THE closing of the exposition in San Francisco has brought a sudden exodus to California for the last few weeks of the fair. Many prominent Portlanders have already left for the south, and this week a number more will depart. Mrs. Lee Hoffman and her daughter, Miss Margaret, left more than a week ago, and will stay south until after the first week in December. Mr. and Mrs. George Willett left yesterday for several weeks, and were accompanied by Miss Catherine Russell. The Misses Harriet and Shanna Cumming left Thursday for San Francisco, where they will be joined by their father, Dr. W. A. Cumming, and his bride, who are on their wedding trip, having been married November 6, in New York. Mrs. P. F. Morey and her daughter, Miss Shirley Eastham, left last night to join Miss Helen Eastham south, and later go on east together, for an extended sojourn. Miss Hazel Blumauer will leave in company with her father, R. Blumauer, Monday for about a 10 days' visit at the fair, and Judge Charles H. Carey and his daughter, Miss Evelyn Carey, will depart this week for a last view of the exposition. Mr. and Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mrs. Edward H. Brooke and Miss Genevieve Brooke left the early part of last week for San Francisco, and will remain south for several weeks. Miss Isabelle Gauld went south about two weeks ago to visit her aunt, Miss Van Winkle, where she has been joined by her mother, Mrs. James G. Gauld. Mrs. H. C. Wortman made her departure the first of November for San Francisco, and is passing the month at the fair. She will join her daughter, Miss Helen Wortman, who is at school in the east, in New York for the holidays. Mrs. Thomas Carrick Burke left the latter part of last week, and will be a guest at the Oregon building. Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Fleischer made their departure last week, as did Miss Hazel Weidner.

For the pleasure of Miss Dorothy Jocelyn, who is now the house guest of Mrs. Clark Simmonds, Mrs. Henry Cabell entertained at luncheon Wednesday. Circling the table, which was prettily centered with roses, were: Miss Jocelyn, Mrs. Karl Koehler, Mrs. Charles H. Martin, Mrs. R. M. Boykin, Mrs. Charles F. Adams, Mrs. Clark Simmonds, Miss Pauline Parke, Miss Olive Felling and Miss Daisy Adams.

Miss Daisy Adams, of Baltimore, the house guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Adams, was the honor guest Friday at one of the largest and most elaborate teas of the season, which Mrs. Adams gave at her residence in Flanders street. About 400 guests called to greet Miss Adams and Mrs. Van Leer Eichbaum, also a sister-in-law of Mrs. Adams, who has recently come from Seattle to make her home in Portland. A beautiful array of flowers, ranging from the more dainty orchids, violets and roses to huge stately chrysanthemums, formed the decorative scheme about the rooms. The scene was one of exceptional beauty with the handsome gowns of the women in their beautiful setting of flowers. Miss Adams wore a turquoise blue taffeta gown, with silver embroidery elaborations. Mrs. Adams was gowned in rose pink taffeta and silver lace, and Mrs. Eichbaum was attired in black charmeuse, with tulle and lace trimming.

Assisting in receiving were: Mrs. E. L. Devereaux and Mrs. Guy W. Talbot, who served punch, and Mrs. Herbert S. Nichols, Mrs. Oscar R. Menefee, Mrs. A. D. Katz and Mrs. Everett Ames. Pouring tea and cutting ices were: Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Henry C. Cabell and Mrs. John G. Edwards presided at the table.

and the pretty and attractively gowned debutantes assisting in the dining room included Miss Catherine Russell, Miss Ruth Teal, Miss Marian Voorhies, Miss Elizabeth Jones and Miss Antoinette Mearns.

The Thursday Night Dancing club has sent out cards announcing its series of parties to be given this winter at the Hotel Benson, December 2, January 12, February 10, March 2 and April 27, from 9 until 12 o'clock. This club is a reorganization of the old subscription dances and the Friday Night club, as it has been variously known, and includes in its list of members the younger set of society and the younger married set. The patronesses for the season will be Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Gordon Forbes, Mrs. Charles Edward Grell, Mrs. David Taylor Honeyman, Mrs. C. Hunt Lewis, Mrs. Lewis Mills, Mrs. Andrew Dickinson Norris and Mrs. Henry W. Wessinger.

The Monday Night Dancing club, one of the oldest organizations of its kind, made up of the married set of smart society, held the first party for this season Thursday evening last week, but will have the remainder of its series of Monday evenings through the winter at Murlark hall.

The Visiting Nurse association will give a tea next Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, honoring Mrs. Stephen Wise, a former Portland, who will be in the city three days next week.

Plans are progressing rapidly for the Oregon alumnae benefit which will be given Friday, November 26, at the Ice Hippodrome for the benefit of the Woman's building at the state university.
