

CHICAGO FIGHTER BEATS FRED WELSH IN TEN-ROUND BOUT

Charley White Is Given Popular Decision Over Lightweight Title Holder.

TRIED FOR A KNOCKOUT

Result of Battle Does Not Affect Championship; Gentleman Jim Corbett Says Welsh Won by a Shave.

Ringside, Brighton Beach, N. Y., July 3.—(U. P.)—Charley White of Chicago, tonight won a popular decision over Lightweight Champion Freddie Welsh in ten rounds here. The result of the bout does not affect the championship.

The westerner battled hard for a knockout, which would have given him the title, but he could not break through Welsh's defense.

The attendance was 5000. Both fighters weighed under 135 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Jim Corbett, who sat at the ringside, said Welsh had the better of the fight by one round.

Round 1—Welsh was the first to lead, shooting a couple of rights to the face. They clinched often and White seemed to be doing the holding. White grew more aggressive as the round progressed. No damage was done and it was an even round.

Round 2—Welsh landed left to the face. White tried to get in close and played for the body, but Welsh blocked. White tried a volley of right uppercuts and Welsh countered to White's face. White landed a right uppercut and in a clinch Welsh hammered the ribs.

Round 3—Welsh landed a right to the neck and they clinched. White shot two hard jabs to the face and Welsh backed away. Welsh landed a hard right to the body. White missed several hard leads. White landed two hard rights before the gong sounded.

Round 4—Welsh landed a hard left to the stomach and White came back strong with a hard right to the face and a left to the body. They clinched. White landed two hard rights to the body, and in a mid-ring rally, swung two lefts to Freddie's ear, following with a right to the body. White was pumping in body blows with Welsh nailed in the corner at the bell.

Round 6—Boxing in fine form, Welsh got in three straight lefts to White's nose with a right to the body. White got in a good right uppercut to the jaw. White drove right to the stomach and Welsh counter with his left. Welsh landed a hard right along the ropes, but failed to catch him.

Round 9—White bounced out of his corner full of fight, but Welsh forced a clinch. White landed a left and landed right to the body and a stiff left to the eye. In a mid-ring rally White landed right and left to the jaw and another right to the body. Welsh was in an uproar, cheering White on. White got in a stiff left to the stomach and right uppercut to the face. Welsh held on and held all his defensive skill. White's round.

Round 10—They shook hands. White, while extremely cool, tried hard for a knockout, but Welsh danced and ducked into a clinch. White forced the pace, which was terrific. White landed three rights and two lefts in a neutral corner and a right to the face and a jabbed light left to the face and another right punch to the nose. Swinging right and left, White backed Welsh against the ropes and clinched repeatedly but without success. They were sparring at the final gong.

White was cheered to the echo, as he made his exit.

BUY FAST NAG AND GROW RICH OVER ONE NIGHT

Millionaire Canadian Horseman Sold Trotter for $700; Wins $10,000.

San Francisco, July 3.—Buy a fast harness horse and make a fortune overnight. Also if you have a fortune to lose quicker than instantly—just purchase a fast harness horse.

It was demonstrated during the recent harness race meet held at the Panama-Pacific exposition that either racing or gambling is a fortune or a loss, and it may be followed with success. In other words, despite the encroachment of the automobile upon the horse domain, racing is still a great little game, in which the chances of big gains or heavy losses are just as great as ever.

The exposition meet was marked by Donald Lancelotti, who was racing for some of the richest purses in the history of the harness game. Two horses which were the central figures in the richest events—the $20,000 trot and $20,000 pace—furnish the theme for this story.

The $20,000 trot was won by Spriggin, a big, rangy horse owned by two San Francisco horsemen. Spriggin won $10,000 for his owners when he led a field of 12 to the wire in straight heats.

And they paid but $750 for him at an auction in February. The man who led the horse at this price was none other than R. J. MacKenzie, the millionaire Canadian horseman. Where he got the horse is not known, but MacKenzie pocketed a few hundred, the purchasers of Spriggin pocketed thousands four months afterward.

Now, for the other side of the story. The favorite for the $20,000 pace in the early betting was Dr. Burns Jr., owned by Ireland & Leach, of Detroit. Dr. Burns was one of the most sensational performers in the eastern tracks. He was a big stake winner, and it is doubtful whether $20,000 would have bought him.

Along in March, while stopping at a hotel in Los Angeles, a man wearing a mile track as Dr. Burns headed into the stretch. His driver had to pull the horse up sharply, and he slipped on the wet track, wrenching his leg. Arriving in San Francisco, Dr. Burns was brought along slowly, and a couple of weeks before the $20,000 pace was scheduled showed a mile in 2:05 1/2 without giving any evidence of the injury suffered at Los Angeles bothering him.

A week before the big race he was started in one of the regular events. When the second heat was over it was seen Dr. Burns' leg was in bad shape. He was a race horse shrewd to improve his leg so that he might be safely shipped back to his home. Dr. Burns will spend his time this summer on the Ireland & Leach farm near Detroit, instead of serving as one of the biggest money getters of his owners.

Brooklyn's Soccer Team Again Winner

For the third year in succession the Brooklyn Celtic soccer team won the New York State Football league title by defeating the Yonkers football team, 4 to 1. The Celtics were also champions in the United States Football association cup series, in which they lost to the Bethlehem team and also in the American Football association cup competition, when they lost to the Scottish-Americans of Newark.

FIFTY SCATTER GUN ARTISTS TO SHATTER CLAYS

Five 20 Bird Events on President Everding's Trap-shooting Contest.

Over 50 shooters are expected to "pull" in the class trapshooting tourney to be staged on the Janna Station traps of the Portland Gun club today. The program calls for five 20-bird events. The first squad will take the firing line promptly at 10 o'clock.

There will be three prizes for the three high men in each of the following classes: A, B, C, D and E. Under this system the poor shooter has an equal chance with the better shots.

President Henry Everding plans to stage one more big tourney on the local traps. The Interstate association has been asked to register the event. The date has not been decided upon, but it will likely be held in September. The tourney will call for five events of 20 birds each, an Interstate association trophy, going to the high man in each event. In addition to the five events, there will be a special added bird handicap system. The winner may have his choice of a fine gold watch or one week's board and lodging at Shipherd's Springs.

A number of local trappers, including President Henry Everding and Vice-President Strouger, of the Portland Gun club, participated in the trapping of some of the richest purses in the history of the harness game. Two horses which were the central figures in the richest events—the $20,000 trot and $20,000 pace—furnish the theme for this story.

Local sportsmen will find shooting just one tenth more expensive this year than last, because of the European war. The price of cartridge ammunition advancing 10 per cent.

The next big event in the coast trapshooting circles is the Pacific Indian trapshooters' contest, which will be held at the Metropolitan Gun club grounds, July 19 to 23 inclusive. A number of Portland shooters have entered this tourney.

Pete J. Holman, one of the best known professional mud saucer demolishers on the coast, was a visitor in San Francisco last week.

A revised gun club map of the United States, just issued by the Du Pont Powder company, showing the location of towns containing organized clubs, gives the number of clubs up to November 15, 1914, as 3231. It is estimated that the average membership of these clubs is 50, making a total of 161,550 trapshooters belonging to clubs that shoot regularly.

There are probably still more trapshooters not members of organized clubs, mostly in farming sections. The total of all classes is estimated at 400,000, probably more actual participants than can be found in any other American sport.

A 34 Year Athlete Wins Half Mile Race

A remarkable feature of the annual senior track and field championships of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union recently decided on the Traverser island track, was the victory of Joe Bromlow Jr. in the half mile run, which he ran in 2 minutes and 57 seconds. Although Bromlow is 34 years of age and has been competing for 15 years, it was the first district championship he won. Twelve years ago he finished second in the junior half mile and third in the senior event.

MULTNOMAHANS SEE RETURN OF OLD DAYS ON FOOTBALL FIELD

Return of Olympic Club to American Game With California Would Be Welcomed

HISTORIC GAMES PLAYED

Winged-O Team Will Try to Schedule Game This Fall to Be Played at the Exposition.

With the expectancy of witnessing gridiron struggles like the battles of the late '90s, old-time football followers of this city have placed their stamp of approval upon the decision of the Olympic club, of San Francisco, to return to the American style of play. The University of California's jump to the American game was responsible for the move of the Olympic club.

Immediately upon hearing of the decision of the Olympic club, Superintendent Dow Walker, of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club, began negotiating for a contest with the "Winged-O" club to be played in San Francisco during the fair. It would be impossible for the Multnomah club to play a game upon which Bay City eleven, according to Mr. Walker.

One of the battles between the Olympic and Multnomah club teams, which is still fresh in the minds of the older "Winged-O" club members was the game of 1899. The club had one of its greatest teams during that season, and was scored upon but once, and that was by Stanford.

Other games on the Multnomah schedule are two with Oregon and one with Washington. It is hoped that a game will be scheduled with U. A. C. before the opening of the season.

"Sunny" Quinn, who played one of the tackle positions on the Columbia university team during the 1912 season, is expected to win a place on the Notre Dame varsity eleven next fall. Quinn, although he was not considered a world-beater while playing here, was one of the most consistent players on the Columbia team.

Tom Tyler, who was selected as All-Northwest end for two seasons by a number of football critics, has been last year's assistant coach of the Washington State college football eleven. William H. Dietz, former Carlisle Indian school star, will coach the Washington State team.

Jerry Nielsen, former W. S. C. football star, has been appointed coach of the University of Montana eleven. Nielsen was the assistant coach of the Montana team.

According to information received, the football team will play the Oregon Athletic college team in Missouri, October 23.

The 1915 schedule of the University of Washington eleven is: October 23—Gongaga, at Spokane. October 26—Whitman, at Seattle. November 6—California, at Berkeley. November 13—California, at Seattle. Thanksgiving day—Colorado, at Seattle.

Yankees to Get New Home. The New York American league baseball team will very likely have a ground of its own next year. They now play their home games on the Polo grounds, the home field of the New York Giants. It is understood the Federal League will also place a team in New York next year.

WILL HUNT BIG GAME IN ALASKA

Pursuing the same route into the Alaskan big game country made famous by the writings of Fred K. Burnham, the New York millionaire yachtsman and big game hunter, Byron N. Hawks, of Athens, Or., will leave early in August for a two-months' trip into the northern wilds. Hawks will be accompanied by William Ferguson of Pendleton. The two hunters will leave Seattle by steamer and disembark at Wrangell.

Large Cities Build Modern Club Houses

Chicago has two large athletic club houses. Minneapolis has invested $100,000 in its athletic club property. The Milwaukee Athletic club is putting $600,000 into club quarters. Cleveland last year put an equal amount or greater sum of money into its athletic club. Detroit recently built a magnificent athletic club, and the Missouri Athletic association at St. Louis a few days ago laid the cornerstone of the new structure, which will take the place of the building destroyed by fire. The new building will cost $500,000.

It is expected that some 40 days will be necessary to secure the limit on all of the big game. They may kill two moose, three caribou, three mountain goats, two mountain sheep and unlimited bear, according to the Alaskan game statutes.

Burnham had made two trips into Alaska and has provided the eastern Oregon men with considerable valuable information relative to guides, outfitting and tracking and the topography of the country.

Hawks is a well known big game hunter but heretofore has never hunted in Alaska. He has killed most of his big game on the Rocky mountains in Montana, and in the Jackson Hole country in Wyoming. He has many trophies at home of his prowess with a high power rifle.

They will go from Wrangell to Telegraph creek by gasoline launch, outfitting at the latter place. They will then travel by packs to the Cassair hunting grounds, where moose, caribou, sheep, goats and grizzly bear abound.

FAT GUARANTY THING OF PAST FOR THE BOXERS

Tom Andrews Lines Up Promoters to Work on Percentage.

New York, July 3.—Fighters may just as well say goodbye to the fat guarantees they have received in the past. The day of big purses is at an end. Stung often and deep by guaranteeing fighters huge sums only to see the box office receipts totalling but half the amounts, boxing promoters have determined to offer nothing but "percentage" terms in the future.

Boxers will be given a certain percentage of the gross receipts. No guarantee that the percentage will amount to any set sum will be offered. The promoters believe that the boxer is worth a percentage of what he draws at the box office and no more.

In order to make the percentage thing stick, the promoters in the principal boxing centers of the country have decided to form an association. The move was first fostered by Tom Andrews, boxing promoter of Milwaukee, Wis., and it is bearing fruit.

Andrews recently made a flying trip to New York and lined up most of the big promoters here. It is now planned to hold the initial meeting of the promoters in Cleveland some time in September. The Ohio city is chosen because of its central location. Promoters from New Orleans, St. Louis, Buffalo, Boston, Milwaukee, Denver and New York have signified their intentions of attending the meeting.

After organizing, the promoters are first expected to adopt rules prohibiting the guaranteeing of any sum to fighters. A hard and fast rule that only a certain percentage of the receipts will be given to the fighters is planned. After that is disposed of, the promoters plan to tackle the question of a universal scale of weights.

At present the weight standard is decidedly faulty. Fighters posing as lightweight often enter the ring around the 140 mark. This the promoters plan to do away with by adopting a uniform scale, which the boxers will have to abide by.

Rules by which a champion must defend his title within a certain period are also to be taken under consideration, but they may not be acted upon until a later session.

Polo Association Owns Narragansett

The Polo association has taken over the ownership of the polo grounds at Narragansett Pier, and it is intended to hold tournaments each year, which will serve largely to give an adequate idea as to the capabilities of the various players. It is especially requested that western players will make an effort to enter the tourneys at Narragansett Pier and show their abilities as candidates for such a team, as the Polo association wishes to give every strong player a chance to gain a place on future international cup teams.

St. Louis to Have Swim. Western Bowling Club of St. Louis will hold its annual five mile swim on July 18. Detroit recently opened 40 playgrounds for the summer.

TROUT STREAMS MAY BE DENIED WHEN 6TH DAY JULY ARRIVES

Sporting Goods Men Report Thousands of Anglers Will Whip Oregon Streams.

NO RIFFLE IS SLIGHTED

Prominent Local Sportsmen Left Yesterday to Get a Early Start Today and Finish Up Tomorrow.

There may be no trout in the streams of Oregon next Tuesday morning, if the thousands of Portland fishermen who are on their way to the streams make good their threats. Not in years have so many fishermen left the city for the two or three days of sport along the trout waters. Every sporting goods house in Portland was swamped yesterday by anglers who had neglected to acquire their tackle earlier in the week. Veteran managers say that never in the history of their business has there been such a general rush for the fishing sections.

The Fourth of July holiday gave the fishermen a chance to fish both today and tomorrow, Monday being the legal holiday.

Among those who left Portland yesterday were Elliott Corbett and Lloyd Smith, who motored to the south fork of the McKenzie river.

Another automobile party which will fish on the Salmon river was composed of J. McWilliam, Dr. Young, Ray Winters and W. E. Carlon. A. L. Mills, daughter and two sons, Albert and Thomas, are motoring to southern Oregon and will fish on the Rogue river.

John Pollock and party will fish down from the Neastown lake headwaters of the Neastown river. Morris Abraham, Frank B. Smith and Messrs. Wallace and Beldon will fish the Neastown river.

The ever popular and easily accessible Deschutes will draw its usual quota. Curtis Sutherland was among a full party returning from there last week with 41 big fellows.

M. H. Stevenson of Hillsboro and F. W. Wagner of Portland, returned from a short fishing trip on the Salmonberry. They report pretty fair luck, but the fishing should be much better by July 4, as the full moon comes on the big fellows to feed at night and the trout are apt to tempt them during the day time.

Mr. Wagner says: "In addition to the various flies, we tried all kinds of bait, such as an angle worm, crawfish and fresh prepared salmon eggs, and found that the smaller and medium sized fish take
