

CAN OREGON REPEAT, IS A BURNING QUERY AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Bad Weather Has Put Crusher on Workouts but Supporters Have Hopes.

NO CHANCE IN 3 EVENTS

Sentrum Owns Century, Phillips the Javelin and Cole the Discus, but Others Are Tough Opponents.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., May 22.—The burning question that confronts the dopesters now is whether or not Oregon can repeat her performance of a year ago winning the Northwest Conference track meet at Corvallis on May 23. "Bill" Hayward is confident that this year will see another victory for the lemon yellow, making 10 since he has been at Oregon.

This year was prophesied as a classic milestone in the history of Oregon's prowess on the cinder path. The year thus far has not been totally successful, in that Oregon fell down in a few instances at San Francisco. Bad weather has also put the crusher on efficient workouts. Despite this, however, Oregon looks forward to another victory.

In three events Oregon has no chance for first places, and those are the 100-yard dash, which the fast Washingtonian Sentrum, has clinched; the javelin, in which Phillips of Idaho has easy pickings and the discus, which Cole, the Aggie, will have little trouble in taking.

In the other events Oregon will stand a chance of monopolizing. Several events, however, are a tossup.

Oregon Colleges Look Best

Everything points to a race between Oregon and G. A. for first place. In the distances, both schools are strong. If Reynolds runs the mile the tug between the Aggie eight-furlong and Huggins will be a classic, and at the same time either the Oregon runners will have to extend himself to his utmost to head Clyde, the Washingtonian, who won last year's race and holds the north-west record. The race between Payne and Hobgood will be a thriller to the finish, notwithstanding the fact that Payne had the better of the event in the California meet. Payne won the race last year in 9:54, but has made the distance in 9:44 3-5 this year. Nelson is a sure bet in the 880-yard event.

Since Parsons left college Oregon has looked in vain for his equal in the broad jump. Multhead and Fee are good men, but are not experienced enough in the event to be dependable. In Multhead and Fee, Hayward has two men who will vie for high point winners. Multhead is a phenom in the hurdles and the high jump, while Fee is an artist in getting over the 11-foot mark in the pole vault, and can place in the high hurdles, the high jump and the javelin.

Loucks and Kadderly

The event, however, however, that is causing the most speculation is the quarter mile with Loucks and Kadderly in the title roles. Since Loucks fell down in the California meet it has dawned on the dopesters that perchance the lean, elongated grasshopper can lead. But the fans say they will have to be shown.

Of late several mishaps have injured the team. "Moose" Multhead is hobbling around with a cane, because of boils on his knee; Sam Cook has had a bad arm for the past week, while Tom Boylen has had trouble with a chronic bad leg.

Them Perfforsors Play Some Game
University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., May 22.—Oregon faculty baseballers forgot all they knew about baseball in the fateful fifth today and flunked out, allowing the Oregon Agricultural college savants to walk all over them to the tune of 19 to 5.

In the second inning the Oregon Professional nine slipped four runs in three, and looked as if the series would split. Three innings later three left-handed Corvallis sluggers connected safely and scored repeatedly, aided by an epidemic of errors. In the ninth inning the Aggies repeated their victory in six runs. Horton's pitching and support was reliable. Lineup:

Mr. Jackson, the high school's coach, was hit in the head and badly hurt by a ball thrown to third base by the Behnke-Walker pitcher. Late in the game Mr. Dillon, a member of the high school faculty, was hit in the head by a foul ball. Both are doing nicely now.

Springs was high point man in a track meet held between seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen at the Washington high school. Doty, also of the sophomore's team, was second high point man. The seniors won a

Carl Knudsen, the Lincoln high school's star pitcher and crack man, battered up his right shin while running the bases at Eugene Saturday. If it had not been for the untimely accident he would doubtless have won his race.

Coach Borleske of the Lincolnites is giving Gustave Knofke lessons in cross country running to teach him how to use his feet in tight field. Gus is an all star fielder but a little shakier on his feet at times.

Hughie McKenna, crack short stop for the Columbia university, will play second base for Manager Wayne Lewis' Celro-Kolas at The Dalles today.

An indoor baseball team was organized by the girls of Franklin high school last week. Miss Betz, who coached the girls in basketball last season was chosen coach. The team is composed of Mildred Rossman, catcher; Ruth Rossman, pitcher; Fern Kiefer, first base; Bernice Elliot, second base; Jean Mitchell, third base; Esther Spachman, left shortstop; Ethel Schram, right short stop; Augusta De Witt, left field, and Mary Rictor, right field. The girls were to play their first game Thursday against Benjamin which is the student name for the commercial department of Franklin being held in Glencoe school.

Herman Lind, the left fielder for the "rail splitters," who is becoming prominent in interscholastic baseball although this is his first season, is suffering from an exceedingly sore foot, caused by infection from an ingrowing toenail. In spite of this fact, he appears in practice regularly, but limps badly.

PORTLAND MEN KEEN TO SECURE AN ASSOCIATION

Directors of Motorboat Club May Take Steps to Organize.

Followers of the motor boat racing game in Portland are keen for an organization, such as the one outlined in the columns of The Journal last Sunday by Daniel L. Pratt of Seattle, secretary of the Pacific International Power Boat association.

Secretary George L. Kelly of the Portland Motorboat club, which withdrew from the P. I. P. B. A., following the upholding of a protest against Captain E. W. Spencer's 16 foot speeder, Eddy Bell, is a strong booster for the new organization and he has a number of supporters in the membership of the two local clubs.

The directors of the Portland Motorboat club will likely take steps to formulate a Columbia-Willamette River Power Boat association, which would be similar to the Mississippi River Valley Power Boat association. The Astoria Motorboat club, the Oregon City Motorboat club and the other motorboat and yacht clubs of the Columbia and Willamette river towns would be invited to join the new association.

fanned 14 batters. Errors were responsible for the loss of the game.

Billie Lewis, former Lincoln high school twirler, struck out 18 Harrison club players in the recent battle between the railroaders and the "Winged M" club team.

The Ridgefield, Wash., team has suffered five straight defeats.

Cottage Grove, Or., May 22.—In the double header played in the Twilight Light series against the Sellwood team to Baker's Bears by a score of 8 to 1, and Brund's Beavers lost to Mackin's Badgers by a score of 4 to 2. The latter game was the more closely contested of the two, but all were loosely played.

To have the fans appreciate the minor and independent games to the fullest extent young ball players should learn to get the games off to a fast start, and to go through them with the least delay possible. No fan cares to sit through a slow game, when it could easily be played in much faster time. It wears on their patience and after they have waited some time for the start, and then have to wait at different times through the game on unnecessary delays, they become thoroughly disgusted. It only tends to drive the lovers of the game away from the parks.

Another thing the players should do to hurry along the game is to use a little more speed in getting on and off the field between the innings, and in other parts of the game, such as throwing of the ball during the game. Also there is no necessity of the entire team talking to the umpire. This is the job of the manager in uniform or the captain.

The Harriman club team will play the Oregon State Penitentiary nine this afternoon on the prison grounds. Driscoll is scheduled to do the twirling for the Harriman team.

Shinn, the left fielder of the Harriman club, has been playing with the railroaders for the past three seasons. He is a California boy and has been hitting the ball consistently all season.

For the remainder of the season the North Portland Grays will play under the name of the Macabees, which will be the team to battle with the Barton, Ore., nine.

Manager Nolan of the Macabees claims that Johnny Newman of the Sellwood City Leaguers will do the receiving for his club during the remainder of the season.

"China" Lawson, captain of the Portland Giants, led his team in batting at McMinnville last Sunday.

The Log Cabin Bakery team will clash with the Garden Home team this afternoon on the Garden Home grounds.

The Piedmont Artisans met their first defeat at the hands of the Overlook team last Sunday, 9 to 0. The pitching of Sullivan, who allowed no hits and fanned 15 batters, was too much for the Artisans. Sullivan also made a home run. Prescott and Lind formed the Artisan battery.

The schedule of games for The Dalles baseball team for June is: June 5, Hood River at Hood River; June 13, Vancouver at The Dalles; June 20, Lang & Co at The Dalles; June 27, Harriman club at The Dalles.

Reports are current in the local semi-pro baseball circle to the effect that the Celro Kolas, American Laundry, Coin Machine, Albers Brothers and two other local teams will participate in an elimination series, the winner of which will play a double header with the Sellwood City League team, Saturday at the Gresham team last Sunday. The scores: R. H. E. South Portland ..... 0 1 20 Gresham ..... 20 12 4 The game was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain.

Joe and Claude Dixon, former members of the Sellwood City League team, played with the Gresham team last Sunday. Joe scored four runs, and Claude romped across the plate with three tallies.

The Chinese team of Portland was defeated at The Dalles last Sunday by the Manhattan team by the score of 3 to 0. Tyler, who pitched for Manhattan, fanned 15 players and allowed three hits. The Manhattan team will play the Portland Japanese team in the near future.

The lineup of The Dalles team, which will play a double header with the Piedmont Maroons May 30 and 31, is as follows: Harper, center field; Youdovitch, second base; Leopold, left field; Butler, shortstop; Cullins, third base; Phillip, first base; Huntington, right field; Hoffman, catcher, and Woosley, pitcher.

Bert Fitchner got off on the right foot in the Eastern Oregon last Sunday, pitching a 13 inning 1 to 1 game against the Nampa, Idaho team. Outfielder Bell, who played with the Bradford team, winners of the city championship last year, will be in the Sellwood lineup this afternoon.

The scores of the Oswego-Columbia Park team, which appeared in these columns last week, should have been 3 to 2 in favor of Oswego.

Manager V. A. Bethke of the Columbia Park team is anxious to secure the services of a good twirler. For further information communicate with Manager Bethke, B-6161.

Clayton Patterson, former Lincoln high school catcher, caught for the Dentists last Sunday.

The Waverly Caddie team is hitting the ball as hard as often as any independent team in the city. Last Sunday in a double header the team annexed 4 bingles.

"Skin" Campion, the ex-Jefferson twirler, pitching for the American Laundry team last Sunday against the Dentists, allowed but six hits and

COUPLE START ON SECOND HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lamb and Ford car laden with camp equipment ready for start on long trip back to Nebraska.

On a veritable second honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lamb left a Salem, left Portland in a five passenger Ford car Thursday for Lincoln, Neb.

After six years in central Oregon where Mr. Lamb ran a feed store and two years in Salem the Lambs harkened to the call of their old state, Nebraska, and their faces toward the east once again.

Mr. Lamb traded his Oregon property for a section of choice farmland near Lincoln, shipped his household goods by freight and then tuned up his Ford car for the trip.

He filled the tonneau with camping utensils and trip necessities, piled a sheet iron stove and a milk can on one running board and a set of tent poles on the other and announced he was ready to start. Mrs. Lamb agreed with him and so they shipped the car to The Dalles by boat and set out from that city to reach Lincoln by way of the Lincoln highway.

They have four boys in the old state and was with a longing to be back near them that they left. Mr. Lamb is 66 years old and the couple have

UMPIRE BAITING IS BIGGEST BLOT UPON NATIONAL PASTIME

Club Owners Could Assist League Presidents by Hitting Players' Pocketbooks

UMPIRES NOT INFALLIBLE

Other Folly Displayed in Trying to Get Arbitrator to Change Decision, and Fans Grow Disgusted.

New York, May 22.—Umpire baiting, the biggest blot on the escutcheon of baseball, could be eliminated if the club owners assessed a heavy fine on every man other than the manager or field captain who attempted to argue with the arbitrators.

And the magnates should fine the manager or the captain in case his language or conduct became such that the umpire felt it necessary to chase him from the field.

Umpires are human beings. They aren't dogs. The trouble is that the players think they can call the umpire any and all the foul names that their tongues can form. The practice of umpire baiting smotheres America's national game, and it should be stopped.

Umpire baiting is a detriment to the game and always has been. But it never will stop until club presidents co-operate with league presidents and fine the players for their disgraceful conduct. The most vulnerable part of a player is his pay envelope. If he's swayed by the lures of a few sums ranging from $25 to $100, it is a cinch bet that he will conduct himself with a certain amount of decency in the future.

What utter folly it is for a player to use abusive language toward an umpire in an effort to get him to change his ruling! The game umpires are not infallible, but they work on a theory that they are, and not once in a thousand times do they reverse a decision.

The ball player knows this, and he knows that the best he ever gets in an argument with an umpire is the worst of it. Yet hardly a game is played in the big league times for sums ranging from $25 to $100, it is a cinch bet that he will conduct himself with a certain amount of decency in the future.

Umpires very often make miserable errors. But they won't change their rulings. The grandstand may yell and it may shout its jeers at the umpire, but it doesn't want its attitude construed as an invitation to the players to rush up and cause the umpire to want the players to play ball; it doesn't want the player to indulge in debates with umpires.

Perhaps in the end and distant past players really forced umpires to change their decisions. But those instances are so rare that they can be counted on one hand. But in the past and in the present there are thousands of cases where players were chased from the game for arguing with the umpires, and utilities suspended for several days, thus weakening their team, or were assessed a nice, fat fine.

The height of folly—that's the real definition of the practice of arguing with umpires.

Varsity Baseball Is Postponed by Rain

University of Oregon, Eugene, Or., May 22.—Threatening weather and wet grounds here today resulted in the second postponement of the baseball game with Oregon Agricultural college. The first of the series was, it has been played yesterday, but it, too, was postponed. Registrar Tiffany has arranged to have the series played off Monday and Tuesday, if the weather is favorable.
