COAST LEAGUERS MUST LIST EVERY Cook CENT FOR MAJOR Marsh

Big League Clubs Can't Peddle Contracted Players Out This Way.

Those Coast league clubs that secured major league players last year, De Temple half of whose wartime contracts were paid by the big league clubs which re-leased them to Portland, will be hard hit by a ruling adopted at the recent Coast league meeting in San Francisco, which has just come to light.

. The Pacific coast directors enacted rule that in cases of this kind, the club, although paying only half of the returned major leaguer's salary, must turn the whole amount in against the salary limit adopted by the league. which is $4500 a month.

How Portland Is Affected.

For instance, if the Portland club Brotherhood of American Yeomen team was paying $350 a month on half of George Kahler's fron-bound contract Washington W. O. W. team. and the Cleveland club was also pay- scores: ing $350 as fts half, the Portland club-would have to list Kahler's salary in the Coast league as $100 a month. The same thing would be true of Scaling Bunny Brief, Tommy Quinlan and Scali Breton of Salt Lake, Ping Bodie and Lates Lefty Cavet of San Francisco, and Jimmy Johnston of Oakland, if such were working under this arrangement. Will Help Smaller Cities. "It will be a tremendous help because the club which does not have the big population around it, will have an connice with the rest," said Manager Walter Medicedle, "It will also tend to make all of the clubs get within the salary limit and stay there. The young material will have a chance because no club is going to assume a Bullock major league team's obligation upon a ball player who can't stick up there.' McCredie figures that any club in the league which could have afforded to pay Brief, Quinlan and Breton around $400 a month, could have made a bid for the Coast league pennant.

Evans and Lober to Spokane. McCredie stated yesterday that he would send Rube Evans and Ty Lober to the Spokane club, while Fred Derrick is upon the block to the highest bidder. This disposes of the rumor that he had been traded to Vernon for Johnny Rane.

J. Cal Ewing, former owner of the San Francisco club and who now admits having a mortgage on both the Seals and Oakland club, was here yesterday as a witness in the suit of Hunky Shaw, a player discharged in 1912, for alleged salary amounting to $240 against San Francisco.

Mas Salary Case Continued. The case was not ready for trial and Cal secured a continuation until after Thanksgiving. He left last night for his farm at Castella, below Dunsmuir, Cal., where he will spend the helidays. Ewing predicts a much better finan-cial season in 1916 than last year all over the circuit. He figure that the lumber mills will be opening on the Columbia river, which means putting $20,000,000 a year into circulation un
