LEWIS AND CANTINE MATTER TO BE LEFT TO A FRIENDLY SUIT

Governor Withycombe Announces That Agreement Has Not Been Reached.

Salem, Or., Aug. 21.—Governor Withycombe late yesterday announced that all the members of the state highway commission and State Engineer Lewis, at the executive's suggestion, have agreed to institute a friendly suit as soon as possible to get the court's exact interpretation of the highway law and settle for good the legal status of Lewis and Chief Deputy Cantine.

Attorney General Brown has been asked to advise the highway commission what can best be done to place all the points of difference before the courts, according to the governor.

In this connection it is stated that leading republicans have frowned upon the war that has been waged on Lewis by Withycombe and Kay and have brought great pressure to bear on them to desist. The republican leaders have asserted that Kay and Withycombe were fast losing ground with the voters because of the fight on Lewis, who has been following the advice of Attorney General Brown as to his duties and responsibilities under the law.

Pressure became so great that a plan to have a friendly suit was eagerly seized upon by the governor and treasurer as a way out of an extremely embarrassing situation.

Kay has talked of a suit but has insisted Lewis should bring it. Lewis, relying on attorney general's opinion, had suggested that the board bring a suit if it was not satisfied to abide by the opinion of Brown.
