

EPISCOPAL MINISTERS WILL BE PENSIONED WHEN THEY ARE 68

Oregon Is First Western Diocese to Act on Canon of General Conference.

ACADEMY TO BE CLOSED

Courts Will Be Asked to Authorize Conversion of Funds to Other Purpose.

Ministers of the Episcopal church in Oregon will be given pensions after they are 68 years old, as a result of the adoption of a canon at the closing session, yesterday, of the annual convention of the diocese.

The canon was adopted by the unanimous vote of the clergy, and with but one dissenting parish, St. David's, Portland, represented by Dr. S. E. Joseph. In voting in opposition, Dr. Joseph explained that he was not necessarily opposed to the pension plan, but believed that action should be deferred for another year.

The canon was adopted by the 1913 general conference for America, and several dioceses have adopted it. Oregon, however, is the first western diocese to take such action.

Parish to Become Mission.
As one of its closing acts, the convention voted to convert All Saints' parish in Portland to an organized mission. This action was taken because the funds and membership of the parish are both too limited to warrant its continuance as such. The parish will turn over its properties to Bishop Sumner.

Another decision of the convention was to close the Bishop Scott academy in Ashland county and petition the courts for right to convert its funds to other church purposes.

The new board of trustees for the school is: Rev. A. W. Griffin of McMinnville, Rev. John D. Rice of Seaside, and Walter J. Burns of Portland.

The following diocesan officers and committees were chosen yesterday:

Young Engineer on Tumalo Dam Dies

A. S. Nicol, aged 28 years, engineer in charge of the Lehigh publicity agent of the Tumalo dam project at Lid-lad, died yesterday at St. Vincent's hospital, as a result of an operation for appendicitis. He was a young man of fine character. His record on the Tumalo was enviable. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from Holman's undertaking parlors, under the auspices of the Masons. He was a member of Bend lodge No. 169. He leaves a widow and boy, who are living at 387 Third street, and a mother in the east.

Baptists Approve President's Course

Delegates Representing Membership of 1,250,000 Vote Strong Endorsement of Government's European Policy.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 21.—(U. P.)—Expressions of confidence in President Wilson's course in the German crisis were voted today by the delegates to the northern Baptist convention in session here. This message to the president, which will be rushed to Washington, is as follows:

"The northern Baptist convention, now in session in Los Angeles, representing more than 1,250,000 members of the Baptist church in the north and west, expresses its warm sympathy with you in your delicate and difficult situation, which as executive chief of the nation you are compelled to deal with, and its gratitude for the wise and Christian way in which, so far, the issues arising from the war in Europe, have been met. Assuring you of its confidence and loyalty, we earnestly pray that in these critical days, you may be divinely guided and preserved."

An announcement was made at the convention today by Ambrose Swasey of Cleveland, Ohio, of an unconditional gift of $200,000 to the Northern Baptist fund for the pensioning of age ministers and missionaries. Another gift of $50,000 by an unnamed donor, conditional on the raising of $225,000 more by January 1, for the same purpose, was also announced. This brings the total of this fund to $625,000.

LITTLE COWBOY BOWERS' TERM FOR GOVERNOR

examination, centered his attention on the trial and conviction in Trinidad, Colo., a few weeks ago of John L. Lawson, one of the leaders of the Colorado strike, who was convicted of murder. The chairman's examination fell on Colonel Ladd, the confederator, who declared that the questions were so framed as to seek to place me in the position of appearing to tamper with the courts, that I am prepared to influence the course of justice or that I entertain a position superior to any other citizen either before the law or towards its administration.

The witness, after repeated questions regarding the Lawson trial and the part taken in it by employees of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., said he hoped the supreme court would grant a new trial of the case, should material ground be sustained.

Walsh read to the witness a letter written November 18, 1913, by L. M. Bowers, then chairman of the executive board of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., a Rockefeller subsidiary, in which he said among other things:

"We have been able to line up all the bankers, 'the little cowboy governor' (Ammons) has been brought to line, 'we have never before had such pressure brought to bear on a governor,' and adding that 'tuffy' was being used to keep governor Ammons from the right frame of mind."

"Is this your policy?" Walsh asked Rockefeller after he had finished the letter. Rockefeller objected that it was Bowers' and not he who had written the letter.

"But we have six letters," Walsh remarked, "written by you saying that you backed all that was being done in Colorado."

Walsh asked the opinion of the witness regarding charges that weightmen probably never before had such pressure brought to bear on a governor, and adding that "tuffy" was being used to keep governor Ammons from the right frame of mind."

"That was abominable," Rockefeller agreed.

"Did you cheat?" Walsh asked. "Not to my knowledge."

The chairman read several letters Bowers had written to Starr J. Murphy of the Rockefeller Foundation, in which he asserted that competing companies were robbing the Colorado miners through the use of false weights. Walsh asked Rockefeller if he and Bowers would join in the prosecution of these companies.

"It isn't my affair," witness answered.

"After you knew through these letters that men were being robbed," said Walsh, "you joined these people and your father paid for the issuance of a statement assigning the charges as false?"

SHEPHERD'S CHARTER MEASURE GETS BUT SCANT NOTICE TODAY

City Council Adjourns While Advocate Is Still on Floor of Chamber.

George Shepherd and his new charter received scant attention from the city commissioners this morning, for they adjourned the council meeting while he was on the floor, and he was left to make his remarks to the chairs and pillars of the council chamber.

The council took this action after Shepherd had denied that any changes had been made in the charter other than those he had previously enumerated, and City Attorney La Roche had refuted his statements by producing the draft of Shepherd's charter.

The commissioners had previously refused to submit the charter prepared by Shepherd and a committee of North-Portland residents.

Cannot Rent Street Ends.
The dock commission is not to be given power, by charter amendment, to collect rent for street ends abutting on the river and used by private individuals. The council this morning by the vote of Mayor Albee and Commissioners Brewster and Dick turned down the plan of the dock commission to submit a charter amendment to the people.

There is some question as to the power of the city to collect rent for street ends used by private concerns or individuals, but the dock commission wants power given them absolutely to either rent or lease the street ends.

Commissioner Brewster objected to the plan, stating that power could be delegated by ordinance to the dock commission instead of by charter amendment.

Mill Construction Favored.
Buildings constructed of slow burning light construction up to two stories in height will be allowed within the inner fire limits, provided they are equipped throughout with sprinkler systems, according to a decision reached by the building code revision committee meeting in the city hall Wednesday. These recommendations will be made to the council when it acts on the building code ordinance.

The Oregon fire committee of the Builders' Exchange is backing the proposed change.

Remonstrance Not Effective.
Although 22.6 per cent of property owners along Broadway proposed to be assessed for the changing of grade of Broadway from Benton to Victoria streets, remonstrance against the change, the remonstrance is insufficient to kill the proceeding. A remonstrance of 50 per cent of the property owners is necessary to kill such proceedings.

Cases Under Adjudication.
Following the hearing of charges against J. L. Ambrose, discharged lineman of the fire bureau, and R. R. Bailey, discharged patrolman, the city council this morning took the cases under adjudication.

Question Will Not Be Submitted.
By the vote of Mayor Albee and Commissioners Brewster and Dick the council this morning declined to submit the question of taking away the right of remonstrance against street improvements from property owners on bridge streets within 300 feet of the harbor line. This amendment was suggested by M. G. Simons, only that the city might have power to proceed with the improvement of Broadway from Larrabee to Union avenue.

Law Effective Tomorrow.
The new registration law relating to the filing of death and birth records takes effect tomorrow. City Health Officer Marcus has prepared a statement showing what the law requires. Births must be reported within 10 days.

City to Pay Part of Cost.
Because of the circular parkway in the center of Ladd's addition, the city will pay $750 of the cost of improving Ladd's addition. The total cost is $15,000.

Lents Wants Protection.
F. B. Petersen and H. A. Darnell, heading a delegation of Lents residents, appeared before the city council this morning, asking to be given better fire protection in the way of fire hose and hydrants. Their plea was taken under advisement, with the promise that action would be taken.

Hoped Man He Killed Might Live
Eugene, Or., May 21.—Walter Jay, who Wednesday shot and killed Ira Brown and later shot and killed himself in Lake Creek valley, left a note saying he had been snared into difficulty and that he hoped Brown would recover from his gunshot wound. He said he preferred to take his own life than to face the consequences of his deed. Another note found on the body stated that he was the first member of his family to have committed such a crime, and that he hoped the others would not be made to suffer for his mistakes. These facts were brought out at a coroner's inquest held yesterday at the scene of the shooting.

PRECINCT 37 ELECTION CASE IS EXPECTED TO GO TO THE JURY TODAY

Testimony All in and Part of Arguments Made When Court Took Noon Recess.

The precinct 37 election case will go to the jury in Judge Gates' court this afternoon. Testimony was completed and arguments of the attorneys began at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The jury will pass on the question of whether Albin L. Clark, who was chairman of the day election board, altered 136 ballots in precinct 37.

Clark was put on the stand in his own defense. No other witness was called by the defense. W. T. Hume, Clark's attorney, asked him just two questions.

"Were you present in precinct 37 on November 3, 4 and 5?"

"Yes."

"Did you alter, erase or change any ballots?"

"No."

The prosecution then took over the witness and subjected him to a rigid cross-examination. He denied having noticed any erasures on the ballots opposite the candidates for sheriff during the time the day board was counting.

Deputy District Attorney J. L. Hammerly made the opening argument for the defense. Deputy District Attorney Collier will make the final argument for the state this afternoon.

ATTACKS HENRY FORD

"Henry Ford will make $25,000 this year as a result of the speed-up system he has put in effect in his factory," said Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, eastern organizer of the I. W. W., speaking at a luncheon at the Oregon hotel yesterday.

"The Ford system of an eight hour day with a $5 minimum wage is a subtle scheme to get more work out of the men for the same money."

"The workmen now receive $5 for the same work they used to receive $7.50 for," said the speaker, "and 10,000 men have been sent to the army of the unemployed as a result."

Gas Company Wins Suit.
When Attorney J. C. Simmons this morning asked for postponement of the damage suit of Mrs. M. J. McNary against the Portland Gas & Coke company, Judge Davis denied the motion, saying that the case had hung fire long enough, and that plenty of time had been given for him to be ready for a verdict for the company.

Mrs. McNary asked for $10,250 damages, alleging that she had been made ill by escaping gas in her home at 840 East Ash street. The company charged that she admitted that the leak was in a pipe installed by her husband.

CORVALLIS & ALSEA ROAD WINS VERDICT AGAINST P, E. & E.

Jury Places Damages at $19,809 for Failing to Complete Logging Road.

A verdict for $19,809 damages including interest was returned by a jury in Circuit Judge Gantenbein's court this morning in favor of the Corvallis & Alsea River railway against the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railway company. The Corvallis company sold its equipment to the Portland company April 17, 1911, and at the time had a contract to build a logging road into some timber near its tracks for the Corvallis Lumber company. The lumber company later secured judgment against the Corvallis company because of failure to complete the logging road June 1, 1911, as agreed, for $18,000 damages, $711.71 attorney's fees and $124 costs. The Corvallis company in the suit just ended sued to recover this amount, alleging that the Portland company should have finished the logging road as it took over the entire property of the Corvallis company. The Portland company denied responsibility for the failure to complete the road.
