An invitation has been sent to all officers of both Oregon and Washington commanderies and their ladies to attend this reception. Lenten Tea.

One of the successful affairs of the season was the tea given for St. James church last week, and by Mrs. A. L. Anderson and Mrs. A. C. Mowery at the latter's beautiful home in the Ladd addition. The living room, with its dark blue velvet hangings, was charming with decorations of pink carnations, white sweet peas and Easter lilies. The den was a bower of wild currant blossoms. The punch bowl was arranged by Mrs. M. L. Lechler, Miss Esther Leas, assisted by Miss Anna Olsen. The dining room and sunroom were decked with robes of smilax and yellow ribbons hung from the chandeliers. Huge bowls of cut glass held golden daffodils. Yellow candles burned in silver candelsticks and immense brass jardiniere held quantities of Oregon grape. The afternoon's program included the following: piano solo, Mrs. Evelyn C. Long; vocal solo, Mrs. Grammi; reading, Elma Schartz; violin solo, Marjory Jones; vocal solo, Mrs. Leas; piano solo, Onia Peterson; piano duet, little Fern Mowery and Mary Hallam. Refreshments were served, Mrs. Page-ler cutting the cake. Mr. Holden presiding over the samovar. About 15 ladies called.

In the evening the program was exceptionally fine, including a vocal solo, Mrs. Hartje; reading, Mrs. Lillian Downing; solo, Mrs. Buhliatt; tenor solo, Mr. R. E. Jones; two numbers by an orchestra; reading, Mrs. Lillian Downing; solo, Mrs. L. S. Nelson; duet, Fern Mowery and Mary Hallam; and solo, Mrs. Allen Anderson. ing. Misses Leas, Pick and Olsen assisted at the punch bowl. Miss Niemann cut ices, and Miss Horberger poured the coffee. The assistants were Harriett Leas, Hildah Hendrickson, Charlotte Paseler, Margaret Jones, Stella and Leolla Tormoehlin and Anna Olsen. About 100 guests called and enjoyed the evening, which was a decided success, socially and financially, for the church.

To Arrive After Death of Father

Milwaukee, Wis., April 2.—A loser in a race against death, Mrs. Earl Dwire, known on the stage by her maiden name, Miss Ruth Lechler, formerly with the Baker stock company, will arrive at Milwaukee tonight from New York four days after the death of her father, Frederick H. Lechler. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon. Miss Lechler received word of her father's illness by telegram Sunday in New York, as she was about to leave for Winnipeg to become leading woman in a stock company there, and took the first train for Portland. She will temporarily give up her stage work and remain with her mother, Mrs. Laurie Lechler, at Milwaukee.

Cunning Kiddies Dominate Picture

The most attractive thing about "The Commanding Officer" at the Peoples is the little wif of a girl and the curly headed little boy. The youngsters are hardly more than babies and their acting is really remarkable for they play with intelligence and an evident understanding of the demands made upon them. They are always bobbing up at the unexpected moment and they make the real interest in the story. Next to them is the featured member of the cast, Alice Dovey, an attractive young actress who plays with charm and conviction. Donald Crisp, the commanding officer, is printed in London in 1899.

most uninteresting as the type of man he portrays. The remainder of the cast is sufficient. The story is military in character but it is one of the least interesting that the Famous Players have put out in a long time. Nestor comedy, "In a Jackpot," and Pathe Weekly complete the bill.
