

CLUSTER OF ROSES WILL BE PRESENTED TO EVERY VISITOR

President of Portland Rose Society Aids in Cello Canal Celebration.

BANQUET TO BE FEATURE

Ad Club Will Take Active Part in Arranging for Street Parade at Portland, May 6.

Much influence with the governor of the weather is credited by the Cello canal celebration committee to E. B. McFarland, president of the Portland Rose society.

Mr. McFarland has promised a cluster of Portland roses that bloomed outdoors to each of the distinguished visitors to the Portland program, May 6, the Cello canal celebration week, May 3-8.

Big bunches of roses will be prepared for each of the 40 young women from towns on the Columbia and its tributaries who are to assist in the ceremonies dedicating the Cello canal to commerce and navigation.

Phil S. Bates will have charge of the visit of these young women to Portland, and Mrs. C. C. Colt and Mrs. Emery Olmstead will serve as chaperones.

A feature of the Portland program will be a banquet, and John T. Dougall, who has been added to the Portland celebration committee, has promised the services of the Ad club members to act as ushers for this affair.

George L. Baker, president of the Ad club, has accepted appointment as chairman of the street parade that will be held May 6 as part of the Portland celebration.

Congress of Water Planned.
A large number of vessels will join in the congress of water craft that is to take place on the morning of May 6 in the Portland harbor, said Fred A. Hall, chairman of the marine subcommittee.

Fred Johnson, mayor of Astoria, was in Portland yesterday. He said that Astoria is making elaborate preparations for the sixth annual convention of the Columbia and Snake Rivers Waterways association, May 7 and 8, which is to be the climax of Cello canal celebration week.

The following young women have already been appointed as sponsors of the Cello canal at the ceremonies May 5: Miss Ruth M. Lund, Boise, Idaho; Miss Lella Zoe Herschler, Hood River; Miss Helen M. Manny, Bend; Miss Ruth Cooper, Underwood, Wash.; Miss Alma Moore, Lytle, Wash.; Miss Cecil Gose, Walla Walla; Miss Sattie M. Sullivan, Oregon City. Each will bring a bottle of water from the river which will be used in the ceremony.

Use of Craft Donated.
It was announced yesterday that Captain S. V. Winslow of the United States steamer, Umatilla, had granted the use of his gas power boat, T-Lacum, for the newspapermen and photographers who will take the trip from Lewiston to the mouth of the Cello canal.

They will accompany the celebration fleet ready for special service on call. This vessel, which is one of the most powerful gas propelled craft in the northwest, has succeeded in navigating the Snake 190 miles above Lewiston, to a point some 2000 feet higher in elevation.

Bride Visited Portland. Ostentatiously on Shopping Tour; Meets Fiance Here.

DINE AT THE MOTOR CLUB

Marriage Ceremony Is Performed at Vancouver, Wash.; Few Friends Share Secret.

Risking the parental blessing, which has heretofore been withheld on the match, Jerome S. Mann and Miss Alberta C. Crowley of Vancouver, Wash., eloped yesterday afternoon, going to the parsonage of Rev. Thomas F. May, Congregational minister at Vancouver, Wash., who performed the nuptials for them at 3 o'clock.

The bride came to the city ostensibly on a shopping tour and at 2 o'clock met her bride and the attendants at the Benson hotel, where they jumped into the big seven passenger car of the bridegroom and sped to the parson's residence. Later the party motored out to the automobile club for a wedding dinner and the couple left last night for a several weeks' tour of California.

The wedding is the culmination of a college romance when the bride and bridegroom were students at the University of Washington. Their parents both agreed they had yet much time to get married and have dissuaded them several times from taking the step.

ARTISTS' WORK ON VIEW

Top—"Out of Commission," water color by C. A. Walters. Bottom—"The Pinto," by Floyd Wilson.

An interesting exhibition of oils, water colors and pastels, opened at the Art Museum last week, is the work of two young artists, Carl Walters and Floyd Wilson, both formerly of Indianapolis, but who now reside in Portland. They began their studies at the Minneapolis School of Fine Arts and later received training under Robert Henri.

Among Mr. Wilson's pastels the one entitled "Laborers" is perhaps the strongest. It is a picture of the new Meier & Frank building in construction. In it he has caught the romance of the city and the poetry of labor. "Little Houses" and "Portland at Night" are noticeable for their vibrant coloring.

JITNEY BUS DRIVERS TAKE MEASURES TO BAR RECKLESS MEN

Auto Transit Welfare Association Will Fine or Expel Undesirable Members.

COMMISSION IS NAMED

C. J. Rahles Will Supervise Work—One Driver Fined and Arrested Yesterday.

Jitney bus drivers have taken the bull by the horns, and say they are going to protect public safety against reckless fellow drivers.

The Auto Transit Welfare association has appointed a jitney public safety commission. Its members are J. C. Lane, Attorney J. P. Flanagan and J. J. Higgins, and it will oversee the enforcement of safety first methods among the drivers.

Nine men are to be appointed special police, one each to work on the more important jitney routes, and they will arrest jitney drivers and other motorists who exceed the speed limit, or violate traffic provisions.

C. J. Rahles, office manager of the drivers' association, will supervise this work. Members of the association who are reckless, will be called on the carpet before the commission and warned. For second offenses they will be arrested and thrown out of the organization.

The first arrest was made yesterday, when O. L. Matchette, the special officer detailed to Hawthorne avenue, arrested Clarence Ratelle, another driver and a member of the association, for speeding on Hawthorne avenue, and Ratelle was fined $10.

"We realize that the jitney business has suffered greatly from the recklessness of some of its drivers, and this safety movement is designed to promote our interests, as the street car company attempts to protect its traffic by getting behind the safety first movement," said Mr. Flanagan.
