Atterney R. L. McKenzie of Portland id Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moore of The Dalles are under arrest on charges of extertion preferred Saturday by Dr Gilbert E. Anderson, of 1163% Alina avenue. McKenzie was released on his own recognizance but the Moores are held in jail in default of 11000 bonds each. The Moores were arrested in The Dalles yesterday and rought to Portland by Deputy Sheriff Phillips, who arrested McKenzie this morning. According to Dr. Anderson his part the affair was to make an examination of Mrs. Moore last May was about to become mother. The Moores, according to Dr Anderson, came to him last Friday with McKenzle and demanded $150, alleging that Anderson had performed an illegal operation on Mrs. Moore from which blood poison had resulted, causing her to be very ill. Affidavits and a release signed by the Moores were produced by Dr. An- to be the First National Life Insurance derson and turned over to Deputy Distion would be taken against Dr. Anderson unless someone signed a comin Dodge Case. "Talk about Lazarus coming bac from the dead, this beats that story all hollow," commented Attorney Thomas Mannix in arguing the Dodge case before Circuit Judge Kavanaugh.

Mannix referred to testimony given in the case and said that timber which Cruiser McMullin had gruised on land belonging to Frederick A. Kribs in 1994 and found dead and worthless had come to life in January, 1913, and was sold to E. H. Dodge as merchantable timber for $2.87 per thousand feet. Mannix covered legal points in his argument this morning and the remainder of the argument was largely preliminary to a dissection of the evidence in the case.

PROCESS MUST BE STOPPED

Alsop Company Charge of Infringement Is Sustained. On a decision affirming that the La Grande Milling company was infringng a patent flour-bleaching process claimed by the Alsop Process company, Judge Wolverton, in federal court, today enjoined the La Grande company from further using the process. The Alsop company asserted that the defendants employed the nitrogen peroxide process to whiten its flour, a process on which it claimed a patent.

Murder and Robbery Charged. A man over whose head a $250 re ward has been hanging for more than year, Edward Fitzgerald, alias Jack Moffitt, is in the county jail here, awaiting a trip to Middleton Cal., where he must answer charges of murder and robbery.
