Queen Contest Editor of The Journal Invites Suggestions on Manner of Selection.

Suggestion as to the method of choosing the queen of the 1915 Rose Festival include everything from one that she be chosen from the high schools to one from an enamored swain who proposes the name of his sweetheart as a candidate.

This young man suggests a free for all, everyone to nominate the young woman that suits individual fancy. "My suggestion may not suit," he says in his letter to the queen contest editor of The Journal, but it would be a democratic and popular way. I wish my girl friend were queen, as she is the queen of my life."

Many Suggestions Made.

"The queen should be Mary Edgett Baker, daughter of George L. Baker," writes someone signing "N. B." "The princesses should be girls from the different high schools."

"Have the president of the Rose Festival pick out a young girl that would be as lovely as our roses," is another blithe suggestion.

Some of the suggestors propose definite specifications. For instance, one says that the queen should be not less than 5 feet 8 inches in height, either blonde or brunette, weight from 135 to 150 pounds, according to height, selection to be made either from photograph or in person.

Variety is the notion of J. B. Clarke, who suggests a new queen for each day of the show, Portland to share honors with the other larger cities of the state in furnishing the transient

Voting Contest Suggested.

A young woman, according to Mr. and a princess for the other days of the festival. He suggests a voting contest, tickets to be given with sales in the stores, as a means of selection. omeone with a thrifty turn of mind suggests that the queen be selected by vote, but that "every vote that counts must be accompanied by

Mrs. Leslie Hopper of La Grande suggests that the successful candidate be the young woman who writes the best "ad" for the festival, using the words, "Portland Rose Festival," and that the next six highest be her

Why Spring Brings Out Freckles and Eruptions

ruptions or fine lines at this season is attributed by scientists to the "actinic ray," which is unusually active during the spring months. Where the skin is so affected by this influence, if one will procure an ounce of common mercolized wax at any drug store, apply a little of it before retiring, like cold cream, she can easily overcome the trouble. When the wax is washed off next morning, flaky skin particles come with it. The entire outer cuticle is removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectually remove freckles or blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No pain or inconvenience ac-
