By VELLA WINNER. ABOUT THE HOUSE. With summer coming on, the important matter of saving ice looms. Saving ice according to my notion, isn't half so much keeping it from melting as making it work hard at preserving food.

Resolve to make your ice box work this summer. Get an ice box that can work. Plan meals in advance and cook enough at the "new" meals (every housekeeper has leftover meals, and new meals, if she plans economically) to keep the ice busy.

When you cook rice for the children's lunch, cook enough to use with stuffed peppers, for example, and what you have left over after that is done put into the breakfast cakes or waffles or gems, or into a pudding. Or mold and use it in a compute with beef or fruit.

Cook enough macaroni at a time to put a big dish away in the ice box, and make of it casseroles, soup extras, molds in which to serve creamed veal or fowl and the like.

CHICKEN A LA BOSTON. One cup cold cooked chicken cut to strips, 3 cold boiled potatoes, cut in half inch slices, 1 tuffie cut in strips, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups scalded milk, salt and pepper. Make a sauce of butter, flour and milk, add the potatoes and tuffie, and as soon as heated add seasoning.

THE SHOPPER. One of the smartest things I have seen this season was that new exclusive shop on Washington street. It was the most brilliant thing imaginable, if you can visualize a jacket made out of flaming red geraniums you will have some conception of it.

SKIRT LENGTHS. "Skirts," says an article in a magazine of undisputed authenticity, "will become shorter in the regime to come." And the pictures in that magazine show skirts at least eight and even more than eight inches from the floor.

FOR GARDEN PLANTS. An occasional pail or two of sudsy water from the wash tub or dishpan helps garden plants wonderfully. It must now be that the knees of the mode allow for some time, pictures skirts as only about eight inches from the floor.

TWO TRAVELERS' CONVENIENCES. Everybody goes somewhere during the summer, hence the appropriateness of "travel gifts" at this time.

NEW DRESSES FOR CHILDREN. I saw a group of dresses in one of our leading stores that the buyer assured me were "samples," consequently not more than one of a style.

Little Stories for Bedtime BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

TOMORROW'S MEETINGS. 10 p. m.—CIVIC COMMITTEE OF PORTLAND WOMAN'S CLUB, in the committee room of Women of Woodcraft hall.

INSIGHT IS VALUABLE. "Nothing," says Goethe, "is so terrible as activity without insight. Look before you leap, is a maxim for the world."—E. P. Whipple.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES. Room Is Being Made for New Machine Guns.

Army Will Be Remodeled. The Army is to be remodeled and repaired and out of it is to come three more company quarters which will be occupied by the newly authorized Machine Gun, Headquarters and Supplies companies.

Troop A Will Attend Services. Sunday, May 30, Troop A, cavalry, O. N. G., under Captain Frank P. Tebbel will attend services at the First Presbyterian church.

Team Will Be Selected. At a meeting of the general staff on Tuesday afternoon it was decided that the team from the O. N. G. that will participate in the national matches at Jacksonville, Fla., will be selected before October next in open competition, as heretofore. The formal authorization of a machine gun company was made in accordance with the requirements of the United States war department.

The Call of the Great World. The Great World calls with a mighty voice. "Come forth, come forth to me I've wonderful things for you to do And wonderful things to see"

As They Grew Bigger Mrs. Possum Grew Anxious. She took a great deal of pains with this last matter, and if one of them moved so much as the tip of his tail or raised the corner of an eyelid to keep out his cats were promptly boxed. She dragged and rolled them around roughly, and they had to pretend they were dead until she told them not to.

But old Mrs. Possum kept an anxious eye on them most of the time, and she never left them alone in the hollow tree that she didn't fear that when she returned some would be missing. And at last her fears were realized. She returned one day to find that three were missing, the three strongest and boldest, and therefore the most troublesome. She didn't go look for them. She knew that they had heard the voice of the Great World and had gone out into it. It would be of no use to try to find and bring them back, for they wouldn't come. So she dropped a tear or two and then devoted herself to those that were left.

Next story: "Three Little Possums in the Great World."
