

What Society is Doing

BY NONA LAWLER
MRS. AND MRS. WINSLOW B. AYER are having a few guests at their home this evening when Miss Ruth Draper will entertain with a monologue. About thirty of the younger married people have been invited for this occasion.

Miss du Pont Being Extensively Feted.

Countless parties are filling the days with a series of pleasant affairs honoring Miss Renee du Pont, the charming guest of the Misses Malster and Miss MacMaster from Wilmington, Del. This afternoon Mrs. H. C. Wortman gave a luncheon in her honor; tomorrow Miss Claire Wilcox will be hostess at a dinner prior to the Cotton Ball for Miss Alice MacMaster and her guest, Thursday Miss Nan Russell has planned a luncheon; Friday Miss Margaret Mears a bridge; Saturday Miss Rhoda Zumwalt will give a luncheon for the visitor.

Cotton Ball Tomorrow Evening.

Yards and yards of dotted Swiss, dimities, lawns, and laces are being fashioned into sweet summery frocks for the Cotton ball, the charity event of tomorrow evening to be given at the Multnomah hotel for the benefit of Seadding house. Not content with merely wearing a simple cotton frock, the maids and matrons of the society decided to make the affair entirely unique by making their own gowns and much talent in costume building has been discovered. With the word "cotton frock" the mind revolves back to the typical southern girl with Gibson curl on her shoulder and pretty dresses with full filmy flouncings crisp and dainty. Many of these ideas have been worked into simple print dresses for the event of tomorrow evening and combined with the famed beauty of Portland women the Cotton ball will doubtless be a memorable event.

Scholarship Fund to Be Established.

The "College fete" given in Cottillon hall, April 15, by the Pan-Hellenic Association is not only an event of social interest and enthusiasm but one which has a worthy cause behind it. The proceeds will be used to establish a scholarship fund for the University of Oregon as suggested by Mrs. George Gerlinger, one of the women interested in the affair. Many students of the university who will be in Portland for their vacation and members of the Portland academy and of the various high schools are expected to enjoy this informal entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Sherman, Clay & Co.

Annual Ball and Reception of Yacht Club.

The Oregon Yacht club will give its reception and annual ball in honor of the incoming officers Thursday at Cottillon hall. The reception committee is: Commodore, R. B. Bain Jr.; vice commodore, S. Arthur Sholin; secretary, Fred B. Newell; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Bernard Thompson; port captain, Hugh H. Hazlett; fleet captain, E. J. Carr, and fleet surgeon, Dr. Thomas W. Ross. The entertainment committee is: Hugh H. Hazlett, chairman; Dr. Thomas W. Ross and William R. Smyth, and the floor committee is: T. W. Mendell, A. G. Ramsay, Miles Standish, Alan Lane, Dr. R. M. Emerson, Stanley Hazlett, Lewis V. Woodward and Duncan Irwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Grant entertained last Thursday evening with five hundred at their home. Their guests included: Mr. and Mrs. V. Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loder, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Greisel, Mr. and Mrs. P. Park, Mr. and Mrs. James Loder, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wenning, Mrs. Benjamin Carlington, Mrs. H. Reifeurath, Dr. R. A. Spurrer, Miss Nellie Tucker, Miss Thelma Park, Mrs. F. B. Tucker, L. Shaver Walter and Miss Helen Grant. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Greisel and Mr. Kolb and the second honors fell to Mrs. Edward Loder and Mr. Park.

Minnesota Society to Meet.

The Minnesota Gophers will gather at Cottillon hall tomorrow night for their regular monthly entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McLaughlin have the program in hand for this meeting and for the feature have secured the Alderman's school pictures, which are very interesting and should be seen. There will be no admission charge and a box lunch will be provided by the ladies.

Society Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McCalman have taken apartments at the Virginia Hill. They have leased their home on Melinda avenue for a year to Mr. and Mrs. George Warren.

Mrs. C. H. Griffin of Salt Lake City

Mrs. George Gerlinger, one of the state regents at the University of Oregon, who is interested in establishing a scholarship fund, for which the Pan-Hellenic Association is giving its College Fete at Cottillon hall Friday afternoon and evening.

arrived in this city Sunday afternoon. She is a sister of D. Walter Tilford and comes to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, the late Mrs. Sarah M. Tilford.

FRATERNAL NOTES

Knights of Columbus Pay Visit to Astoria.

New Council Instituted. Portland council, No. 678, Knights of Columbus, nearly 100 strong, went last Sunday to Corvallis, where a new council was instituted by W. P. O'Brien, of Astoria.

The Oregon Electric provided a special train and the knights speak highly of the way in which every thing possible was done to accommodate the crowds. Among the prominent members from Portland were Joseph Jacobberger, Adrian Ward, F. C. Suren, T. J. Dowd, P. L. Hanley, John Hard and T. J. Ryan. The Portland council put on the first and second degrees with a charter class of over 60, and Albany council put on the work of the third degree. T. G. Ryan, deputy district attorney of Multnomah county, delivered the address, entitled "Patriotism and Knighthood," at the banquet held at the Julien hotel.

Charge Passports Are Being Misused

Because of Objections Made by Belligerent Nations State Department Orders Travelers Appear in Court. San Francisco, Calif. April 13.—(P. N. S.)—Stringent orders regarding the issuance of passports were put into effect here today as a consequence of reports made to the state department by belligerent nations that United States passports are being misused by persons suspected of being spies. Hereafter, instead of the customary application before a notary public, prospective travelers must appear before a federal court, establish their identity and citizenship, and take the oath of allegiance.

Is Man Floating to Death on Ice Floe?

Mail Dispatches From Wainwright, Alaska, Tell of Villiamer Steffanson Seen Drifting Southwesterly.

Nome, Alaska, April 13.—(U. P.)—Is Villiamer Steffanson still alive? This is the question raised here following reports received in the mail dispatched from Wainwright, Alaska, March 3, telling of natives having seen a white man marooned on an ice floe drifting in a southwesterly direction toward Wrangell island. Wainwright is 60 miles northeast of Icy cape, on the Arctic coast, near latitude 70. Steffanson has not been heard from

Former Farmer Says He Realizes What Roads Mean

"I once lived eight miles south of Portland on the White House road," said an Daniehs citizen, who is now employed as a streetcar motorman. "I gave it up and the bad road did me. I could haul 15 or 16 sacks of potatoes to town with a two horse team. It took me all day to get to town and back, and then I could only sell my potatoes for wages for myself and team. The road was made of wooden rails, and every once in a while there would be a hole. It was a losing proposition. After I moved away they macadamized the road; that did the trick for the time. Now when they propose hard surfacing, I work for it hard as I can. Although I don't farm any more, I can't help but argue good roads with me—I've been over the bad ones."

Bomb Throwers Are Found Guilty

Frank Abarno and Carmine Carbone Attempted to Blow Up St. Patrick's Cathedral—Planned Reign of Terror. New York, April 13.—(U. P.)—Frank Abarno and Carmine Carbone are in the Tombs today awaiting sentence following their conviction by a jury of having attempted to plant a bomb in St. Patrick's cathedral March 2. Following the arrest of the two men the police declared a reign of terror had been planned by the bomb planters, including attacks upon big banks of the city and the blowing up of the homes of Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller and other millionaires.

ALDERMAN IS AUTHOR OF "SCHOOL CREDIT WORK"

L. R. Alderman, superintendent of the Portland public schools, has written a book. It is called "School Credit for Home Work" and is published by the Houghton-Mifflin Company, Boston; $1.00 net. The book gives to the nation an Oregon idea. It explains both why credits should be given at school for useful tasks performed at home, and how the method of "school credits for home work" may be introduced. The author says: "This book is written in the hope that parents, teachers and children may be helped to work together more joyously and harmoniously on the real problems of life." Mr. Alderman, as an educator, recognizes in his book the educational value of learning to be useful at home. Sewing, sweeping, making fire, baking bread, caring for and milking the cow, caring for personal neatness—the hundred and one things essential to a wholesome standard of living and service are noted as proper subjects for school credits.

Rural Districts Featured.

This, it will be said, is adapted particularly and almost exclusively to rural districts. But beds are to be made, dishes to be washed, errands to be run cheerfully, kindlings to be split, and habits of personal neatness are to be learned even in town. Many of the results of the plan as outlined in the narrative. Schedules that have been employed with valuable results in a number of schools are reproduced. The book never deviates from its theme, which is that to teach boys and girls to be useful increases assurance of their becoming good and efficient citizens. How did the idea of "School Credit for Home Work" originate? "The idea first came to me from memories of my own home, where tasks were assigned to us children and were made to seem important," says Superintendent Alderman, in his introduction. "With my father, the work was always carried on in the spirit of a game, and the game was almost as interesting as any other game; in the meantime something was being done that was worth while."

Wants to Partate.

"Among many other memories there comes one of our laying a rail fence by moonlight, after a freshet had taken the other fence away; when the game was to get the line completed before the moon went down. I can still see father laying rail on rail, and enjoy his glowing enthusiasm at our accomplishment. The fence still stands. Besides seeking to make the work interesting in itself, father had a device to put a value on time for his boys by being as free time after the tasks were completed to do as we saw fit. "The desire, after I became a teacher, to put myself in the enviable position of my father as an inspiring influence with children was the motive that took my thoughts out of the will speak on "Community Development." There will be a jubilee troupe, a large brass band, the Adelpian male quartet and other features.
