LEADING MINISTERS ARE FILLING PULPIT

Dr. George E. Burlingame.

While Dr. Walter B. Hinson, pastor of the White Temple, is taking his vacation, the church has adopted a policy of bringing in a number of leading ministers of the coast to fill the pulpit in the interval.
Dr. George E. Burlingame, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Francisco, will preach at both services today. Dr. Burlingame is rated as one of the most able of the denomination's ministers on the Pacific coast and as the leader of one of the largest churches. While in the city, he is at the Y. M. C. A.

ALL SIX ARE CONVICTED IN FRAUD CASE

were allowed their liberty on their former bail of $2500 each with the exception of LeMonn whose bail, on Reames' request, was increased to $5000.

Makes Effort to Secure Bail.

LeMonn was remanded to the United States marshal, and this afternoon was making strenuous efforts to raise the amount. In this connection he was being aided by Miss Mabel Lowry, former bookkeeper of the company and a close friend of the former salesmanager. She is said to own valuable farm properties in Idaho near her home at Boise and it is understood is ready to put it all up to procure LeMonn's liberty pending final disposition of the case in the courts.
The convicted men were prosecuted under the federal statutes prohibiting use of mails to defraud, and the maximum penalty is not to exceed two years' imprisonment, or a $10,000 fine, or both.

Few Present at Reading.

When William Fleming of Salem, and foreman of the jury, handed the verdict to Judge Bean, only a few spectators, the attorneys and three of the defendants were in the courtroom. The clerk read it, the jury was excused, and Attorney Cake, for Menefee, asked for 10 days to prepare a motion for a new trial. This was granted him and to the other attorneys.
The jury, it was learned, arrived at a verdict at 8:45 this morning, but owing to the inability of the court officials to get all the defendants' attorneys into court, it was not returned formally until 9:27, 52 minutes later.
Menefee, LeMonn and Gernert were the only defendants present when the verdict was read. They heard it quietly and without comment. As soon as the necessary preliminaries were done, they walked out and hurried to their homes, except LeMonn, who was taken up to the marshal's office.

Jury Remained Up All Night.

The jury remained up all night and discussed the case from various angles, but at no time, it is said, were its members particularly divided. In less than two hours after they had retired yesterday, it is said, they had decided on the guilt of Menefee and LeMonn, the two principals. From that time on various phases of evidence and law affecting Campbell, Gernert, Todd and Bonnewell were gone into and most of the time was put in looking up records and settling these points. As each point was settled, ballots were taken. In this way no less than 50 were cast. Final decision was finally reached this morning and the bailiffs waiting outside the little jury room on the third floor of the postoffice building were so notified.
After court adjourned the majority of jurymen called on Reames and personally congratulated him on the fairness with which he conducted the case and the latitude he allowed the defendants in explaining their side of it.

Reames Was Confident.

Later today Reames in commenting on the decision said:
"I was confident that all the defendants would be convicted and am not surprised at the result. The verdict was just and right. The state of Oregon owes to the jury a debt of gratitude. I do not care to discuss the case further at this time."
Attorney Cake, speaking for Menefee, said:
"The verdict was a disappointment to me. I still believe that the motives which actuated Frank Menefee were at all times those of good faith. His acts I believe were made in all sincerity, and in the honest effort to make the company a paying one to the stockholders."
The jury's verdict brands the United States Cashier company as a huge swindle in which no less than 3700 stockholders were defrauded out of their money by gross misrepresentations concerning the company's financial condition, its ownership of protecting patents and its possibilities as a dividend payer.

Trial Lasted 34 Days.

During the 34 days spent in trying the case, the government showed that more than $1,500,000 in cash, notes, bonds and real estate was paid in exchange for stock. Much of this stock was sold at $30 per share or three times par. Of this $775,000 was in cash and of it $400,000 was used to pay commissions on stock sales. Ten per cent went to Menefee, 10 per cent to LeMonn and usually 30 per cent to the salesmen or a total of 50 per cent in a great many of the transactions.
Meanwhile huge sums in cash and stock was paid to maintain expensive offices, meet the cost of advertising, and overhead charges of office management. The remainder was spent in paying for machine models, the factory site and building, experiments, patent applications and factory employes. As a result there remained $63.59 cents in the treasury January 1, 1914, when the company transferred its equipment to the International Money Machine company of Terre Haute, Ind., which was organized for this purpose. In addition it owed heavy debts.

Patent Rights Disproved.

The government proved that its printed advertisements claiming patent protection for five of its machines were published in 1911 when not even applications for them had been filed It also proved that printed annual statements were printed in which liabilities were left off. In one case $100,000 in liabilities did not appear in an annual statement.
It also contended that the price of stock was raised from par, $10, to $30 per share and advertised as going to $50 without any valid reason. All these acts it asserted was for the purpose of selling stock.
In this connection it was showed that in all its career, extending from 1909 until it was transferred to the Indiana company, the U. S. Cashier sold only two machines.
In addition it was shown that stock privately owned by officers and salesmen was sold as company stock and on the representation that the money was to go to develop the company when it really went into the pockets of the promoters. How much they realized in this way could not be ascertained.

Large Orders Alleged.

It was also proved that stock was disposed of on the representation that the company had large orders for machines when it did not.
The stock selling campaign was engineered by Menefee and LeMonn. It ran from late in 1910 until early in 1913, when virtually all the 120,000 shares had been sold. From that time on resale stock and privately owned stock was on the market. Much of this, however, had been disposed of in 1912 when the stock was quoted at $30.

Menefee Sold Stock at $4.

Menefee's faith in the company in 1913 was shown by his own testimony on the stand that he sold much of his stock to salesmen for prices ranging as low as $4 per share. They resold much of it for $30 to sheepmen and farmers in Montana later. This preceded the organization of the International company in 1914 with a $2,000,000 capital, of which $750,000 in stock was given the U. S. Cashier company for its patents and equipment, with an added $150,000 in stock to pay the cashier company's debts.

STATION IS DEDICATED

Pocatello, Idaho, Aug. 21.—(P. N. S.) More than 25,000 people assembled in Pocatello yesterday to participate in the festivities that marked the formal dedication of a new $325,000 station by the Oregon Short Line.
A big parade, including 200 automobiles and many cowboys and Indians, was one of the features of the celebration. All the heads of the railroad system were present. Senator Brady made the address of welcome.

BIELSK IS CAPTURED BY GERMANS; CLEARS WAY TO RUSSIAN LINE

Strongly Fortified City Was Chief Obstacle in Advance Upon Brest-Litovsk.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Bielsk has been captured by the Germanic allies, according to official announcement here today.
The official statement announcing the capture of Bielsk said: Bielsk, a strongly fortified city, the chief obstacle in the advance on Brest-Litovsk from the northwest, has been captured by the Germanic allies.
"Prince Leopold has captured 1000 men in the region between Bielsk and Brest-Litovsk.
"South of Kovno the Russians are retreating."
The capture of Bielsk was effected by the forces under General von Gallwitz.

200,000 Russians Hemmed In.

Vienna, Aug. 21.—(I. N. S.)—Two hundred thousand Russians have been hemmed in at Brest-Litovsk and their virtual annihilation or capture is deemed certain if Archduke Ferdinand succeeds in his attempt to strike the Russians from the rear.

BREST-LITOVSK NEXT TO BE CAPTURED, IS GERMAN PREDICTION

Berlin, via Amsterdam, Aug. 21.—(U. P.)—Brest-Litovsk, the principal base of the Russian field armies, is expected to be the next fortress to fall before the Germans.
The early capture of Brest-Litovsk was predicted by military critics today in their comments upon the fall of Novo Georgievsk, which swept the last Slav from the old Vistula line in Poland.
Six Austro-German army corps are now within striking distance of the southern fortress and the forces released by the capture of Novo Georgievsk are now being hurried eastward to join Prince Leopold's Bavarian command. Prince Leopold is striking at the Russians northwest of Brest-Litovsk. Field Marshal von Mackensen is concentrating his vast forces against outer defenses of the fortress from the west and southwest so that the Slav base is practically enveloped.
While these operations are progressing with the greatest rapidity, the assaults on the Russian center and on the northern flank along the Gulf of Riga and south of Kovno are increasing in intensity. Field Marshal von Hindenburg is centering his offensive upon Riga. In the meantime the Baltic fleet is engaged with the Russian squadron in the gulf and with the fall of the port city, it is hoped to turn it into a base for the landing of troops and supplies. At the same time von Hindenburg is endeavoring to seize the railway to Vilna and from there his operations will be directed toward capturing the railway to Petrograd.
As the success of the German forces continues the task of Grand Duke Nicholas in withdrawing his vast armies successfully is becoming more and more difficult.

WILSON TAKES UP ATTACK ON U. S. CITIZENS

doctrine of 'stoppage, visitation and search.'
"If the Dunsley resisted before she was torpedoed, the commander of the submarine might have presumed that the Arabic was en route to aid in resistance and, therefore, was justified in torpedoing the liner.
"It must also be cleared up as to whether the Arabic fled after she was signalled to stop."
President Wilson remained in his study at the White House all day.

ARABIC NOT CONVOYED BY BRITISH VESSELS, SAYS THE ADMIRALTY

London, Aug. 21.—(U. P.)—The liner Arabic was not being coyvoyed when she was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine, a statement passed by the Press Bureau and said to be authorized by the admiralty, said today. While the casualties surrounding the attack upon the liner Arabic were still shrouded in mystery, details of the torpedoing and sinking of the big ship with the loss of two American lives were promised today as soon as Captain Finch makes his official report.

Two Americans Lost.

Officials said it might be necessary to withhold certain facts for the present, but that this was being done only because of a desire to prevent certain information from reaching the enemy.
Consul Frost, at Queenstown, finally confirmed the United Press dispatches of yesterday when he reported that Mrs. Josephine Bruguiere, of San Francisco and New York, and Dr. Edmund Wood, of Janesville, Wis., were the only American passengers of the Arabic who are missing.
From the White Star Line offices another statement was issued at 10 o'clock today repeating that only two Americans are missing and giving a new account of other passengers and members of the crew not accounted for. In this statement it was declared 12 passengers, in addition to Mrs. Bruguiere and Dr. Wood, are unaccounted for. Forty members of the crew are missing, making the possible death toll as a result of the destruction of the Arabic 54.
The first survivors from the liner arrived here today from Queenstown. Arrangements have been made by Ambassador Page to obtain affidavits from all American survivors, and it will be upon the statement of these men and women, together with the official report of Captain Finch, that the ambassador will base his official dispatch to President Wilson.

Body of Woman Found.

Queenstown, Aug. 21.—(U. P.)—The patrol ship Adventuress arrived here today with three lifeboats of the Arabic in tow. One of the lifeboats contained the body of a woman. Her face was slightly bruised. On the right hand was a gold ring. The body has not yet been identified. A second boat contained the body of a man, believed to have been a steward on the Arabic.
The tug Stormcock brought in four of the Arabic's lifeboats but all were empty.

Dr. Wood Prominent Surgeon.

Janesville, Wis., Aug. 21.—(U. P.)—Dr. Edmund Wood, drowned as a result of the sinking of the liner Arabic by a submarine, was a prominent surgeon of Janesville. He came to this country from England as a boy. Dr. Wood was returning to the United States after having served in war hospitals in Europe.

the state other than San Francisco, because during that time there will be a municipal political campaign in San Francisco. I desire and intend to take no part in it directly or indirectly.
By my absence I wish to avoid all ground for even representing that I may be interested therein in any way whatever. I would prefer Mendocino county."

Directors' Vote Unanimous.

Ruef has actually served a little more than four years and six months of a 14-year term which he was sentenced to. Counting time taken off for good behavior, he has served seven years, half of the term which makes him eligible to parole.
The report of the state board of prison directors granting Ruef's parole was unanimous. Ruef will leave San Quentin prison for Mendocino county Sunday or Monday.
Abraham Ruef entered prison March 7, 1911, after one of the most sensational legal battles in the history of California, a fight in which the once all-powerful boss was convicted only after Francis J. Heney, his prosecutor, was shot down by Morris Haas, a Ruef sympathizer.

Sentenced for 14 Years.

Then Hiram Johnson, now governor of California, seized on the case and brought Ruef to book.
Ruef, after a trial in which many threats of death were made to his opponents, was sentenced by Judge William P. Lawlor to San Quentin for 14 years on the charge that Ruef offered and agreed to give to John J. Furey, a San Francisco supervisor, a bribe of $4000 to influence the latter to vote to grant the United Railroads an overhead trolley franchise.
Ruef's sentence was imposed December 20, 1908, but its execution was delayed for many months by devices of his lawyers.

He will leave Portland at 3:50 o'clock on the Shasta Limited for San Francisco. The meeting is to be primarily for attorneys and their guests but the balcony and gallery of the theatre will be thrown open without cost to all who desire to hear Mr. Taft speak on the subject of "Law and Government."
Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft are now westward bound through Canada, but will not arrive here until Thursday, according to present plans. They will probably be in Portland several hours and if possible arrangements will be made to entertain them while they are here.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL NOT RETREAT, SAYS SEN. SAULSBURY

Position Taken Towards Germany Will Be Adhered to, Declares Lawmaker.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL

Federal Executive Will Be Next Democratic Nominee, and Will Win, Is Prediction.

"I have no idea that President Wilson will retreat one inch from the position he has taken in this country's negotiations with Germany," said United States Senator Willard Saulsbury, of Delaware, today. "I do not think public sentiment would support him if he should retreat.
"I am very, very sorry Americans were on the Arabic, and that any of their lives, if such is the case, were lost, as it produces the gravest situation any American president has ever had to meet."
Senator Saulsbury has been one of the first and most ardent supporters of Woodrow Wilson since he was first mentioned as a presidential candidate. He was a member of the Wilson campaign committee.

Situation Is Grave.

"I feel that the president intends that the neutral rights of Americans must be respected," he said. "The situation is very grave. It may lead to the worst eventualities. In that event, the president, I believe, will immediately call a special session of congress."
Senator Saulsbury said he believes President Wilson is stronger throughout the country now than ever before.
"He will be renominated by the Democratic party without opposition," he said. "The strongest men the Republican party seems to have now are Cummins and Borah. But President Wilson will beat the field."
Senator Saulsbury, who is accompanied by Mrs. Saulsbury, is on his way home after spending two months in China and Japan. In both countries he met and talked with the highest officials.

"Yellow Peril" Not Feared.

"There is no such thing as a 'yellow peril' to this country," he said. "The leaders in Japan have the friendliest feeling for us. I talked to Premier Okuma, and he could not have shown a more friendly attitude.
"This is true, in spite of the fact that the California newspapers would not print this part of my interview."
He said the more substantial men of China look to President Yuan Shai Kai as the only strong man who can eventually cement the various elements in that country into a strong government.
When it comes to politics, Senator Saulsbury is something of a fighter himself. He was first a candidate for United States senator in 1897, and he has been at it more or less ever since; but it was not until 1913 that he was finally elected.

Conditions Termed "Rotten."

He has no use whatever for the brand of Republican politics which he says flourishes in his state.
Republican politics in Delaware are just as rotten now as they were in J. Edward ('Gas') Addicks' time," he declared. "The Republican activities in Delaware constitute a conspiracy, and not a political movement."
He said one of the favorite pastimes of the Republican machine at election time is the buying of negro votes.
"About 20 per cent of the population are negroes," he said. "I don't believe they ever vote unless they are paid for it; and they won't vote for a Democrat at any price."
As the elections in Delaware are usually very close, a bunch of purchased votes make an important difference.

Chamberlain Highly Esteemed.

Senator Chamberlain visited Senator and Mrs. Saulsbury at the Benson hotel this morning. Afterward Senator Saulsbury expressed great admiration for the Oregon senator.
"No man in the senate is more highly esteemed and has the confidence of his colleagues more completely than Senator Chamberlain," he said.
Senator and Mrs. Saulsbury will leave this afternoon for Seattle.

McLoughlin Beaten By R. N. Williams

National Tennis Championship Holder Defeats Former Champion in Contest for Classic Casino Cup, at Newport.

Newport, L. I., Aug. 21.—(U. P.)—R. Norris Williams, the national tennis championship titleholder, today took the measure of Maurice McLoughlin, former titleholder, by defeating him in the final match for the classic Casino cup here.
McLoughlin faded quickly after winning the first set and, though he obviously was bringing all his cunning into play, Williams took the remaining sets with comparative ease.
Williams was playing at the top of his game, while the "California Comet" did not display the former skill which retained the national title for him so long. The set went to deuce and McLoughlin then smashed his way through, winning 7-5. With this reverse the champion set to work, however and won the next three sets, 6-4, 6-3 and 6-2.

Germans Violated Neutrality, Claim

British Admiralty's Official Statement Says German Destroyer Torpedoed Submarine in Neutral Waters.

London, Aug. 21.—(I. N. S.)—In an official statement the British admiralty today charged that a German destroyer torpedoed the British submarine E-13, while she was aground and helpless on Saltholm island, six miles west of Copenhagen, in neutral waters.
The statement claimed that the destroyer hoisted a commercial flag, launched a torpedo and then began shelling the submarine, setting it afire fore and aft.
