

INSPECTORS TESTIFY REGARDING ROBBERY OF THE STATION A

Deal Was Planned in Seattle, According to an Alleged Confession of Men.

INCIDENTS ARE RELATED

Trial of Suspects in Portland Post-office Case Proceeding in the United States Court.

That the Station A postoffice robbery in Portland, February 12, was planned in Seattle by Bruce Granville and Charles P. Mack, according to confessions made to them by J. C. Donville, was the testimony of postoffice inspectors in federal court yesterday morning in the trial of Donville and Granville.

Inspectors Morse and Perkins, testifying from notes, both said that Donville told them that he came from Seattle to Portland, February 16, and that Mack and Granville came February 12.

Donville, they said, told them that on the night of the robbery he and Mack and Granville had supper at a downtown restaurant in Portland. Donville went to the Seward hotel and took a 1914 Buick that was standing there.

The inspectors said that Donville told them that he took the car over to the east side, and waited near the corner of Washington and Grand avenue for Granville and Mack, who had gone over on a street car. After the robbery, the inspectors testified, Donville said he brought Mack and Granville, with the loot, to a hotel on the west side, where they changed clothes. He bought tickets for them to Seattle and they left on a train at 10:45 or 11 p. m.

According to his confession, made to the inspectors after he was sentenced to Salem for forgery, Granville received but $25 from Mack and Granville as his share of the robbery. Donville was brought from Salem for the trial with the expectation that he would plead guilty in the afternoon. He pleaded not guilty. Mack, who was to have been tried with Donville and Granville, escaped from guards at Sandpoint, Idaho, en route from Leavenworth to Portland. He was serving a sentence at Leavenworth for floating money orders taken from Station A.

WAR SUMMARY BY J. W. T. MASON

Former European Manager of the United Press.

New York, Nov. 26.—An indication that Germany doubts her ability to impose an indemnity on the entente allies in the event of peace is contained in Berlin reports that new war taxes are proposed. Hitherto Germany has paid its war expenses on borrowed money.

Finance Minister Helfferich stated last August that there would be no levy of taxes because the indemnity Germany would demand from conquered territory would be sufficient to meet all her expenses. This statement, five days later, caused British Secretary of War Grey to utter his now famous remark, "so long as Germany is fighting for 'supremacy and tribute, the war must go on.'"

Introduction of the tax bill in Germany indicates that a pessimistic necessity has arisen. Retirement from Helfferich's original promise that the war would be conducted on indemnities has caused much depression. To the frightful cost to Germany's young manhood and economic sacrifices, the burden of taxes will be added. This may become the final straw which will break German militarism.

Miner's Open Light Blamed for Explosion

Many Witnesses Have Been Subpoenaed to Tell What They Know of Horror in Ravensdale Mine.

Ravensdale, Wash., Nov. 26.—(L. P. S.)—It is reported today that the coroner's jury investigating the explosion in the Northwest Improvement company's mine here two weeks ago, which killed 31 miners, will find the explosion was caused by a miner's open lamp igniting a pocket of gas. There had been doubt as to whether a gas pocket or premature blast was responsible for the tragedy.

Coroner Mason has subpoenaed between 50 and 100 witnesses to testify at the inquest next Wednesday, at which time an effort will be made to fix the blame for the presence of such a body of gas in the mine.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Toilet Talks.)

Any woman can keep her skin free from unsightly hair of fuzz if she will follow these simple instructions: When hairy growths appear, apply a simple paste, made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. Apply this to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a harmless treatment, but be sure you get the real delatone.—Adv.

GERMANY COMPLETES FIRST PHASE OF HER CAMPAIGN IN BALKANS

Complete Subjugation of Montenegro and Annihilation of Serbs Planned.

Berlin, Nov. 26.—(By Wireless to Sayville.—(L. N. S.))—In the occupation of Mitrovitza and Pristina by troops of the central powers, the first phase of the Kaiser's Balkan campaign has been completed. The second phase is now under way, with the Austrians invading Montenegro through the Lim valley, near Bijlopolje, thereby hoping to cut off the Montenegrins in the north from joining those operating in the southeast.

Indications today were that Germany plans the complete subjugation of Montenegro and the occupation of Albania, to forestall help from the Italians and to insure the annihilation of the Serbian army. If the plan is successful, the Serbs will be forced soon to abandon Scutari.

In effect denying that Field Marshall von Mackensen has been transferred to Gallipoli, the official report of the German general staff today stated that the Serbians' rear guard, offering resistance to Von Mackensen's forces southwest of Shtica near Mitrovitza, were rolled back with heavy loss, Von Mackensen continuing to progress steadily.
