

ALLIES RENEW ATTACK ON TURKS FOLLOWING HEAVY LOSS OF SHIPS

Fresh Bombardment of the Dardanelles Forts Aided by New Land Operations.

LONDON GROWS GLOOMY

Becomes Pessimistic Over Sinking of Majestic and Triumph—Believes Warship Failed in Attack.

London, May 28.—(U. P.)—Despite the loss of the British warships Triumph and Majestic in the Dardanelles operations within two days the allied fleet is again bombarding the Turkish fortifications both from inside the straits and from the Gulf of Saros. The attack from Tenedos ceased today.

With the opening of a renewed bombardment by the fleet, the land forces moved forward to new attacks which were declared to have resulted in well sustained advances at several points. The Australian and French troops swept forward in the direction of Krithia, storming Turkish trenches in rapid succession. Other allied forces delivered fierce attacks near Bulair and Gaba Tepeli.

Under German direction the Turks have converted the Gallipoli peninsula into a maze of entanglements and entrenchments. Every Turkish position is also guarded by land mines which have resulted in severe losses to British and French troops. Night attacks have proven mostly failures. The powerful searchlights furnished by the Germans which continually play upon the allied lines.

The admiralty today has no further details regarding the sinking of the Majestic. No announcement has been issued since the original statement of last night regarding the sinking of the ship. It is believed that the vessel had been torpedoed off Sedd-el-Bahr and that a majority of the crew had been saved. Newspapers today took varying views of this latest disaster. The Daily News appeared pessimistic, stating:

"The latest news does not encourage hopes of a speedy decision."

HEAVIEST FIGHTING OF TURKISH CAMPAIGN IS BEGUN ON GALLIPOLI

Athens, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—Dispatches from Tenedos today declare the fighting on the Gallipoli peninsula is the fiercest since the first attack on the straits began. Heavily reinforced, the allies are advancing from Krithia, Gaba Tepeli and Bulair, capturing several lines of trenches despite the most bloody Turkish resistance.

In concert with the land advances of the allies, the French and British fleets are hurling tons of shells on the Moslem lines, firing both from the Gulf of Saros and the entrance to the Dardanelles.

News that the allies are striking heavily from Bulair indicates that they are now in position, if the assault succeeds, to isolate the whole tip of the Gallipoli peninsula by the capture of the narrow isthmus which lies opposite Bulair. If this can be done it will mean that it will be only a question of time until the Turks on the peninsula will be forced to withdraw toward the shore of the sea of Marmora, thus leaving the forts along the northern bank of the straits without support from the land. This situation is taken here as marking the first actual milestone in the reduction of the Dardanelles forts.

Suggest Fight on Land.

London, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—Pessimism over the results of the naval operations in the Dardanelles was greatly increased today in official circles here by the fate of the battleship Majestic, torpedoed in almost a similar manner to the Triumph. It is now believed that it has been fully demonstrated that warships will not be the determining factor in forcing the passage to Constantinople and strong pressure is being brought to bear on the new government to despatch 300,000 men to the straits to force reduction of the Turkish forts by land attacks from their rear.

There is little criticism of the new Balfour policy because it is understood the new head of the admiralty could not have put his plans into operation yet, but the denunciation of Winston Churchill's methods is growing fiercer hourly and it is now certain that had the cabinet change come after the loss of the Majestic the former first lord's methods would not have been retained in the cabinet.

Officials today would not be quoted on the Dardanelles situation, but comment in official circles was general to the effect that more land

'I CAN'T SPEND THIS $20 ALL AT ONCE FOR A COAT WITHOUT GOING INTO DEBT'

"I wonder if I shall ever see the day when I shall be able to spend a sizable sum for clothes without either waiting for weeks for a business check for weeks afterward or paying back for weeks afterward."

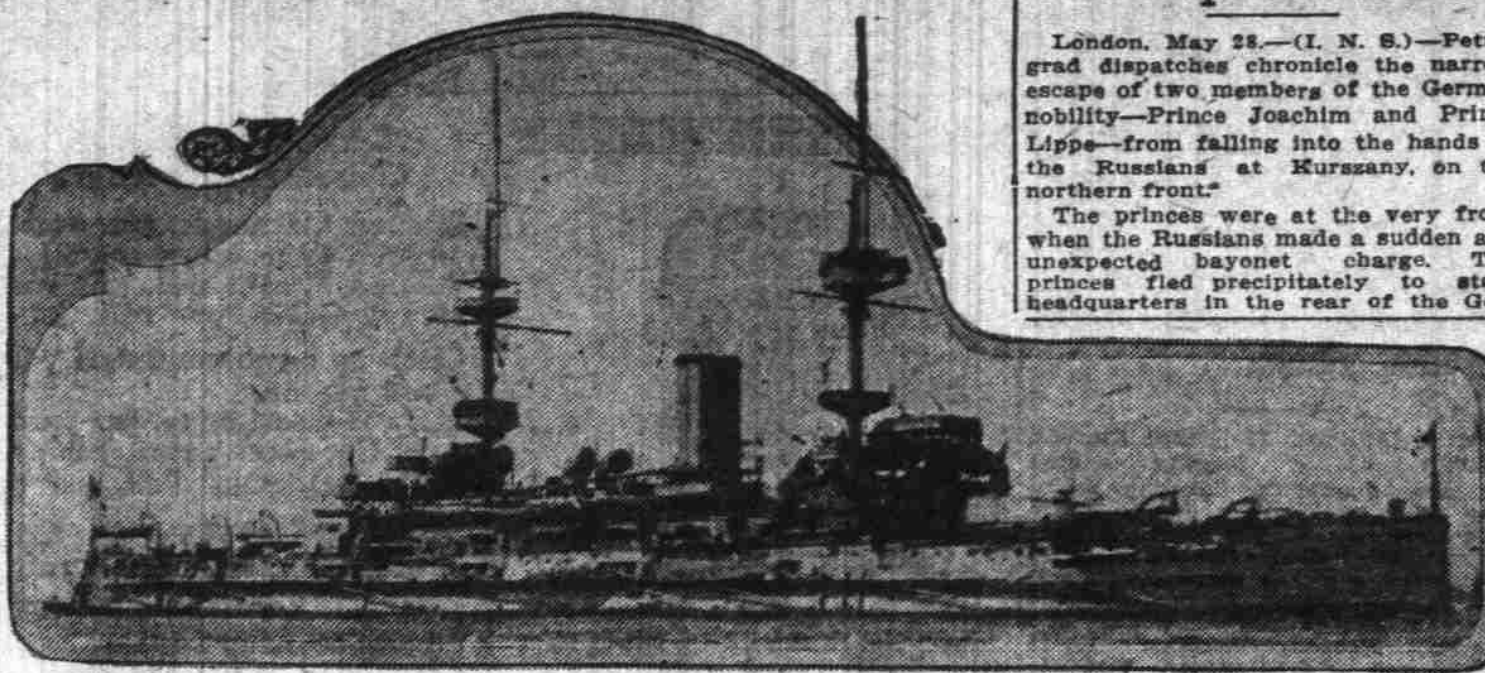

"Likely as not you'll never be so happily situated as that, Louise, so in the meantime, isn't it glorious that you can BUY YOUR CLOTHES ON CREDIT AT CHERY'S?"

"That coat, for instance: A few dollars down and weekly or monthly installments will buy it. On that you'll be mightily proud of, too, for I never saw finer assortments of summer wearables than CHERY'S are showing."

"There's a system and an ease about CHERY'S CREDIT PLAN and it seems just what I—business arrangement, handled courteously with the convenience of the customer considered first. It takes away the worry, and the moderate prices at that lovely shop take away the high cost of dressing."

"The number of their store is 283-391 Washington street, in the Pittock block." (Adv.)

GREAT ENGLISH BATTLESHIP SENT TO BOTTOM

The Majestic, which was an old battleship of the 16 1/2 knot class, and was completed in 1895. She had a normal complement of 757 men, and her armament included four 12-inch guns, 12 6-inch 16 1/2-pounders, 13 3-pounders and smaller guns, together with torpedo tubes. Her displacement was 14,900 tons.

troops must be sent there. The determination of the British ministry undoubtedly is as strong as ever that the road to Constantinople must be forced, and heavy dispatches of regiments from the forces held in England are expected at once.

Berlin Rejoices.

Berlin, via Copenhagen, May 28.—(U. P.)—All Berlin was jubilant today as a result of the sinking of the British warships Triumph and Majestic in the Dardanelles.

It was semi-officially stated that German submarines which destroyed the ships traveled 100 miles to accomplish the feat and returned safely without revealing their base. The Majestic was hit in the stern and sank rapidly.

The Tages Zeitung today declares that the allies' Dardanelles campaign is doomed to failure. The Anglo-French losses on the Gallipoli peninsula have been so great that the allies asked for a truce during which they could bury their dead, the paper said.

Fighters Are Optimistic.

London, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—The allies are described as "buoyantly optimistic" concerning the operations in the Dardanelles, owing to the daily arrival of reinforcements of troops, ships and guns, in a dispatch to the Times from Moudros. Men from the front report that the Turks on May 21 attempted to capture Australian positions at Gaba Tepe. The Turks lost 2000 killed and 6000 wounded. The Australian loss was heavy.

Majestic Sank in 18 Minutes.

Constantinople, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—The British battleship Majestic sank 18 minutes after she was hit by a torpedo fired by the same submarine responsible for the loss of the British battleship Triumph a few days before. Today's bulletin from the Turkish war office announcing the exploit declared that only one torpedo was fired, the explosion tearing an enormous hole in the stern of the battleship and causing it to be believed, heavy loss of life. The submarine which dealt the fatal blow returned safely to its base.

SENATOR LANE URGES METERS AS ONE STEP TOWARDS ECONOMY

Columbia and Willamette rivers combined and waste was continued without control, we couldn't serve water satisfactorily to Portland people.

Became Convinced, as Mayor.

"When I was mayor, I became convinced that to serve Portland abundant water at a low price, meters must be installed.

"In cool weather people then used 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 gallons a day. When hot weather came they would open the faucets wide and the water would run up to a rate of more than 25,000,000 gallons a day, so that we had to pump as well as draw on the Bull Run pipe line. The reservoirs would begin to dry up and there would be fear of a water famine because we couldn't get the water to the people fast enough when they were wasting it.

"It was a measure of economy and

Russians Nearly Capture Princes

London, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—Petrograd dispatches chronicle the narrow escape of two members of the German nobility—Prince Joschim and Prince Lippe—from falling into the hands of the Russians at Kurassany, on the northern front.

The princes were at the very front when the Russians made a sudden and unexpected bayonet charge. The princes fled precipitately to staff headquarters in the rear of the German position, narrowly escaping capture.

DR. J. H. THOMPSON SCHEDULED TO LOSE HIS OFFICIAL HEAD

Dr. J. N. Smith Slated for Superintendent of State Home for Feeble-Minded.

Salem, Or., May 28.—Dr. J. N. Smith, partner of Dr. W. H. Byrd, Salem, is scheduled to succeed Dr. J. H. Thompson as superintendent of the state institution for the feeble minded July 1, unless there should be some unforeseen development.

State Treasurer Kay has been seeking Thompson's scalp for about a year and it was believed that Thompson would be ousted soon after Governor Withycombe was inaugurated. However, the governor balked on making a change immediately.

Today it was said that the program to oust Thompson will be carried out. Dr. Smith is a brother of State Senator Smith of Josephine county, who was here Wednesday, and it is understood his trip had something to do with the proposed change.

Superintendent Thompson said today that he had not been notified of the prospective change. Governor Withycombe and State Treasurer Kay were out of the city and so their version could not be secured.

Kay has had trouble with Thompson's failure to keep some of the state treasurer's henchmen on the payroll. In one case a bookkeeper named Race defied Thompson and declared that Kay would see that he held his job. However, the board of control of last year discharged Race.

Pope's War Letter Creates Interest

No Trouble Has Arisen Over German and Austrian Diplomatic Representatives Accredited to Holy See.

Rome, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—The publication here of the pope's letter to Cardinal Yannottelli, dealing with the Vatican over the conflict, it is also regarded as a patriotic document. Relief is felt because no difficulty has arisen regarding the German and Austrian diplomatic representatives accredited to the Holy See. The Italian government has tactfully refrained from pressing the Vatican on this difficult question.

The pope, realizing the possibility of trouble, wisely turned a deaf ear to the suggestions advanced from certain quarters that he invoke the law of guarantees and insist that the Germans and Austrians remain.

King Kisses Relic; Abscess Breaks

Improved Condition of Ruler of Greece Believed to Be Due to Presence in Sick Room of Ikon of Virgin.

Athens, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—King Constantine is very much better today, his improvement being marked since last night. In connection with this improvement there is in general circulation here a story to the effect that when the Ikon of the Virgin from the Pilgrimage church was taken into his sick room last night the king, whose pleurisy had been complicated by exhaustion, was at the crisis of his illness. He opened his eyes when the relic was brought in and motioned for it to be brought to him.

As it approached his bed he raised himself to kiss it and that action burst

Comments on Wilson Speech

Amsterdam, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—Commenting on President Wilson's speech before the Pan-American financial conference in Washington, D. C., the Koelnische Volks Zeitung says: "It was a cruel shame for President Wilson to be obliged to express a pious wish before a conference of financiers and money grubbers whose fondest desire would be to see war as a permanent institution in Europe owing to the stream of dollars directed into their coffers. An American who never brings us the olive branch of peace."

Steamer Is Beached.

Baltimore, Md., May 28.—(I. N. S.)—The steamer Dorchester was beached today after being rammed by a fishing smack off Sandy Point and stove in.

Nebraskan in Drydock.

Liverpool, May 28.—(I. N. S.)—The American steamship Nebraskan damaged by a mine or a German torpedo off the Irish coast, went into drydock here early today. British officials immediately went aboard the vessel preparatory to making an examination.

Robert W. Service, whose great poem classic, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" is presented at the National theatre commencing Sunday, introduces the famous dramatic star, Edmund Breece, as the "Unknown from the Creeks." The play is in five acts, and over 200 scenes and was produced by the Popular Plays and Players company in northern Canada last winter at the height of the great snow season. Fifty thousand dollars was spent in creating the scenic and elemental atmosphere. Its powerful story is more vivid than any other Alaska story ever written. It weaves a romance, pleads a cause, and lastly as a denouement, constructs a wonderfully dramatic appeal to all the red-blooded, broad-minded emotions of man. Given the "results" without knowing the "cause" you are shown the vital climax as

A bunch of the boys was whooping it up in the Malamute saloon; The kid that handles the music box, was hitting a jag-time tune; Back of the bar in a solo game, sat Dangerous Dan McGrew,

And watching his luck was his light-o-

love, the lady that's known as Lou.

When out of the night which was first below, and into the din and glare, There stumbled a miner fresh from the creeks, dog dirty and loaded for bear. And "Then I gucked my head, and the light went out, and two guns blazed in the dark, And a woman screamed, and the light went up, and two men lay still and stark."

Then in retrospect the onlooker carried back over the years which cover the pursued and pursuer, it "cause" which like links in the chain of fatality bind the past and present. Magnificent scenic effects, picturesque, beyond a description, and with action rapid and dramatic, reproduced by a company of all-stars this play excels "The Spoilers" in its beauty and interest compelling story. Over the gold trail of '97, into Nome, and the ensuing hunt, hunt, hunt to satisfy that "lust for dust" the drama takes one.

At National Theatre commencing Sunday. Prices only 10 cents for this and other features.
