

GERMAN SUBMARINES ARE DECLARED TO BE SUBMERGED CRUISERS

They Carry Guns Which Make Them Fully as Formidable on Offensive.

TORPEDO TOO EXPENSIVE

Guns Cheaper and Often More Effective Against Merchant Vessels, Says British Admiralty.

London, Aug. 7.—(L. N. S.)—That the latest German submarines are practically submerged light cruisers and carry guns which make them fully as formidable on offensive as vessels of the latter class is the statement made today by a leading English authority on naval matters.

"When the war broke out," he said, "Germany, like the other sea powers, had a certain number of submarines that carried guns. These, however, were small weapons. The caliber of the piece and the way in which it was mounted made it ineffective for such purposes as sinking a ship. Really, these submarine weapons, whether placed outside the boat or on a rising carriage, were little more than experiments."

Submarines Have Bigger Guns.

"Germany is now using much larger submarines, and these are armed with a four inch quick firing gun, which bears about the same relation to the earlier submarine weapons that the 17 inch howitzer does to the ordinary field piece."

"In addition to introducing this big gun into their submarines, the Germans have mounted it in a very interesting manner. Gun platforms, etc., are carried snugly inside the boat while she is cruising, and the method of bringing it into action is very quick and efficient. The gun is mounted on seats on the elevator platform beside the gun. A pull on a lever, and the platform shoots up, carrying the gun with it."

"As it rises from the boat the gun lifts off a hatchway, which automatically forms a protective shield for the gun, and the men who work it. One of these men trains the weapon around to whatever direction is required, while the other elevates or depresses and also fires it. Another pull of the lever, and down drops the gun again; the hatchway closes automatically above it, and the submarine is ready to dive."

Used Against Merchantmen.

"For attacking merchant vessels this four inch gun comes much cheaper than torpedoes would, and in some ways it is more effective. A torpedo costs thousands of dollars, and it may miss its mark. Scores of German torpedoes have done so. But a round for a four inch gun costs little, and if the first shot fails, a second can be sent quickly after it."

"Besides this, the gun has a long range. It fires a 31 pound projectile with sufficient velocity to penetrate 10 inches of iron at close range, which means that the shell will carry a long way, and it is more difficult for a ship to escape from a submarine than from one using torpedoes only, particularly so as the Germans have adopted for use in their submarines a torpedo that has a short range and carries an unusually powerful charge of explosive."

Great Britain Limits Travel.

London, Aug. 7.—The home office has announced that after August 10 no one, other than persons of government foreign mission service, will be allowed to embark for Norway, Sweden or Denmark without a permit.

FINANCIER AND HEAD OF READING SYSTEM A PORTLAND VISITOR

Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia Here on a Pleasure Tour.

Edward T. Stotesbury

Both expressed themselves as delighted with the west and as immensely pleased with the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Mrs. Stotesbury wanted to know all about Portland's motion picture theatres. "Have you any good movies here?" she asked. "I simply adore the world's champion trotting mare in there were."

Despite Mr. Stotesbury's business affiliations business is not worrying him this trip. Not by any means, when he takes a vacation he takes a vacation, and when he works he works. At present he is seeing the great west and finds it good.

On Auto Tour Through City.

Yesterday morning Mr. and Mrs. Stotesbury were taken for a drive over the city by Portland officials of the Pennsylvania system and were entertained at the Waverley Country club in the afternoon. They will return east by way of the Canadian Rockies.

Mr. Stotesbury is a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan and company and is head of its Philadelphia branch, Drexel & company.

He has been interested for many years in raising thoroughbred horses and paid $14,000 for "Sweet Marie," the world's champion trotting mare in 1906. He maintains extensive stables and since coming west has been elected president of the New York horse show as successor to the late Alfred P. Vandenberg, who lost his life in the Lusitania disaster.

Mr. Stotesbury is director in half a hundred corporations, including the Baldwin locomotive works, and has long been a collector of paintings, sculptures and tapestries.

Head's Grand Opera Ventures.

As a patron of grand opera he personally assumed the independence of the Philadelphia Grand Opera company and formed a syndicate to buy out the Hammerstein interests in it. His philanthropies have taken many forms and in 1904 and 1908 he was treasurer of the Republican national campaign funds for Roosevelt and Taft respectively.

And Mr. Stotesbury, who started his career as a clerk with a firm of wholesale grocers, has done a lot of other things, but in the meantime he is just seeing the country.

AMERICAN RED CROSS ISSUES ITS REPORT

Covers First Year of European War and Tells What Has Been Done in Belligerent Countries.

New York, Aug. 7.—What the Red Cross has done to relieve suffering in Europe during the first 12 months of the war is shown in the annual report of the American Red Cross society, which has just been made public. Every European country engaged in fighting has received some part of the $1,460,396 which has been spent since the war began, leaving on hand a balance of $174,818. The report asserts that never in history has Red Cross organization rendered so great a service to other peoples as has the American Red Cross to the belligerent nations.

Details of the relief rendered show the scale upon which the work has been done. Nearly 2,000,000 bandages were sent over, as were 1,150,000 antiseptic tablets, 1,106,516 surgical dressings and pads, and 1,062,281 yards of gauze. Other items were hospital garments, clothing for refugees, smallpox and cholera vaccines, sulphur, anaesthetics, and anti-toxin.

All this was, of course, in addition to the heavy expense involved in paying the transportation and salaries of the many surgeons and 253 nurses in American Red Cross units in Europe. These will be withdrawn as it is understood, until by October 1 there will be but four surgeons and 24 nurses left in Europe, and they will all be detailed to work in Belgium. The reason for the withdrawal is the practical exhaustion of the Red Cross funds available for European relief.

WATCH WOUNDS HEAL

Berlin, Aug. 7.—German army surgeons in the field and in the hospitals have succeeded in saving the lives, or at least the limbs, of many wounded soldiers with the aid of celluloid. The method is simple. The wounds, after their antiseptic treatment, are covered with very thin sheets of transparent celluloid which are fastened around the edges with adhesive plaster. This system enables the surgeon to watch the healing process closely without removing the bandage. The celluloid sheets are practically indestructible and can be used time and again after proper sterilization.

The "Reading," of all steel construction and brand new, is probably the most modern private car that has visited Portland, for he came from San Francisco over the Southern Pacific in the private car "Reading" of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, being chairman of the board of directors of that road. Incidentally, too, he is president of the Reading company, the holding company that controls the P. & R.
