Commissioner Baker Says
Prominent Organizations and Men Will Be Present.

WORK FOR DEFINITE PLAN

Effort Will Be Made to Secure Cooperation and Prevent Duplication of Service in Charity Work.

George L. Baker, commissioner of public affairs, said this morning that there is much interest in the conference on charity and employment he called for 4 o'clock this afternoon in the council chamber.

"Prominent organizations and men have manifested their interest, and have given evidence of their intention to be present," said Mr. Baker. "Our effort will be to formulate a definite and practical plan, to prevent any duplication of service and to work together."

WATER INVESTIGATION SOUGHT

Daily Would Look Into Needs of St. Johns.

Commissioner of Public Utilities Daily will introduce a resolution at Wednesday's council meeting asking that his department be instructed to investigate the needs of the water consumers of St. Johns and to make recommendations to the means of supplying that newly-annexed territory with Bull Run water.

This follows the recent request of St. Johns citizens that they be given Bull Run water at city rates, which are lower than the rates now charged by the St. Johns Water Works and Lighting company. The city may either supply new Bull Run mains or purchase the local plant, on which the state public utilities commission placed a valuation of $120,000, but which may be worth much less to the city.

MAYOR VISITS HIS PARENTS

Executive Is at Seaview, Wash., to Return Tomorrow.

Mayor Albee left Friday night to visit his parents, Captain and Mrs. H. C. Albee, at their cottage at Seaview. He will return tomorrow afternoon.

H. E. Plummer, head of the bureau of buildings, returned today from a two weeks' sojourn at his cottage at Gearhart. His mother, Mrs. L. P. Plummer, and his two daughters, the Misses Naida and Katherine Plummer, accompanied him.

Assistant Fire Chief Laudonkos and Fire Captain W. A. Gross, of engine company 18, each collected his wife and automobile this morning and left for a trip to the Panama-Pacific exposition, to be gone about 25 days. Captain Gross, who is a member of the arson squad, will hunt and fish in southern Oregon on the way home.

Will Not Issue July Bulletins.

City Health Officer M. B. Marcellus, who recently notified the mayor of proposed economies in his office by means of cutting the operating force, will save the city $60 in addition to the amount previously named. The health bulletin for the month of July, which would have been dated August 15, will not be issued. As the case with later monthly bulletins mentioned previously, their influence will be retained by means of typewritten bulletins made out in the health office without additional expense to be read in the public schools.

Jitney Drivers Operating.

Pending the adoption by the city council of a new jitney ordinance now being framed, the 26 cars and drivers rejected after inspection by City Motorbus Inspector S. S. Gallup are operating again. Although it is not certain that inspection under the old ordinance, set aside by the supreme court, or inspection pending the new ordinance is legal, several jitney drivers submit themselves for inspection each day. It is considered probable that those passed now will be considered eligible to operate when the new ordinance is adopted.

Electric Sign Ordinance.

Wednesday there will come up for final passage the ordinance permitting the Orpheum theatre to erect at Broadway and Yamhill the electric sign formerly located at Broadway and Stark street. The matter of allowing the re-erection of the sign in front of the former Empress theatre was up at a recent meeting. Commissioner Dick's objection to the sign on the grounds of public safety prevented its final passage last week.

Leave for Vacation.

The city governmental mill is shy two deputy city attorneys today. Henry A. Davis and family left yesterday for an outdoor vacation and hunting and fishing at Somers, Vancouver island, where he will visit the old log cabin built by his grandfather, Dr. C. J. Davis, in 1913. H. M. Tomlinson and family left yesterday for an automobile tour of the state, going to The Dalles, then Bend and back by way of Mount Hood.

Council Passes on Petitions.

Petitions for the enlargement of water mains were passed upon at the weekly meeting of officials of the bureau of waterworks in Commissioner Daily's office this morning. The reports of the water engineer and superintendent of the water bureau were received.

Three young boys, 13, 11 and 6 years old, ran away from their homes last Saturday morning and their mothers are anxious to get news of them. It is believed they started for Seaside. Charlie Burns, 13, is the oldest. He was accompanied by two boys named Ward who live in the same neighborhood. Mrs. Burns reported that her boy had left but she did not know the address of the Ward boys.

She said Charlie Burns left home about 7 or 8 o'clock Saturday morning, wearing overalls, tennis shoes and a gray cap.

If anyone knows anything about them, Mrs. Burns wants them to notify her at 1955 East Taylor street, or call Tabor 551.

PORTLAND NOW HUB OF SCIENCE OF OSTEOPATHY

commitment, delegates, leaders of the profession from almost every state in the country, and the merely curious. In the main ball room will be held the convention deliberation; two suites are set aside for clinics in eye and ear technique; smaller parlors are utilized for trustees of the association and meetings of many smaller organizations affiliated with the association; and the dining room in the northeast corner of the building is a veritable exposition of patent baby foods, office supplies and the like.

Scope to Be Elaborate.

Every preparation has been made to make the meeting one of the most elaborate in scope of any convention ever held in the city of Portland.

Planned for the week are daily programs of clinics, coffee, and luncheon; reunions and jollifications, discussions, lectures and formal papers. Some of the most advanced thought in lines of research, diagnosis and treatment will find expression during the deliberations.

Men of national reputation will tell the whys and the wherefores of discoveries made since the last meeting of the association.

Will Exhibit Movies.

Dr. J. Ivan Dufur of Philadelphia is here to exhibit "movies" for the first time in history at a national scientific convention. Dr. Dufur, who is professor of nervous and mental diseases at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, will show reels of films taken in insane asylums depicting patients with various afflictions.

His films will be a feature of the public meeting at the Baker tonight.

Dr. R. Kendrick Smith of Boston, director of the department of public education for the association, is here to spread the gospel of osteopathic teaching. He is a former Boston newspaper man of many years experience.

Dr. G. M. Laughlin of Kirksville, Mo., dean of the American School of Osteopathy, the parent school of all osteopathic institutions, is here to tell of osteopathic treatment in pneumonia. He is a son-in-law of Dr. A. T. Still, founder of the osteopathic science, and is sometimes called the American "Lorenz."

California is represented by some of the leading lights in the profession, including Dr. Harry W. Forbes, president of the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy. Dr. Arthur G. Hildreth, president of the Still-Hildreth, Osteopathic sanitarium at Macon, Ga., are only a few of the other nationally known osteopaths in attendance.

Registration and exchange of greetings occupied most of the delegates throughout the morning but those in attendance from Washington gathered at 10:30 o'clock for a meeting of the Washington State society.

Dr. C. A. Upton of St. Paul, president of the American Osteopathic association, will preside over the convention sessions, giving his annual address tomorrow morning.

Election Takes Place Thursday.

Election of officers for the ensuing year is scheduled for Thursday morning, and although there is little conventional politics at the present time, it is expected that California with its large delegation will cut a large figure not only in the choice of officials, but in the selection of the place for next year's convention.

Kansas City will be a strong contender for the convention, however, osteopaths of the district of which that city is the center, having already guaranteed a large sum of money toward convention expenses.

This week's Portland convention is the second in the history of the association.

TYPES OF PROTECTION AGAINST FIRES WILL BE MAPPED BY BODY

Fire Bureau Will Make an Investigation of Every Building in the City.

BLOCK INSPECTION PLANS

Fire School Is Shown; Dry Cleaning and Film Exchanges; Fire Record Is Good.

Under the direction of Fire Marshall Jay W. Stevens, the bureau of fire will make plans of every building in the city showing types of fire protection, height, construction, and unprotected stairways, elevator shafts, water and openings through fire walls. Rough plans will also be made of dwellings in a general way. The map making will be done by the captains, lieutenants and "second lieutenants" or third men in each fire house, will require six months.

The work of the map making inspectors will start next month after the completion of the block inspection.

A "fire school" is maintained for benefit of the men.

Fire Marshall Stevens by means of the fire school has gone far toward making his men experts in the causes of fires and their prevention. The number of fire alarms in July was reduced to 51, as compared with 233 last July, a decrease of over 400 per cent. This is the lowest number of fires in any July since 1904 and the lowest in any one month since 1908. None of this July's fires was large.

Yesterday the fire school was shown a motion picture of a fire in a fireproof building, of dry cleaning and film exchanges.

Motion picture film exchanges were then inspected. Films must be kept in vaults, with the exception of a certain number allowed out of the vault in the course of repair or shipment and these are to be in a separate room away from the others and with fire protection.

Starving People Eat Animals and Leaves

Many Die From Starvation in Mexico City, State Department Is Informed; Red Cross Agent Appeals for Help.

Washington, Aug. 2.—(U. P.)—Deaths from starvation are frequent in Mexico City and the poor are eating leaves, grass and dead animals, according to a message received at the state department from Charles O'Connor, special Red Cross agent in Mexican capital. O'Connor made an urgent request that the United States alleviate the food conditions there.

The corn supply in Mexico is exhausted and food is not to be had at any price.

A cablegram received later in the day by the state department said that General Gonzales, the Carranzista commander, occupied Mexico City Friday night. Gonzales assured American Consul Agent Stillman that outside telegraphic communication from Mexico City would be established immediately.

The state department is making every effort to learn the fate of Paul Hudson, editor of the Mexican Herald, his family and the staff of his newspaper, who were arrested by the Zapatistas. It is hoped all were released when the Carranzistas defeated the Zapatistas for a second time and entered the city.

Australian Losses Heavy.

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 2.—(I. N. S.)—Australian casualties up to date include 3810 killed and 10,222 wounded according to official advices received here today.

Attention to be held on the Pacific Coast, the organization meeting in San Francisco five years ago.

As a certain raiser for the convention a big public meeting will be held in the Baker theatre tonight at 8 o'clock, at which an outline will be given of the history of osteopathy in practice and four leaders in the profession will make short talks on matters of public interest.

Dr. R. Kendrick Smith, of Boston, will give a health lecture. Dr. T. J. Ruddy of Los Angeles, will give an illustrated lecture on "Revolutionary Methods in Osteopathy." Dr. A. G. Hildreth of Macon, Ga., will talk on "Osteopathy in New Fields: Institutional Care of Diseases," and Dr. J. Ivan Dufur of Philadelphia, will exhibit his motion pictures of nervous diseases.

Tomorrow evening has been set aside for the reading of reports; Wednesday evening for college and fraternity reunions and class jollifications; and Thursday evening for the formal banquet of the association.

He is the man whose presence in the Democratic national convention in Baltimore in 1912 aroused Bryan's ire. Mr. Ryan is rated as one of the nation's wealthiest men. He is accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Porter, Mrs. C. C. Cuyler and Miss Bowers of New York. He was in Tacoma this morning, leaving at noon today.

ACCUSED OF ROBBING A WHOLESALE PLACE; LOOT IS RECOVERED

Watch, Diamond Stickpin and Other Articles of Jewelry Taken From Desk Drawer.

Confessed robber of the Rothchild Bros., wholesale establishment at First and Burnside streets, on Sunday, July 25, Charles Sundt, aged 28 years, was arrested by Detectives Snow and Coleman at the home of his mother, East Thirty-eighth and Yamhill streets, shortly before noon today, and charged with burglary.

The robbery was not reported to the police until Saturday afternoon, as it was not believed until that time that much of value had been taken. Then R. M. Rau, one of the members of the firm, returned on a trip on the road to find that his desk had been rifled, and a watch, valued at $650, a diamond stick pin and other articles of jewelry had been taken.

Police with drawn clubs swung right and left and several scores of men and women were beaten to the ground. Men cursed and women shrieked.

Scores of women, caught in the jam of surging humanity, fainted and were trampled beneath the heels of the police. Cooler heads sent in calls for police reinforcements. Then followed a ten-minute battle before the authorities gained the upper hand. The police rushed the crowd and it fell back only after battling desperately for every inch of ground.

Widow Near Collapse.

A religious mass, with the Rev. Father Dermody as celebrant, was held over the body. There was no eulogy. The service was of the simplest nature and lasted but 20 minutes.

All during the service the crowd outside continued to battle with the police.

The coffin was banked with floral pieces. A new plate was placed on the coffin to replace that carrying Governor Whitman of New York with Becker's murder. It read:

"Charles Becker. Died July 30, 1915."

Mrs. Becker wept continually and appeared on the verge of a nervous collapse. She entered the church on the arm of her brother, John Lynch. Then followed Jackson Becker, a brother of Charles, his wife and other relatives.

Church Crowded Early.

The church holds but 200 people. It was crowded two minutes after the doors were thrown open. Church officials were forced to issue orders that extra seats be reserved for the mourners.

Inscription cards attached to some of the floral pieces read as follows:

"Sacrificed for politics."

"Justice will prevail in the end."

"He died in the faith—a brave man."

"Everything will turn out all right in the end."

Only eight carriages followed the hearse to the grave. Two of these were loaded with floral pieces. Interment was made in Woodlawn cemetery.

WOMEN FAINT IN THE JAM

Policemen Almost Lose Control of Situation When Throngs Makes Rush to View Gasket.

New York, Aug. 2.—(I. N. S.)—Ten thousand morbidly curious men and women, battling for points of vantage, marred the funeral services and internment here today of former Police Lieutenant Charles F. Becker, electrocuted at Sing Sing last Friday for the part he played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, a New York gambler.

A messenger police guard was on hand to handle the thousands who had gathered at the Becker home and at the church, and they were entirely unable to cope with the situation. Scores of men and women suffered broken heads in the clash with the police, and several were sent to hospitals.

When the coffin was brought from the home, 4000 persons who had gathered in check by 20 policemen broke through the line and charged toward the coffin.

Women Faint in Crowd.

The police were forced to battle with the mob for five minutes before the pallbearers could proceed. Then the crowd joined the line and followed the hearse to St. Nicholas of Toleutine church, where another gathering of 7000 persons waited. Another rush was made for the coffin.
