

BEAVERS DEFEAT THE COLORED GIANTS BY THE SCORE OF 7 TO 3

Mack's Men Unlimber Their Heavy Artillery and Bombard Two Husky Gunners.

MEN LEAVE FOR STOCKTON

Fourth and Last Game With Chicago White Sox Will Be Played; Colored Giants.

Fresno, Cal., March 22.—The Portland Beavers will clash with the Chicago American Giants on the local field in two more games on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Manager Rube Foster of the Giants talked McCredie into adding the games to the series this morning.

Fresno, Cal., March 22.—Manager McCredie is in a blue funk. Tiny Leonard and Stanley Coveleskie pitched such stellar ball yesterday that the twirling question is more perplexing than ever. Coveleskie was touched for one hit in four innings and his spit ball had the Darkies guessing in the first game for the season. The Beavers unlimbered their heavy artillery and bombarded the curves of Wickware and Woodworth, two husky gunners of the colored giants, for a 7 to 3 score.

This boy Coveleskie looks to the writer as if he will be the best right hander of the bunch with the exception, of course, of Ironarm Higginbotham. He has a great spitball and a corking good curve. All he needs is control to win in any league. He is the only really artist on the club, and that makes his chances all the better. He had the hard hitting chocolate drops swinging wildly at his spitball and with two strikes, crossed them up on a curve. He whiffed four of the four men team that faced him in four innings.

Leonard worked his underhand delivery all the time and the Giants were continually hitting under. It is true that Hill got one on that tallied two, but a portion of the centerfield fence which had previously collapsed and which was being used as a seat by the spectators, provided extra for the ball. Otherwise Speas would have held him to two bags. They are rapidly shaping into a good looking pitcher, while Coveleskie appears to have his job cinched. Anybody who can fool those husky tossers like the Cove deserves a thorough trial.

McCredie's judgment in putting Murphy at short was justified by his playing yesterday. He handled seven chances perfectly and covered a lot of ground. Besides, he can hit the ball, although his double was scratched through the second baseman. Bill Stumpf, playing alongside, also corralled seven chances perfectly and showed that he will give ground to nobody.

Big Bill did a burlesque act to a couple of sally base stealers that would have turned a Pandemonium broncho buster green with envy. Bill registers from "Baltimore" and that may have been the reason.

Today 11 members of the squad departed for Stockton to play the fourth and last game with the Chicago White Sox. McCredie will play the remainder of the season next Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The crowd yesterday was the largest by far of the training season.

Beavers Hope to Take Three Straight Games From Colored Giants.

Fresno, Cal., March 22.—"Do not be surprised if my club makes a clean sweep of the series of three games to be played this week with the Chicago Colored team."

This was the declaration here early today of Manager Walter McCredie before the Beavers left for Stockton, where they meet the White Sox this afternoon. McCredie was jubilant over the way his team defeated the Chicago Negro Giants here yesterday.

"Portland," said McCredie, "won the Coast league pennant last year. But I want to go on record now with the declaration that the Beavers as they line up today show more class than last year's squad. I see where the baseball experts are predicting that the Seals will have a walkover this year. They voiced the same prediction last year, but Portland won. I have a nicely balanced infield and my outfield is composed of a trio of heavy hitters. My pitchers are in great shape, too, and my backstops are of big league calibre."

The Seals won majority of their games from the White Sox and my team is going to do as well."

White Sox Leave To Play Beavers

(Coast News Service.)
San Francisco, March 22.—Headed by Manager Henry Rowland, the members of the first squad of the Chicago White Sox, left early today for Stockton, where this afternoon they will clash with the Portland Beavers. On Tuesday the big leaguers will play at Sacramento, and on Wednesday will wind up their outside contests with a game with Portland at Modesto.

Manager Rowland, in more than pleased with the way his club is stacking up, despite the way it has been taken down the line by the San Francisco Seals.

"Manager Wolverton has one of the best minor league teams in baseball," said Rowland today. "It has plenty of speed and hitting power. The Seals won the majority of games from my club, but despite this fact the Sox will be heard from in the American league. Make no mistake about that."

TRAINING CAMP GOSSIP

By R. A. C.
Fresno, Cal., March 22.—Your old friend Jakey Baumgartner, who used to perform in the Northwestern league, but who said that he had to quit because he couldn't stand Dave Dundas, umpired the White Sox-Beaver game at Modesto, and, as usual pulled one of his funny stunts. Fred Derrick was at bat and hit a foul that bounced into the diamond. Reb Russell threw the ball to first and Derrick was declared out, whereat a great howl went up from the Beavers. It was so insistent that Jakey took his troubles to Russell and after a conference with the Sox pitcher, reversed his decision.

"I couldn't see it very well and asked Russell for his honest opinion," Jakey explained to the scribes, "and he said it was a foul."

The incident also showed a peculiar trait in Eddie Collins' character. Eddie has evidently forgotten the stuff that was handed out at Columbia university about fair play for the deprivileged ball from Russell and insisted that Reb allow the original decision of the umpire to stand, notwithstanding the appeal from the official. We are now wondering what satisfaction an umpire would get if he appealed to Collins in the cases of such a palpable foul as the one mentioned.

It is said to be the plan of the White Sox to let Jack Pournier fight it out with Quinn last year with the Oaks for the left field position. Bunny Brief has crowded the Tacoma Frenchman off the first bag by his clever fielding and hard hitting. Pournier is a 200 pounder of course, and Manager Rowland believes that Brief will give the necessary strength at first. John Collins, right fielder for the Sox, was overheard to say that he was glad that Pournier was slated for left field instead of center, for the aforementioned John had visions of being wrecked this summer on balls coming between center and right. It is said there is no use to yell at Pournier, as he starts after a ball, even though it doesn't belong to him. He begins to look as if Demitt will be crowded out of the outfield position by the three players mentioned.

After seeing Howard Baker in four games, it looks as if the ex-Portlander is a Class 2 ball player. He hits a trifle better now but doesn't handle himself much better in the field or on the bases. It is said to be the plan of the Sox management to start Brief on first, Collins at center, and second, Buck Weaver at short and Russ Blackburne at third. Blackburne is playing a better brand of ball than at any time since he came out to the Coast with the Sox on the scoring trips. He is also handling the bat a little better.

The Chicago baseball writers are of the opinion that the Portland club classes up with the Los Angeles and San Francisco clubs. This is the opinion of the Portland players that Cliff Blankenship will have to strengthen the Salt Lake club. They think the Mornington will be a money-maker if they start to winning from the first game, but if they lose it is feared attendance will fall away and it will be the puzzle of the directors to get the gro money down into their pockets to dig up that $2000 weekly guarantee.

Walter Doane looks for Slim Love to have a great year. Doane says that the only way he was able to get the

Referee Question Is Puzzling Promoters

Havana, March 22.—With the Jack Johnson-Jess Willard heavyweight championship match here April 4, less than two weeks away, the opposing camps have not yet been able to agree on a referee.

Jack Gleason, formerly of San Francisco, and who was associated with Tex Rickard in handling the Johnson-Jeffries contest at Reno several years ago, was the most likely candidate today for the job. A dozen names have been suggested to Johnson, but he found objections to all of them.

Promoters of the match are demanding that he decide on someone without delay.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, March 20.—Jesse Lean of Chicago set a world's record tonight in the world's three cushion championship contest, when he completed the first game of the evening in 56 innings, defeating C. Ellis of Cleveland, 50 to 43. Lean's performance is a feature of the tournament, as he has shown no championship form since he began his losing streak early in the tourney. De Oro took the final game of the day from L. Evans of Los Angeles, winning 50 to 44 in 73 innings.

W. Huey, Chicago, increased his lead over the entire field, by which he won, 50 to 43, over Capron. This gives him a clean slate of seven victories, his nearest competitors to the coveted honor being E. Moore and J. Dally, both of New York, who have won six and dropped one each.
