

What Society is Doing

BY NONA LAWLER

FOLLOWING the betrothal cards yesterday of Miss Isabelle Beckwith and Harry Foster Chapin, the engagement announcement of the bride-elect's brother, John Albert Beckwith and Miss Martha Chapin, the sister of the bridegroom to be, came as a great surprise this afternoon.

Miss Chapin entertained at a bridge tea this afternoon for Miss Beckwith, when the second engagement in the two families was made known. A double wedding is planned, to take place at the White Temple in the early fall.

Miss Chapin is a charming and talented girl, who has made her home in Portland and Tacoma for the past two years since coming from her old home in Chicago. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Daggett Chapin of Chicago. She has attended school at Tacoma at the Annie Wright seminary, and has studied art extensively at the Chicago Art Institute, and at Pillsbury academy at Owatonna, Minn.

Mr. Beckwith is a prominent attorney, and counts his friends by the score, both social and business. He has been identified with the naval militia since its organization in Portland, and is executive officer of the Boston.

He is a graduate of the University of Oregon Law School of '05, and a Phi Delta Phi man.

The tea was charmingly appointed, and a number of out of town guests were present.

Mme. Lucie Valair, who will participate in the benefit concert to be given at Seaside Saturday night.

Plans are progressing satisfactorily for the big benefit entertainment to be given on Saturday evening at the Seaside, the proceeds to be used in the erection of a monument on the site made memorable by the Lewis and Clark expedition at Clatsop beach and Seaside during 1805 and 1806. The old salt cairn where these intrepid explorers boiled salt water to get salt for their meat and fish, was located at Seaside and it is this spot which public spirited citizens of Seaside seek to mark by a suitable monument. The Oregon Historical society, which owns the site, is much interested in the plan for the erection of a monument and will probably send some one down to the site to make a preliminary sketch concerning the plan.

A program of dramatic sketches, vocal selections and instrumental solos together with fancy dances, will make up a brilliant and artistic program. Mme. Lucie Valair will go to Seaside Friday for the week end and will participate in the concert. Mrs. Robert Schmechel, whose beautiful voice was heard during the winter in a recital, will be another vocalist who will add to the evening's pleasure. Portland people who are seated at the dinner table at Seaside and Gearhart will put on a little sketch of which Harry W. Plerong is the director. Spanish and Italian dances will be given by the Watson children and Mr. and Mrs. Fetters, professional dancers, will exhibit a number of the season's newest dances.

Portrait Painter to Visit Brother and Sister-in-Law.

Miss Louise Lyons Heustis of New York, a well known portrait painter, will arrive this evening to be the house guest of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. Linton Heustis. Miss Heustis has been in Cleveland, Ohio, painting several portraits this summer and will return there shortly to give an exhibition. She will make but a short visit with her relatives here, returning to Cleveland about the first of September.

Hoyle-Sterrett Wedding.

Wednesday evening, August 11, at the home of the bride's parents in this city, a beautiful home wedding took place when Myrtle Evelyn Sterrett became the bride of Clyde W. Hoyle, a prominent young business man of this city. The bride is a charming girl, highly accomplished, with a host of friends. She wore a handsome gown of cream duchess satin with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The house was decorated with potted ferns, palms and cut flowers.

Mr. Hoyle played the wedding march and Rev. R. M. Jones officiated.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in entertaining when the happy couple departed for the coast cities. The bride is a niece of Dr. H. D. Sterrett, a widely known prominent specialist of Kansas City.

Miss Chance Weds Albany Man.

The marriage of Miss Mary B. Chance of this city and P. A. Goodwin of Albany was solemnized Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Joseph Pushe, 180 East Yamhill street. Only the close relatives of the couple were in attendance and the wedding was simply arranged.

Miss Chance is the daughter of John Chance of Albany and was a teacher in the Holman school. During her residence in Portland she has made her home with Mrs. A. E. Davis at 4038 East Yamhill and her father, Mr. Chance, has been residing with his niece, Mrs. Pushe, at whose home the wedding ceremony was read.

Mr. Goodwin is well known in Albany and his wedding is of much interest.

Vacation Pictures Prove Interesting

Glories of Oregon as Summer Camping Ground Are Depicted at the Star Theatre.

The glories of Oregon as a summer camping ground are entertainingly depicted in a series of vacation pictures now being shown at the Star theatre. The pictures are a sort of visualized diary of two men, their pack horses and burro, together with their fine big dog. The woods, the valleys, the rivers, the snow capped mountains, and all the other beautiful things that make Oregon just Oregon, are shown.

The dramatic picture, "The Master Hand," features that versatile actor, Nat Goodwin, in a story of high finance, intrigue and love, with a bit of the sentimental by means of clever comedy. The picture is the story of Goodwin proves his right to the title of "Master Hand" in straightening out the love affairs of his friends, freeing a woman from an insane asylum where she had been placed by a villainous husband, who thus sought to get hold of her fortune, and finally, in order to redeem the lost fortune, Goodwin creates a market for stock that was otherwise worthless, and thus straightens out all the troubles. The story is absorbingly interesting from first to last.

Guests of Miss Foster.

Miss Marion Hoffman and Miss Edith Curtiss of Indianapolis, Indiana, are house guests of Miss Doris Foster for a short visit, en route home after visiting the fairs in California and attending the Delta Gamma convention at Berkeley. Miss Curtiss is the official delegate from the alumnae chapter at Indianapolis.

Birthday Party.

LOVERS' QUARRELS AND RECONCILIATION FEATURE VIOLIN ACT

Instruments "Talk" in Delightful Manner While the Players Never Speak Word

A delicious bit of comedy is the "talking violin" act of Irene Burton and Tom Kerr at the Empress this week. Irene and Tom have a boy and girl act that is refreshing in its newness. They carry on a courtship, have lovers' quarrels and reconciliations, all on their violins.

Although no word is spoken by the players, the meaning is truly given by the violins, so that the conversation may be followed almost word for word.

Country Fair Act III.

Hager and Goodwin's musical and talking violin act of an old-time country fair, with an expert speller "working" the crowd in front of the side shows, is so true to life that the audience wants more and more of it. The act is one of the bits of the show.

A mighty clever sketch is "Too Many Burglars," with four clever players. Clever one act pieces are scarce, and these people are to be congratulated for having one, as well as on their ability to realize its possibilities.

The plot brings a burglar to a home whose people have gone to a masquerade. The burglar, who is a professional, has masked as a burglar. His makeup coincides exactly with that of the real burglar.

Real Burglar Found.

The mistress of the house and her husband come home and find the real burglar, whom they mistake for her brother, who arrives presently, looking as if he had just been out on a spree. There is all kinds of a mixup, with a lot of tense gunplay, before things are finally straightened out and the real burglar is allowed to go.

Miss Darling and the other girls with saxophones open the bill very acceptably, playing many old favorites, as well as some of the classics. Marie Gerin sings sentimental ballads, illustrated with detailed stereoscopic slides. Her act is well worked out, and she has a change of costume for every song.

Yuma, the headliner, is a very clever contortionist.

Charavari Ends With Sensational Kidnaping of Bride

Hoodlums with tin cans, bells and all other nerve-racking noise producers which ingeniously could provide, made life miserable for a wedding party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, 905 Colonial avenue, last night, and before police interference they even threw rocks at members of the party who attempted to disperse them.

The wedding was that of Theodore Johnson and Miss Selma Carlson, Mrs. Peterson's niece.

The wedding over, a bounteous repast created the atmosphere, and all was serene when a woman's scream rent the air. Mrs. Johnson had been lured to the porch of the house, where several stalwart young men grabbed her, carried her to a waiting taxicab and hurried her away.

As the hours went by the guests departed, until but a few remained, when Mrs. Johnson appeared none the worse for her experience.

"What will I do?" Johnson demanded, as the realization came that his bride was gone.

Champion Diver to Meet All Comers

In addition to the big swimming meet scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Peninsula Park, a state championship diving contest is to be held during which Louis Balbach, champion diver, will meet all comers.

Originally it was proposed to have Balbach give only a diving exhibition, but owing to the interest displayed in diving by many young men it was decided to hold a contest in place of the exhibition. Balbach consented to meet all comers. Two cups are to be awarded to winners in this event. Frank Watkins and Arthur Allen are to be the judges, while Howard McKay, instructor, will have charge.

It is expected that about 200 girls and boys of the parks will take part in the various events. There are to be swimming races and diving work of all kinds. Prizeground ribbons are to be given the winners. The meet begins at 2 o'clock.

POLITICS AND FISH CAN NOT BE MIXED; VISITOR SAYS WORD

John P. Woods, President of Missouri Fish Commission, Discussed Local Field.

FARMERS RAISING FISH

Plan of Making Country Dweller Plant Fish is Being Tried With Marked Success.

John P. Woods, of St. Louis, president and treasurer of the Missouri state fish commission, picked up a newspaper this morning and saw an account of the meeting of the Oregon state fish and game commission at Salem yesterday.

"I see there is a fight going on in the commission," he said. "If they don't keep politics out of the fish commission they will kill all the fish. Politics and fish don't go together."

Mr. Woods who is at the Benson hotel with his family, is an enthusiastic sportsman and an ardent advocate of conservation of the water food supply.

Farmers Are Aiding.

"In Missouri," he said, "we are urging every farmer to have a fish pond of his own. An acre of fish on every farm is what we are seeking to have."

"There is no reason why a farmer should not raise his own fish the same as he raises his own hogs or other meat supply. Other advantages of a fish pond may be found in frog or crawfish culture, aquatic fowl, ice harvest, boating, etc. In times of drouth an acre or two of water, with six or eight feet depth, is a distinct advantage to a farm."

Mr. Woods noted the action of the Oregon commission in appropriating $500 to be used in placing bass in certain inland lakes. He said bass is the favorite fish of Missouri. He called the aristocrat of the entire fish family a fish that affords much pleasure to the sportsman.

He pointed out that he had feature about the bass is their cannibalistic habit. They eat other fish. To meet

Invitation to T. R. May Cause Trouble

General Wood, It is Reported, Will Be Asked to Explain Why He Asked Roosevelt to Visit Camp.

Washington, Aug. 26.—(U. P.)—General Leonard Wood will probably be asked by the war department to explain why he invited Colonel Roosevelt to the military instruction camp at Flatburg, N. Y., where the colonel made a speech which is considered a practically condemning President Wilson's foreign policy, it was learned today.

Secretary Garrison said he was not yet prepared to discuss the incident.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT ABOUT AN AUTUMN SUIT?

YOU know how long it will take you to save up your money after you decide it's time for YOURS. Perhaps three weeks, or four, or possibly even longer. What a long, tedious stretch of time that will seem!

But you NEEDN'T wait and save. You can BUY YOUR FALL SUIT ON CREDIT!

Ever tried it at CHERY'S? Then don't say a word until you go there—store on Washington St.—and find out how wonderfully simple and convenient Chery's Credit System is. When you see the new suits you'll want one at once. The coats are a bit longer and cut on lines more nearly tailored. They're simple in pattern and attractively mannish in material.

Have you a few spare dollars in your purse? If so, you can get your suit TOMORROW and pay the rest of the price by the week or by the month. This plan will eliminate a long, tiresome wait while you save. You will find their place most conveniently located at 389-391 Washington St., in the Pittcock block. (Adv.)
