was robbed, however, of a Waltham watch and a valuable Scottish Rite charm.

Those to appear on the program are: Mrs. Pauline Miller Chapman and Miss Nona Lawler, sopranos; Mrs. Lulu Dahl-Miller and Mrs. Virginia Spencer Hutchinson, contraltos; Rev. Frank R. Gorman, tenor; Fred T. Crowther and E. Madyr Evans, baritones; Walter J. Stevenson, basso; Madam G. Howells, violinist; Miss T. Williamson, Miss Marie Watson and Miss Irene Watson, dancers.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the many friends for their sympathy and kindness shown me during the sickness, death and burial of my beloved husband, Henry L. Barkley. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.
