

OREGON FRIED SPUDS ON SAHARA DESERT TODAY IS POSSIBILITY Shivering Miner of Alaska Can Also Sit Down to Hot Corn on the Cob, NEW TREATMENT GIVEN

"Dri-Fresh" Factory Has Proved a Success and Now Its Capacity Has Been Doubled. Who said the days of the marvelous had passed? The lonely traveler in the Sahara desert can now have fried potatoes—Oregon fried potatoes—even though the tubers are years from the hills.

The shivering miner in Alaska can sit down to a meal of vegetable soup seasoned with fresh vegetables from the cob and joyously finish with a wide choice of Oregon cherries, berries, peaches, pears, apricots, apples, no matter how far he may be from the coast, from civilization or his base of supplies.

What is more to the point, the weather buffeted people of the east may enjoy all the delicacies of the fresh, richly flavored, Oregon fruits and vegetables.

Invention Is Perfected. It has just become known that local business men—W. G. McPherson, Arthur H. Devers and others—have perfected the invention by which the moisture is taken from Oregon fruits and vegetables and in this state the products are sent until desired for use, when making them fresh again involves the simple expedient of adding moisture.

These men built last March at the Dalles, one of Oregon's important fruit and vegetable centers, a "Dri-Fresh" factory. They have just finished doubling its capacity.

Dependent upon the product, they are now able to dry from one to six tons a day of fruits and vegetables. The various products have received the recognition of big eastern buyers, of governmental purchasing bureaus, of leading fruiterers and fancy grocers.

Suggestion Is Important. One of the significant features of the enterprise lies in the suggestion of what can be done in such other fruit centers as southern Oregon with similar plants.

"We simply have found a way of utilizing what otherwise might be wasted of fruits and vegetables and of bringing forth products capable of restoration to original freshness and flavor that markets are eager for to such an extent that the demand is constantly increasing," said W. G. McPherson.

It is said that there has been trouble to get fruit enough. Fruits from which the moisture is taken are apples, apricots, berries, cherries, peaches, pears and prunes.

Included in the list of vegetables similarly treated are string beans, cabbages, cauliflower, celery, corn on the cob, onions, peas, potatoes, pumpkins, rhubarb, spinach, squash, sweet potatoes, beets and carrots.

It is not stated that these fruits and vegetables are "dehydrated" whole. The potatoes, for instance, are sliced and peeled; so are the beets; the apples are peeled, cored and sliced. The cabbage is shredded.

The drying process keeps the fruits and vegetables from dirt and contamination and insects.

TRUNK MURDER MYSTERY TAKES STARTLING TURN (Continued From Page One) Anderson is a little taller and a little slimmer than Bartholomew. His face is somewhat thinner, and he is younger than Bartholomew.

Resemblance Is Striking. But so closely do the two resemble each other, that every person in Portland and the Willamette valley, with the exception of one, declared that the picture found in the green trunk alongside the nude body of Lind, was that of Bartholomew.

These witnesses, Mrs. DeCorsey, the landlady of the rooming house at 407 Stark street, where the murder occurred, and the proprietor of the Model Stables, 225 Davis street, where the car was secured, supposedly by Bartholomew, to transport the green trunk to the river, positively swore before the grand jury that the picture was that of the man who killed John Lind.

When Detective Sergeant Joe Day went to Albany, two weeks ago, however, to check up clues in the murder case, he found one man who had been a close friend of Bartholomew's in South Dakota. That man saw Bartholomew when he, in company with Lind, was at Albany about three weeks before the murder was committed.

He looked at the picture shown by Day, and then said he did not believe that it was a picture of Bartholomew. "If that is George's picture, it was taken a long time ago," this man told the Portland police officer.

The postcard picture of Anderson and Lind, the torn piece of which, found in the green trunk, was taken by the police as photos of the murderer and his victim, was made in San Francisco.

Photo Made in San Francisco. In his letter, Chief White recites that the photo was made in a postcard gallery at the corner of Fourth and Market streets in San Francisco.

The letter says: "The picture shown in your circular of November 22, instead of being George Bartholomew alias Ed Hopkins, is Antonio Anderson, employed at the Columbia garage, this city, as floor manager and he resides at the Hotel Winton, 445 O'Farrell street. The deceased and Anderson were taken at a post card gallery at the corner of Fourth and Market streets in San Francisco. "Anderson states as follows: I first met John Lind in October, 1911, on the steamer Oscar II, bound from Copenhagen to New York. I learned Lind had been on a visit to Varberg, Sweden, his birth place and was returning to Boston where he had worked for several years in the employ of a wealthy railroad magnate as a gardener and handy man.

"In California Some Time. "He immediately separated upon reaching New York—Lind going to Boston and I going to Forest City, Iowa. We kept up a correspondence until March, 1913, when Lind came on to Boston from Chicago and we came direct to San Francisco where we registered at the Hotel George, Fifth and Howard streets, and remained about one month.

"Lind first secured employment at the Winchester hotel, 74 Third street, as janitor, working there several months. He then went to the Southern Pacific hospital as gardener for a few months, then to the Warrington apartments, Jones and Post streets for about four months.

Game Kears With Bartholomew. "He on March 18, 1914, went to Williams building as janitor at $65 a month, which position he held until about the first of the following day he left San Francisco with George Bartholomew and went to Portland. At that time Lind was residing at the San Raphael hotel, 60 Seventh street, San Francisco, where Bartholomew stopped with him for 10 or 12 days.

"Lind became acquainted with Bartholomew in Union Square, a public park opposite the St. Francis hotel, Bartholomew being, as he was, down and out.

Lind sympathized with him taking him to his rooming place, and Bartholomew no doubt a typical yeg, pretended to Lind that he was religious and would not smoke or swear in his presence. Lind had resided at the Central hotel, 574 Third street, the St. Charles hotel, 507 Bush street, the Hotel Eddy, 225 Eddy street, and other places enumerated.

The statement quoted was made by Anderson to Detective Michael Burke of San Francisco. Chief White's letter continues: "Lind Pretty Well Off. "We find that Lind has a large account in the Hawaiian bank, this city, amounting to several thousand dollars, from which he had not drawn for the past three years. He also has a bank account in a Boston bank, probably the Germania bank of that city.

T. W. Erickson, 1649 Sutter street, and his wife, Erickson's intimate friends, and his place of business is at 829 Lincoln street. Erickson describes Bartholomew as follows: "A thirty to thirty-five years of age, 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 180 to 185 pounds; dark hair, brown eyes, reddish complexion, robust in appearance, is a good talker and has a proud disposition.

Antonio Anderson, when examined by police detectives of San Francisco, said: "I saw that picture in The Journal of Portland on November 21. "Why didn't you go to the police then, and tell them what you know of this case?" he was asked.

"I was just waiting until the Portland detectives came and arrested me, so I could show them that I was the wrong man," he answered.

Friends Come to Smythe's Rescue. Great Falls, Mont., Dec. 15.—(U. P.)—Friends of William F. Smythe made positive declaration today that Smythe was in Great Falls November 19, the day of the murder in Portland of John Lind, whose body was found in a trunk in the Willamette river. Because of his resemblance to photographs of George Bartholomew, accused of the crime, Smythe is being held at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Joseph Morris, proprietor of the Milwaukee house, said that Smythe registered at his hotel November 19. His knowledge of the date, he said, is positive. Smythe told Morris that he was on his way to Belt, Mont., to seek work.

Ban Mitchell, a dairyman, said today that Smythe once worked for him and that he was in Great Falls on the date of the murder. Three other persons said that they saw Smythe here November 19.

FEW AUTOS IN CITY DEPARTMENTS WILL REMAIN UNLETTERED Commissioner Daly's Plan to Have All Cars Designated Fails to Pass Council.

Commissioner Daly had planned to have all automobiles in the city's service lettered to designate the city's ownership, but the council this morning opposed the plan and adopted an ordinance requiring the lettering of all cars except two in the police bureau and one in every department of the city.

This allows the commissioner in charge of any department to have one car in his department unlettered. With the lettering of the motor cars and the two cars in the police bureau, there will be seven cars of the city which will not be lettered.

Five Machines Will Be Bought. Purchasing Agent Wood had recommended to the council that Allen automobiles be purchased for the police bureau to patrol beats, but Mayor Albee today refused to accept the recommendation and induced the council to purchase five Ford automobiles.

Water Meeters Save CITY OF WASHINGTON FROM GREAT WASTE Per Capita Consumption Reduced With Gradual Installation of Meter System

Washington, Dec. 15.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL)—Metering of water services, under federal authority, in the city of Washington, begun 10 years ago, and yet only 70 per cent completed, has resulted, notwithstanding a large increase in population, in a reduction in the mean daily consumption from 69,000,000 gallons to 63,500,000 gallons.

The per capita consumption has fallen in the same period from 227 gallons a day to 124 gallons a day, and it is expected that this will be still further lowered to 120 gallons when the metering of the city is completed. This is a saving of 103 gallons a day per capita less than when metering was begun, and this enormous quantity of saving is credited to the stoppage of waste.

Meters Save Pipe Lines. These figures are found in the report of the commissioners of the District of Columbia, which has been submitted to congress. It is pointed out that with the former water capacity of the present aqueduct supplying water to the city would have been passed before this time. Metering has been such a success that it is now estimated that an additional pipe line need not be needed before 1930, estimating an increase in population to 500,000 at that date.

Now Meters Are Installed. "During the year there were installed 6443 meters," says the report, "making the total number in service June 30, 1915, 48,411. The total number of meters in service is 65,365, and of these 30 per cent remain un-metered. It is estimated that the metering of the city will be completed in the summer of 1918.

The average cost of installing meters by the District of Columbia during the year was $10.55, including the cost of the meter, which was $4.65. The rate charged for water on meter service during the year was 4 cents per 100 cubic feet for all used in excess of 7500 cubic feet. The minimum charge for 7500 cubic feet is $4.50 per annum.

Annual Water Bills. "Water bills are delivered to the household monthly at the minimum rate, which allows the use of 7500 cubic feet, or 65,100 gallons, and if an actual measurement water is found to be used in excess of this amount, bills are rendered for such excess at the rate of 4 cents per 100 cubic feet."

It should be borne in mind that no direct charge is made against federal departments for the use of water for heating, for condensing and cooling purposes, and, as this water is free, there is no incentive to conserve the supply.

One public building alone has a daily consumption of 2,300,000 gallons, yet only 700,000 gallons of this is used for domestic purposes by employees. This is termed by the commissioners "an economic waste."

Water is furnished free to churches, hospitals, orphanages, schools and charitable institutions to the extent of 19,318,000 cubic feet. This is an allowance per capita of 60 to 100 gallons a day, depending on the character of the institution, and excess water is charged for at meter rates, the excess last year being 7,537,000 cubic feet.

Water revenues for the year were $52,000, including a balance of $33,000 from the previous year, and the expenditures for the year were $19,000, 42 per cent of the cost of work done being for new work in plant extensions, 41 per cent for operation, 13 per cent for general repairs, and 4 per cent for replacements.

No Enemies Aboard Ship. There have been no German spies aboard ship, and the mechanical troubles are not the work of secret enemies of the allies, the officers of the ship and the United States officials now declare.

Boilers Not Satisfactory. Captain August W. Galtwick said today that the boilers had given way unusually, but from natural causes. Members of the crew, particularly the grimy-faced firemen who spent their watches in the fireroom, heard out his statement and amplified it. The Minnesota's boilers are of a French make which has passed into disuse. During the last 12 years they never have given full satisfaction.

From the time of leaving Seattle trouble was experienced. Boiler tubes under a pressure of from 145 to 145 pounds to the square inch burst at the rate of a dozen a day, each making a miniature explosion. Seven of the crew were injured or scalded, one sustaining a broken arm. Another in the fire room and the remainder minor hurts or burns.

Sale of Bonds Authorized. The council today authorized the sale of $2,000 in improvement bonds. The date of the sale will be fixed soon.

FIRE TRUCK DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED BY SEAGRAVE COMPANY Bert Clark and Sister, Injured in Collision, Paid $15,000 Is Report.

Accident Which Caused Case Was a Three-Corner Crash on East Side Last May.

The Seagrave company has settled suits brought by Bert Clark and his 18-year-old sister, as the result of the three-cornered accident at East Twenty-eighth and Burnside streets, May 21. It is said Clark and his sister received $15,000 from the company. Clark was awarded $20,000 recently by a jury in Judge Davis' court against the company, and the Gorham Fire Apparatus company and Miss Clark's suit for $10,000 damages had not been heard.

Clark and his sister were on his motorcycle by the curb when a fire truck which had been purchased by the city, but had not been accepted, collided with a street car. The truck was thrown against the motorcycle, injuring its riders. Clark's foot was so badly crushed amputation was necessary, and Miss Clark was seriously injured.

The Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. was absolved from liability in Clark's case by the jury. It is said that as a part of the settlement the company has agreed to employ Clark, E. W. Ayer and A. B. Hughes were in charge of the truck at the time of the accident, and Ayer was convicted of driving the truck while intoxicated. Municipal Judge Stevenson sentenced him to 35 days in jail, and his case is now pending on appeal in the circuit court.

$3000 ATTORNEY FEE ASKED Suit Side Issue of Divorce Case of J. D. Matlock.

A side issue of the marital difficulties of ex-Mayor J. D. Matlock of Eugene is in Circuit Judge Gatens' court in the shape of a suit for $3000 attorney's fees by W. H. Wilson of The Dalles. Attorney Wilson and Charles A. Hardy of Eugene are attorneys for Mrs. Mary F. Wilson Vandervoort Matlock in the suit brought by Mr. Matlock for divorce and to set aside a deed to Eugene business property given by him to Mrs. Matlock prior to their marriage.

Attorney Wilson asks $1500 for himself and $1500 for Mr. Hardy. Mrs. Matlock alleges that she needed the money given by her husband to pay them a reasonable compensation should they win her case, and that they were to get nothing if they lost. The case was won by Mrs. Matlock in the circuit court, but the supreme court found for Mr. Matlock. She also alleges that they received $350 for fees from Mrs. Matlock during the divorce proceedings.

Judge Gatens now has under advisement a recent suit by Mrs. Matlock for separate maintenance. Since hearing the suit, she has attempted to obtain the entire trust between Mr. and Mrs. Matlock settled. A motion for reopening of the maintenance suit is now pending.

DISMISSAL OF SUIT ASKED Husband Accuses Wife of Cruelty; Suits Filed.

BOTH WANT LITTLE FELLOW Grandfathers Battle in Courts for Possession of Clifford Graves.

Two grandfathers are opposing each other in court in an attempt to secure custody of Clifford Graves, 5 years old. The boy's parents, Minor and Clara Graves, were killed in an accident on the Northern Pacific railway October 30 and a suit for damages in the boy's name is pending in Bonner county. This morning, Levi Hathaway, the maternal grandfather, was appointed guardian of the boy by County Judge Cleaton. Yesterday J. L. Howers, as agent of W. I. Graves of Seattle, paternal grandfather, petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to secure the boy. Graves is the boy's guardian in Washington under court appointment. Hathaway has the boy at present.

He secured a machine for the money, stripped it, changed its appearance as much as possible by putting on a racer body and started out with his bride a few months. He was arrested before he had traveled far and admitted his crime.

Flames Threaten to DESTROY THE ENTIRE TOWN OF BANKS, OR. Powder Magazine Threatened but Volunteer Bucketeers Win After Fight.

Banks, Or., Dec. 15.—But for favorable weather conditions it is probable that the entire town of Banks would have been destroyed by fire which started at 7:30 o'clock this morning, and which did damage estimated at about $13,000.

The losses are: John Wunderlich, furniture and hardware, stock, $10,000; building, $2000. Bert Friday, building, $500; stock, $250. Washington County bank, $200. Wunderlich carried $2100 insurance, a policy for an additional $4000 had but recently expired. The bank's loss is fully covered and Friday is partially protected.

Banks has no fire protection but a bucket brigade and well water supply.

THE oldest of modern crafts is Merchant Tailoring. The traditions of the art are so many, having been handed down from generation to generation, that an experienced and skillful custom ariser can solve ANY difficulty presented by any customer's figure. Of course you can't have this done by guess. You must be STUDIED and careful measurements must be made and the clothes turned out to CORRESPOND with these measurements. We suggest that it would be a waste of labor and time to employ such necessary skill on anything but the best of materials.
