

WAR HAS NO CHANCE IN PEACE PAGEANT GIVEN AT WOODMERE

Large Audience Cordially Receives Performance; 200 Children Take Part.

COSTUMES APPROPRIATE

Characters Represented as Appropriately as Possible; Teachers Given Great Credit.

War had no chance against peace in the "Peace Pageant" given by about 200 children for the Woodmere school Tuesday afternoon and evening in the school auditorium.

The action began with the entrance of war and its colleagues who were represented by crime, famine and pestilence. With these came those who suffer most from war, and on whom the burden of war falls.

The action began with the entrance of war and its colleagues who were represented by crime, famine and pestilence. With these came those who suffer most from war, and on whom the burden of war falls.

The second act was the joyful one. Peace regained the throne of the world, and to rule with it came justice, prosperity and wisdom.

The question then became that of keeping peace. The international court was proposed, but proof was needed to show that such a tribunal could be established, and that it would do the work better than war.

As an example of peace and prosperity, the United States with its 48 states working as a unit, was represented, and then in the final act, the world was shown at peace with all of the warring nations walking hand in hand.

All of the costumes were appropriate, some of them specially conceived from the countries they represented.

The characters were also represented by as appropriate children as possible. The part of "Columbus" was taken by one of the prettiest girls in the school, Anna Karagozian, who was born in Armenia and has been in this country six years.

The teachers who gave a great deal of aid in the production, besides Principal W. J. Buckton, were Miss Laura Foster, Julia Spooner, Elizabeth Shoemaker and Edna Doyle.

As a result of the production, besides Principal W. J. Buckton, were Miss Laura Foster, Julia Spooner, Elizabeth Shoemaker and Edna Doyle.

Lansing Said to Be Man for the Job

Portland Man, Says He Knows Well the Newly Appointed Secretary of State.

out in the country to attend an afternoon meeting. In the evening one man told the lecturer, "I live seven miles out in the country. My wife was at the meeting in the afternoon and she insisted that I should come in. I am glad I came. It is the greatest thing I have ever heard of and will do a lot of good."

At Ontario at the conclusion of a meeting a man approached the lecturer and said, "I am from Vale. I did not go to the meeting there last night but I heard so much about it that this morning I decided to drive 37 miles over here. I must return tonight, but I am glad I came."

Man at The Dalles May Be Son. After 28 years' search by Mrs. Katie Frisby of Springfield, Mo., for her 71 year old son, James Madison Fidler, it is believed that he has been located at The Dalles.

Mayor Albee received a letter from Mrs. Frisby, asking him to help her find her son, from whom she had not heard a word since 1877. She said that at that time he was working in a logging camp near Portland.
