NEW EASTER BONNETS COME OUT IN PARADE AND CLOUDS ROLL BY

Small, Round Shapes, With Simple Trimmings Seem Popular.

TILT ENHANCES EFFECT

Military Influence Is Apparent Though Not Dominant; Studies in Black and White Are Peatures.

Mindful of the warning of the weather man, timidly came forth the Easter hat vestermorn. Great cum ulus clouds frowned down their threats throughout the day, but that was as far as they went, and by mid-afternoon the downtown streets were as smart with new finery as if the skies had been cloudless.

Whatever width the hats of 1914 may have had has been lost. And whatever width has been lost, in the hats or elsewhere, reappears with interest in the skirts. Not only are the hats narrow, mostly, but they are worn filted like a ship with a heavy list, the list depending upon the taste of the wearer. There are not many fluttering ribbons. Nodding plumes are few. Trimmings are few and simple. There is a decided favoritism for the "stick-up" plume, with its trim military effect.
Flowers there are of marevious sim-flitude to the real thing, and of every olor known to field or garden. But they are not worn in such masses as formerly. Little single bunches at of a feather, or distributed around the brim or crown-that seems to be the approved way of wearing them this year.

One of the most noticeable features of the hats is the disposition of stiff Phone in "saber bows," flaring up from the hat, as their name suggests, like broad-bladed knives or sticking out from the sides like a pair of wings of an sirship.

The military influence, while not dominant or obtrusive, is plainly seen not only in the shapes of the hats and their trimmings, but in the lines of the suits and dresses.

The prediction made early last fall that the war, causing a dearth of dyestuffs, would make black and white fashionable colors, had its fulfi.lment yesterday, when, for all the variety of colors in the hats, black or white, or a combination, were most frequently seen in the suits. Other colors there were in plenty, but the sober colors, from black through the grays to white, were very apparent.

With all the "made" beauty that conduced to the success of the Easter fashion parade, the early season had brought a profusion of flowers and bouquets of blossoms, cultivated and wild, which were in many hands.

Uncle Sam Tries to Make Beach Stay Close to the Ocean

(Special to The Journal.) Florence, Or., April 5 .- The ing about 4000 maritime pine trees, a quantity of Scotch Broom bushes and eucalyptus ocean beach south from the Si-, uslaw river in an effort to further a growth that will keep sand from blowing away.

The prevailing winds are off the ocean and are continually driving the sand farther east. An advance eastward of three and one-half feet yearly is recorded west of Lake Tsiltcoos and there is abundant evidence to show that the sand is encroaching on the timber from the Siuslaw to Coos bay. Trees completely buried within the last 50 years, roads have been blotted out and adjoining lakes * more or less filled with sand. Thousands of cubic yards are * blown yearly into the rivers and are carried down to form serious obstructions to navigation.
