BUTTER MARKET IS SPOTTED IN PLACES WITH PRICES SAME

While Reports Indicate That Surplus Is Gathering in Places Stocks Have Not Accumulated Enough to Force Drop.

The market for dairy products is somewhat mixed. Butter market is holding generally unchanged in price, although here and there reports indicate a growing surplus. This has not as yet become bothersome enough to force a lower price range.

Storage has not yet started in earnest be-rause the trade feels that the present price is above a safe storage basis. On the other band, the recent advance, which was unex-pected, of 5c per hun ired pounds in the price of milk by leading condensaries, indicates that the milk market has about reached botrecent advance, which was unextom. In fact, some of the leading interests are talking of an advance. On the other hand, of the makers of lesser known brands are shading their quotations.

Fear that the condensaries would shut down and the milk and cream which usually goes to these interests would be forced upon the butter trade, has been one of the real factors in forcing weakness in the general butter trade. This report of closing of the condensaries has been absolutely usnied by the leading parties who say they will continue to operate and will can their regular volume.

ORDERS CANNOT BE FILLED Owing to the fact that today was a legal oliday and that no mail deliveries were nade and that the railroads would not accept freight, many country merchants who or-dered fruits and vegetables here for ship-ment foday will be disappointed. All the wholesale grocery houses were closed light and Front street was open but a half day.

STRAWBERRIES VERY SCARCE Very great scarcity of strawberries was shown today. Few local interests picked yesterday for today's market and for that rea-son Front street had few crates to offer. Currents continue neglected at $1.00@1.25.

DRESSED MEATS ARE FIRMER All through the dressed meat trade along Front street today considerable strength was hown with veal calves at 12c for best. Only best were quoted at 101/2c generally.

NEW POTATOES ARE WEAKER With liberal supplies of California pota toes near and a slight increase in local of ferings, the market for new crop was weake and quoted fractionally lower prices today Local stock showing unusually good qualit and size. Old potatoes remain firm.

BRIEF NOTES OF THE TRADE Carload of southern California tomatoes ! luga due tomorrow.

First carload of watermelons from sam section due likewise.

Market for old onions is firmer with som asking $1.75 cental. Egg trade is quiet but generally steady. Price unchanged. Spring chickens are scarcer and rather firm priced. String beans and peas show increased weak-Price shading.

CANNERS SEEK CHERRIES AT A GOOD FIGURE

That there is an enormous demand for cher-ries from canning and packing interests and that producers are receiving excellent prices, was the statement of George Weeks, the well known Salem grower and authority. "The cherry crop in the valley is very light this season," says Mr. Weeks. "The crop is spotted. Hoyal Annes are scarcest; this variety having been aurt more by weather con-ditions than others. It was not the frost that 'hurt the cherry crop in the Willamette valley, but the rainy weather at blossoming

"The Bing cherry crop is the best of all in the valley this season for the reason that the fruit blossomed when the weather was warm. On the other hand the blossoming of the Lamberts came at a time when the rains were severe.

"The cherry pool received 5c a pound for its cherries this season from a big California canuing company, but others who held out se-cured an advance of ½c a pound above this. Demand for our cherries is excellent. During ecent years it has not been a question of inding a market for the fruit, but of getting big crops.

Mr. Weeks reports that the valley peach crop is very spotted, some sections showing good prospects, while others will have scarcely any fruit.

Damage Reports Aid to Wheat at Opening Today

Chicago, June 11.—(I. N. S.)—Numerous damage reports, together with heavy rains in Kansas and Missouri, raused a higher opening in wheat prices today. July wheat started with an advance of 14c while September was up lac. The demand showed considerable improvement: The milling demand was better.

Sentiment was that friendly to the buying ide. Later in the trading there was a fur-her advance due to the good buying move-nent. A reaction set in in July wheat just efore noon. The market became unsettled. Prices in corn were strong.

The strength was due in a measure to a broad covering movement. The domestic call for corn was good. Osts were higher, with the demand fairly active. Provisions were There was a good rally in all grains in the later trading. Short covering sent the market up. Wheat closed % @2½c above the initial prices, while corn was up % @1½c. Oats finished firm. Provisions closed weak.

ACTIVITY IN WOOL IS INCREASED AT MOST

Buyers Showing More Disposition to Put Their Prices Closer to Asking Basis of Holders-Domestic Trade Better.

Higher Wool Market. Pendleton, Or., June 11. Even higher prices were paid during the afternoon yesterday at the Pilot Rock wool sale than in the morning. 300,000 pounds changed hands during the afternoon, making practically 1,000,000 pounds for the day, and cleaning up the wool in that section. The highest mark for fine wool was 20 kc, paid by Angel & Burke for the C. M. McDevitt lot of 16,000 pounds. J. E. Smith lot of 55,000 pounds brought 20 %c and T. S. Gibson lot of 13,000 pounds brought 20c. The only lot of coarse wool offered brought 27%c.

A slight increase in activity is showing for wool at Oregon and Idaho points with con siderable increase in the buying at some of the other leading domestic primary centers. Recently there has been much more disposition among mill interests to bid higher prices in order to secure the choicer slips and growers have likewise shown a tendency to meet the views of puyers half way. Trade at eastern centers continues to re-flect improvement with slightly better prices noted almost every day. Stocks of wool available are said to be far below the actual requirements already in sight and for that rea son holders are not worrying because buyers are not operating on an extensive scale. A late mail advice from Bradford, England, printed in the Boston Christian Science

Fluctuations of minor importance only have marked the course of the wool market during the past week. In London good merinos are generally considered still to be selling without any change, although by some they are estimated to be occasionally 5 per cent down. In view of the entire absence of American competition, this is not at all surprising. France is operating on a very small scale, and Russia is interested only in scoureds. Average merinos, which are the ordinary Bradford top-making wools, continue to move at the open-ing decline, or perhaps a trifle lower. Short and faulty sorts, especially wools that require carbonizing, sell very arregularly and some classes now show a decline of 15 per cent from the March level. Medium and coarse cross-breds, which, during the first week of the sales suffered a fall of 1d to 14d per pound, have recently met with better competition and have recovered nearly 1d.
"Here in Bradford, the demand for fine tops is well sustained and prices are quite unaffected by the fall of wool. For early de-livery 64's are worth 2s 81/4 to 2s 94, while but market today consisted of "chickens."
Large sizes were absent and unavilable in the north. It is stated that Newport stock will be offering within a few days.

SHIPPERS' WEATHER NOTICE

SHIPPERS' WEATHER NOTICE the French government for military cloth is supposed to have something to do with it. But the consumption of crossbred tops no longer exceeds the production and competition among sellers for a reduced volume of business is likely to keep prices on a somewhat lower level, until the war office comes along with more orders for khakl. The output of merino tops, on the other hand, is some way below tops, on the other hand, is some way below the requirements of the trade, and not only are spinners driven to pay high prices for tops for spot delivery, but they are not al-ways able to find them in quantities sufficient to keep machinery running. Mills frequently report that drawing machinery is standing,

Clarke County Has Excellent Prospects For Grain Output

Ridgefield, Wash., June 11 .- As a result of the copious rains this season the farmers of this section of Clarke county are delighted with the prospects of the crops of this season and are predicting the heaviest crops in the history of country. Fall grain in excel-lent condition with moisture enough in the ground to insure its maturity. Spring grain also has a good start and with usual weather conditions prevailing from now on will make an excellent crop. Some farmers are com-plaining on account that some fields are unusually weedy owing to the copious rains in May. Haying has already commenced and in some cases has been harvested. This crop this year will be a very heavy one owing to the ideal weather of the past few days. good stand is reported, which will insure heavy yield. The strawberry season is drawing to a The strawberry season is drawing to a close. The crop did not do as well as in former years, owing to the excess of rain during the picking season. Raspberries and currants are ripening and a fair yield is reported. Cherries, about all of the varieties are ripening fast. With plenty of rain earlier to the symptons of the part in the season and the suishine of the past week they are maturing well. Although this crop a short time ago looked doubtful the prospects now are good.

The outlook for the peach crop is not very good. Apples are developing normally and

Stock Mart Feels Effects of a Better Foreign Situation

New York, June 11.—(I. N. S.)—Belleving hat the second American note will aid con siderably in clearing up the international situation, the stock market today opened from 1 to 4 points above last night's close, with the tone stronger than for some time.

Activity centered around the steel and copper posts. Before the end of the first hour of trading, two new high records for the year were made. Bethlehem Steel the year were made. Bethlehem Steel smashed all previous high marks by soaring o 169, while General Electric jumped to vance. Utah, although selling ex-dividend, opened % above yesterday's close. Amalgamated sold up to 76 early, 1½ above last right's close.

The railroad securities behaved well, al though there was no pressing demand, the majority of the rails advanced, with Resding the leader. Union Pacific sold up a point early and Southern Pacific was firm. American Can continued to climb. In the initial hour the stock reached 45, 1 point behind the high record mark. American Locomotive sold at 50. Mexican Petroleum gained points early. Stocks advanced to the highest points for the day in the afternoon trading on a good buying movement. Steel common sold around 61. It reacted slightly near the close. Industrials were strong, coppers were exceptionally strong. The market closed steady.

MUCH BETTER HERE Attempt by Two to Rob Con-

Vancouver, Wash., June 11 .- An nsuccessful attempt was made last night about 10:30 o'clock by some unknown man to hold up the Guard confectionery store at Twenty-third and Main streets, Mr. and Mrs. Guard were sitting in the store when the man walked in and covered them with two guns. He ordered them to turn their backs, but Mrs. Guard retaliated that she would not do so. This evidently unnerved the man, for he backed out of the store without taking anything. He is described as being short and transportation committee.

Roseburg, Or., June 11. — Death Thursday closed the long and event-ful career of Henry H. Woodward, one nspicuous characters. and one of the best known survivors of the Indian wars and the early his tory of Douglas county. He was 88 years old. He has no relatives, so far as is known, in this country. Mr. Woodward was born in Scarborough, England, Christmas day, 1827. When he was nine years of age he left home for the sea. He settled here about 1851 after living the life

As Douglas county was populated with Indians at the time of his settlement here, he had much to do with their affairs, and became so well versed in their habits and language that he was often a representative of the government in their conferences with the tribes. It was he personally who secured the treaty with the Coquille Indians at one very serious stage in the differences between them and the whites. At that time he was held for two days while the Indians debated whether to kill him or sign the treaty. Finally he prevailed upon the redmen, and they consented to smoke the pipe Mr. Woodward will be buried beside his old friend, Mr. Mercier, a comrade of the Indian wars. Mercier was carried many miles by Woodward on his back from the battlefield in order to be given a proper burial.

Repairing Road to Lake.

Vancouver, Wash., June 11. - The road between Battle Ground and Batle Ground lake is being improved under the direction of County Commissioner Rawson, and this beauty spot promises to become one of the most popular resorts in the county as a result. Heretofore the road has been practically impassable. It is expected that large numbers of people from Portland will spend their recreation time at this point after this portion of the road has been repaired. The road between this city and Battle Ground is in excellent condition and with the additional three miles repaired it is expected that this place will prove very enticing to lovers of outdoor life.
