

PEOPLE AND EVENTS YOU HAVE READ ABOUT IN THE NEWS COLUMNS

All Principal Events of Week Briefly Sketched for Information of Busy Readers

General News. LIVE day was celebrated at the Panama-California exposition and in San Diego generally. Five pipe olives were distributed at the fair grounds and on the city streets, and lectures on the food value of this California product were delivered.

Because he had among his passengers General La Vega and Major Adrian Mendez, of the Carranza army, who refused to be put ashore at San Blas, Captain H. Frazier, of the Pacific Mail steamer City of Para, which arrived at San Francisco from the Mexican ports, decided to cut out San Blas from his ports of call.

Great Britain vainly endeavored to obtain better treatment and education of Jews in Russia, according to information given out by the Berlin press bureau. The Russian minister of education informed the British ambassador that the czar did not wish the Jews in Russia educated, the statement asserts.

California senate bill blacklisting inebriates passed the house, and now goes to the governor for final approval. The measure makes it an offense for a bartender to serve a drink to a person against whom some member of the family decried shall ride the "water wagon."

Fear of an epidemic of smallpox was aroused when it was discovered that a Mexican wounded in the fighting at Matamoros and brought to Brownsville, Texas, was suffering from the disease. He was returned to the Mexican side of the border.

Willard Wallace, San Francisco bank swindler, who was pronounced dead after swallowing poison in the city jail at Boston, and who was later almost miraculously restored to life through the heart massage treatment, died three hours and 17 minutes after the experiment.

Speakers of national repute participated in the deliberations of the world's social progress congress, which met at San Francisco. Among the speakers were Chancellor David Starr Jordan, of Stanford university; President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, of California university; Congressman Richmond William M. Egan, of Alabama, and Bishop William M. G. Stone, of Oakland.

Having brooded constantly over the death of her son, who was killed during a hunting trip recently, Mrs. Amelia Lagemann, a wealthy widow, ordered her life in her apartments at Santa Cruz, Cal.

The condition of Carl Busch, one of the late millionaires, planned to be, who has been critically ill for several weeks, remains unchanged.

Disappointed because she was unable to find a suitable husband, who would form a proxy marriage that would unite her with Captain Donald P. Gerard, of the British army, Jean Shelby, a dressmaker, of Oakland, was leading her by 10 feet when Motorcyclist Policeman E. H. Sherman stopped her, thus preventing her from winning the race.

Miss Vivian Johnson, well known Alameda society girl, expressed much chagrin at Niles, Cal., when she paid a fine of $25 for speeding. Her friend, Mrs. W. P. Stone, of Oakland, was leading her by 10 feet when Motorcyclist Policeman E. H. Sherman stopped her, thus preventing her from winning the race.

Oswego was gripped by a blizzard last Tuesday which blocked all traffic. The thermometer dropped 16 degrees within an hour, and a wind, reaching a velocity of 50 miles an hour, caused much damage and suffering in the poorer section of the city.

The California senate passed a bill raising the minimum salaries of employees of the harbor commission to $30 a month. The assembly was taken up with the discussion of the amendment forbidding the use of paramilitary nets.

An extra session of the Japanese diet will open about May 20, according to a statement issued from New York by the East and West News Bureau. The government, which was supported by the Japanese people in the recent election, will move the passage of bills for extensive improvements in the army and navy, and for subsidies for the merchant marine.

Having crossed the continent incognito in her private car, "Boston," Mrs. Edward H. Breitung, New York society woman, and mother of the handsome Breitung-Kleist, whose chauffeur husband sued her and Mrs. Breitung for $250,000 heart balm after Mrs. Kleist left him, arrived in Los Angeles.

Mrs. John P. Altgeld, widow of former Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, died at the home of her niece at Chicago. She had been an invalid for years.

Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall and Mrs. Roosevelt and party were escorted to the exposition grounds at San Diego by a naval and military parade.

The pioneer spirit dominated the dedication of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in the handsome Canadian Pacific railway building. The principal address was delivered by George Ham, representing the president of the C. P. R.

A stock company lost its entire wardrobe, and $25,000 damage was done otherwise in a fire which destroyed the Majestic theatre, at Sioux Falls, S. D.

To determine whether the Red Stack tug Sea Rover was violating neutrality laws of the United States in salvaging the Japanese cruiser Agama, wrecked off Turtle Bay, on the west coast of Mexico, Collector of the Port J. Q. Davis wired Secretary of State

Bryan full particulars of the Sea Rover's trip from San Francisco.

Four cruises and three colliers are standing by the Japanese warship Asama, ashore at the mouth of Turtle Bay, on the Mexican coast, according to Captain P. E. Frazier, of the steamship City of Para, which passed the vessels on March 27.

A municipal "twilight sleep" hospital for wives of laboring men or low salaried clerks may bear their children in as much comfort and with as little danger as the wives of the rich, is the Utopian dream for Los Angeles of Dr. Arthur D. Houghton, eminent local physician.

Divorce looms as the handwriting on the wall at the home of Gertrude Boyle Kanno, of San Francisco, the California sculptress, who has filed in the secret files of local courts a suit for legal separation from Takeshi Kanno, Japanese poet and philosopher.

Vice-President Marshall earned a dollar by serving as an extra camera man at a motion picture studio at Los Angeles.

While being photographed by newspapermen on the front steps of the Hotel Maryland, Mrs. Thonnie R. Marshall, wife of the vice president of the United States, missed her footing and fell.

John E. Weston ostrich farm at Los Angeles named a weeks old ostrich "Vice President Marshall" in honor of the vice president. The farm people may even give the bird to the vice president, they say.

Praises of President Wilson were staid, literally and figuratively, as the feature of the dedication of the Panama-Pacific exposition of the New Jersey building.

President Wilson accepted an invitation to deliver the principal Memorial day address at Arlington, May 30, in connection with the exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is convinced that everything possible is being done with the means at hand to recover the foundered submarine F-4 from the harbor of Honolulu.

Technical questions regarding the ownership of the cargo of the American vessel, William P. Fry, which was sunk by the German raider, Eitel Friedrich, are delaying the American note of protest to Germany over the Fry's destruction, President Wilson told callers.

Secretary of State Bryan announced that the negotiations over the murder of John E. McManus by Zapalistas at Mexico City recently had been successfully terminated by the payment to Mrs. McManus' widow of 180,000 pesos.

Secretary of State Bryan announced that the fleet coming up the Pacific coast in July, via the Panama canal, will stay in the Pacific six months. Secretary Daniels, he said, will accompany the fleet.

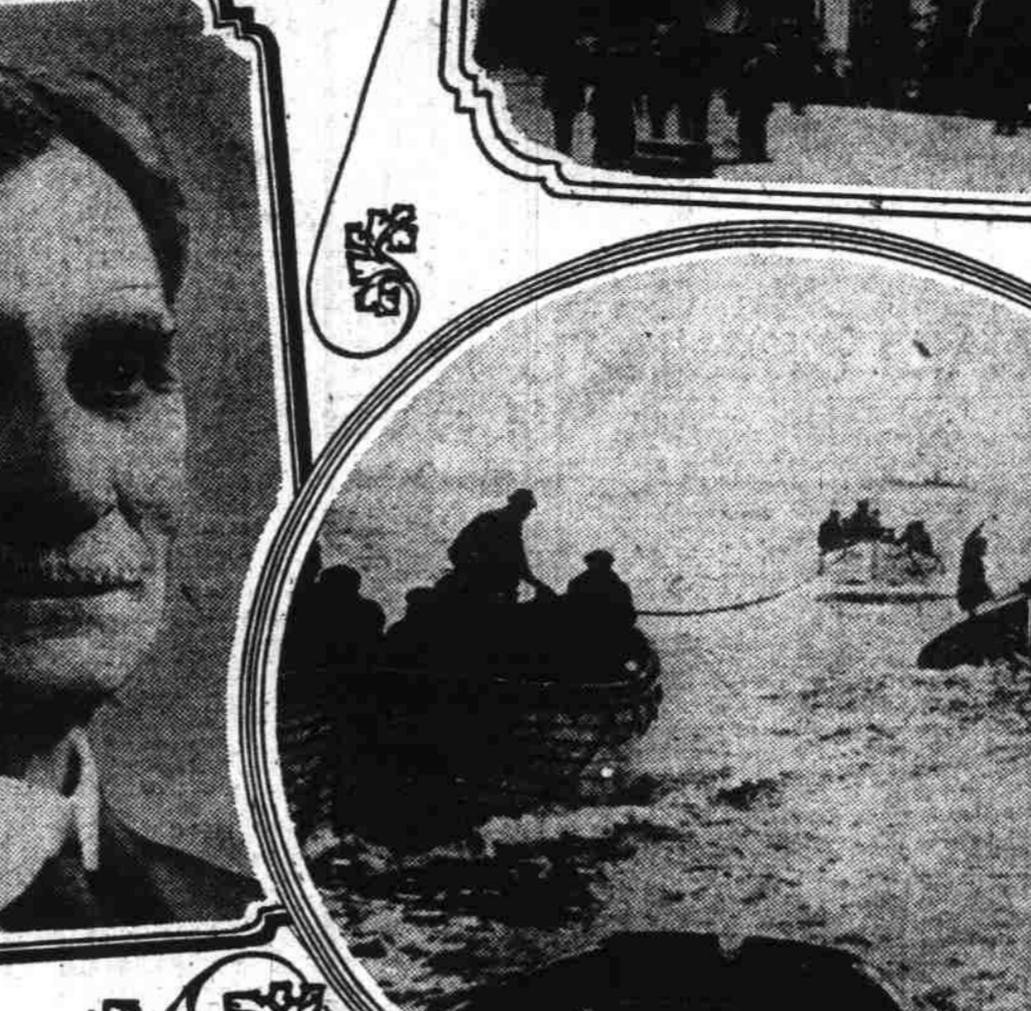

Legal and Criminal. CAPTAIN OF INSPECTORS LOU AGNEW, of the Oakland police, left for Calexico, Imperial valley in search of Claude Young, said in a letter left by Mrs. Jane Riley, who killed herself when her sister, Mrs. M. Fulton, died of tuberculosis in Oakland, he had stolen diamonds valued at $7000 from Mrs. Fulton.

Entering a Richland avenue street car, at San Francisco, at the terminal at Richland avenue and Andover street, youthful bandit held up conductor A. R. Chase at the point of a revolver and robbed him of $19.80.

A charge of operating a confidence game against George Webster was dismissed at Chicago so that Webster could be turned over to the federal authorities. Webster, alias Wakefield, is suspected of being a member of the gang which robbed the branch Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C., September 15, 1911, of $317,000.

Charging a $4500 forgery, a warrant was issued at San Francisco for F. H. Conard, identity and present whereabouts unknown, who swindled the Union Trust company out of that amount. It was the most successful forgery since the operations of the Becker-Creegan gang, 20 years ago.

Top, left to right—The staff of the Tenth Reserve Corps photographed at the German headquarters near Rheims. General von Eben, corps commander, is in the center. Crowds assembling for the dedication of the Danish pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Bottom, left to right—Houston B. Teehee, the new register of the Treasury, who is five-eighths Indian; Samuel Lyle Rogers of Franklin, N. C., the new director of the Federal Trade Commission; Crews of the British ships Headland and Indian City being torpedoed by the German submarine U-29; scene at the laying of the cornerstone for the American Red Cross building in Washington, D. C. President Wilson and ex-President Taft are seen in the background.

Two claims, one for $1600 and the other $100, were awarded against the Lincoln Beachey estate by Superior Judge Graham at San Francisco. William H. Pickens, associated with Beachey in the Lincoln Beachey corporation, asked $2920 for a fourth interest in motor equipment. He was awarded $1600.

Driven to the verge of insanity by homesickness and reports that Italy was about to plunge into one European war, Enrico Bianco, 23, became desperate and created such a disturbance in his lodgings that a police riot call was sent to headquarters, at Los Angeles.

Because her love for her boy sweetheart was greater than her courage, four white slayers of Peoria, Ill. Joseph Maloff, leader of the quartet, was given 10 years in the federal prison at Leavenworth. The other three pleaded guilty. The other three escaped with slightly less severe punishment.

A lively race is on between California sheriffs and detectives and three of the shrewdest detectives in the Canadian service, to see who can capture the fugitive, J. J. White, and therefore claim the $500 reward offered in Canada. Jones is wanted on a charge of embezzling $11,000 at Coonset.

Hard times claimed another victim in Edward Rox of Los Angeles, 29, a chauffeur, who was found dead in his room with a poison bottle in his hand. His landlady said that he had been unable to find work.

European War. THE crew of the British steamship Crown of Castilla, which was sunk by a German submarine off the Scilly islands, landed at Barry. Every member of the crew was saved.

The Dutch steamer Amstel has been torpedoed and sunk off Flamborough, the British admiralty announced. The crew of the vessel was landed at Humber.

An organized campaign of misrepresentation of the position of Germany and Austria in the hope of participating in an Austro-Italian crisis is charged by German correspondents in Italy in dispatches received at Berlin.

After being at white heat for more than a week, public opinion aroused by the German submarine attacks upon Dutch shipping finally cooled. This is due to a report to the marine authorities disproving the charge that a German trawler fired on the steamer Macklenburg, and other information that reports of alleged German "outrages" had been exaggerated.

Dispatches from the Dardanelles asserted that English reports of bombardment of the Turkish forts had been resumed and allies had landed expeditionary forces, were untrue.

Commenting on the attack on the Dardanelles, a former Dutch minister has written the Amsterdam Vrederijk that the capture of Constantinople by the allies would be a misfortune, as disputes over it would keep Europe involved in war for many years.

The forces of Prince Joachim in the east are declared to continue to make progress to Heidekrugward. Taurögen captured by the prince's army, suffered severely from shells before being occupied.

Any navigator could tell you, stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing. You are thinking in blossom time when the valley with its drifts of petals, is more of a fairyland than Japan when the cherries are a-bloom. You are steeled in fancy of the stately forms of Mount Hood in the south and Mount Adams to the north, views that when seen may never be forgotten.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing. You are thinking in blossom time when the valley with its drifts of petals, is more of a fairyland than Japan when the cherries are a-bloom. You are steeled in fancy of the stately forms of Mount Hood in the south and Mount Adams to the north, views that when seen may never be forgotten.

Top, left to right—The staff of the Tenth Reserve Corps photographed at the German headquarters near Rheims. General von Eben, corps commander, is in the center. Crowds assembling for the dedication of the Danish pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Bottom, left to right—Houston B. Teehee, the new register of the Treasury, who is five-eighths Indian; Samuel Lyle Rogers of Franklin, N. C., the new director of the Federal Trade Commission; Crews of the British ships Headland and Indian City being torpedoed by the German submarine U-29; scene at the laying of the cornerstone for the American Red Cross building in Washington, D. C. President Wilson and ex-President Taft are seen in the background.

From the Dalles to the Cascades of the Columbia by Boat. (Continued from preceding page.)

The Commercial Club, Near White Salmon empties the river of the same name, now used by the Northwestern Electric company in developing power for sale in Portland.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

Any navigator could tell you, stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

On the opposite shore is the mouth of the Hood river, and above its bluffs stands the town of Hood River. The river's name was not always as now. Pioneers called it Dog river. You are already thinking of the wonderful apples, not golden like those of the garden of Hesperides, but gold producing.

Top, left to right—The staff of the Tenth Reserve Corps photographed at the German headquarters near Rheims. General von Eben, corps commander, is in the center. Crowds assembling for the dedication of the Danish pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Bottom, left to right—Houston B. Teehee, the new register of the Treasury, who is five-eighths Indian; Samuel Lyle Rogers of Franklin, N. C., the new director of the Federal Trade Commission; Crews of the British ships Headland and Indian City being torpedoed by the German submarine U-29; scene at the laying of the cornerstone for the American Red Cross building in Washington, D. C. President Wilson and ex-President Taft are seen in the background.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Enthusiastic supporters of the Hill school baseball team are looking forward to the time when the eight little brothers now in the first grade will, with one other boy, make up the Hill nine.

Declares Germany Instigated China

Tokio, April 3.—The Osaka Hill has published an interview with Premier Count Okuma, during which the Japanese statesman said he expected good results from the negotiations going on at the present time with China.

Hair Tinting All the Rage

The Absolute and Utter Harmlessness of "Brownatone" Has Made Hair Tinting Safe and Easy.

You need not tolerate gray, streaked or faded hair another day. It takes but a few moments to apply "Brownatone" with your comb or brush and just a little "touching up" is all that is required.

Prepared in New York. One to contain none of the dangerous ingredients so often found in "dyes."

For Sale by THE OWL DRUG CO., 20 STORES on the Pacific Coast. (Adv.)

St. Paul School Is Filled With Twins

Teachers Can Hardly Tell Them Apart to Give Proper Credit for Reading and Spelling. St. Paul, April 3.—Distraught parents of twin children often complain at critical moments, but at the Hill grade school is a teacher who has a far greater task than these parents. Miss Florence Tucker of the A first grade has three sets of twin boys in her room, and it requires the utmost concentration on her part to see that credit for reading or "numbers" is bestowed on the right brother when she makes up her report.

This unusual aggregation of twins is made up of Francis and Frederick Pearson, each 4 1/2 years old; Thomas and Charles McMurray, 4 years old, and Robert and Russell Loomis, 7 years old.

Society Women Use New Wrinkle Remover

Since the discovery that a solution of ordinary saxolite and witch hazel has a peculiar effect upon wrinkled skin, the most successful and most prominent society women all over the country have used this simple home treatment with great success. The formula is: powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one quart. Use daily as a wash lotion.

The beneficial action of this wash is felt at once. There is an agreeable freshness in the complexion, the skin is illuminated. The skin soon becomes firmer and more youthful-looking. Wrinkles and all wrinkles are immediately affected. No one need hesitate to get the ingredients at the drug store and make remedy herself. For these there are no harmful effects whatever. (Adv.)