SEASIDE

Is there a most pleasant time to spend at the beach than early summer, when all is fresh and clean and new and the crowd of midsummer has not yet arrived? Seaside is now ready to welcome the ummer's guests. Never before was this resort in such readiness for guests. It is no longer necessary to trudge through hot dusty sand, or walk over old wooden sidewalks. In all directions now extend pavement and cement sidewalks. Broadway, North Third street, Main street, Tweifth avenue are all paved. New store buildings have been constructed *

along Broadway.
"The White Way" is Broadway's new name, along which additional electric lights are to blaze forth at night from the depot to the sea, and on Main street a block north and south of the White Way, lights also are to | be strung in streamers at intervals across the thoroughfare. In between are numerous cottages not here when the 1914 season closed. Business did not slacken in Ilwaco

the past winter and continues good largely because of the continuation of the north jetty work. The cranberries promise a good crop for the sum-mer and fall and cannerymen report better fish this year than for a num ber of past years. Prices are six and seven cents to the fishermen. Though the foreign market is still practically at a standstill the cannerymen are willing to pay this advanced price over the 1914 quotations to get the extra good catch.
