Clapp Hopes for Cummins.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, expresses the hope that Senator Cummins of Iowa will carry the Minnesota primaries in the Republican preference vote for president, and he thinks the Iowan has excellent prospects of winning the indorsement.

"It is important if true, and Senator Clapp is presumed to be qualified to venture a forecast. Himself a progressive Republican of the outspoken type, he thinks the progressive voters of the party will turn naturally to the Cummins candidacy.

Minnesota will be the first state to express its choice in which there will be a real contest. Indiana will precede it, but Indiana has Fairbanks as a favorite son, and will not provide such an interesting test as Minnesota. Cummins' friends are known to be studying the ins and outs of the Minnesota primary law, so that they may strike early and in the most effective way to win an indorsement that will "ring over the country."

Two Biographies From Texas.

"Jeff" McLemore and "Cyclone" Davis, the two Texas congressmen-at-large, have two of the most unique biographies (self-composed) in the congressional directory. McLemore notes that he was born in a farm "on Friday, March 13, in a storm, but had little schooling, because of his aversion to teachers, and, as a pupil, never saw the inside of a schoolroom until

To Insure Deposits In National Banks

Representative Kinkaid of Nebraska Proposes Plan to Safeguard Interests of Depositors in National Banks.

Washington, Dec. 18.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.) Losses incurred by depositors in national banks in several recent failures have attracted attention to the obligation of the government to afford greater protection in such cases, and several plans are being suggested. It is felt that depositors often and certainly especially feel a greater sense of security in dealing with national banks, but in several communities, mostly in small cities, this feeling has been rudely shattered.

Announcements from the comptroller of the currency show that those losses are due to the misconduct of officers and loans made by banks which, in behalf of the were interested. Comptroller Williams is suggesting stronger laws governing the making of loans by officers of national banks.

Representative Kinkaid of Nebraska, proposes to insure these deposits, providing that all the funds derived from interest on government money in public depositaries, the government to be subrogated to the rights of depositors in the assets of failed banks to the extent of its deposits.

Article 1 provides that the fund thus accumulated will be much more than ample for the purpose, the Kinkaid bill provides that if after three years the secretary of the treasury deems one-half the interest sufficient, the interest turned into the insurance fund shall be curtailed accordingly.

Senator Williams of Mississippi with the same object in view, proposes to establish a reserve and a premium fund in each national bank, payments into such funds being based on total deposits and the relation of deposits to capital stock. One feature is a clause preventing any bank carrying deposits more than ten times the amount of its capital.

National Censor Board Suggested

Committee to Pass on all Films Produced, is Proposed in Measure Introduced by Representative Hughes.

Washington, Dec. 18.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—A national movie censor board is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Hughes, whose home is in a little town in Georgia. He would have five commissioners, one to be chairman, at $4,000 a year, the others to draw down $3,500 each.

While the bill provides that the commission shall license every film permitted to go from one state to another, it is not expected that they will personally be able to see all the movies that are created, so the appointment of "deputy" commissioners without pay and deputies, with pay, is also covered by the bill. Entire cost of the commission is limited to $10,000 a year, and this cost is to come from license fees assessed against the film makers.

Mr. Hughes' bill provides for licensing every film offered unless found to be immoral, inhuman, or depicts a bull fight or a prize fight, or is of such a character that its exhibition would tend to injure the health or corrupt the morals of children or adults or incite to crime."

The bill is before the committee on education.

Wife of Minister Believed Suicide

Mrs. T. S. Ban, Whose Husband Is Pastor of Japanese Congregational Church, Disappears.

Santa Ana, Cal., Dec. 18.—(P. N. S.)—Fear was felt here today that Mrs. T. S. Ban, wife of the pastor of the First Japanese Congregational church, had committed suicide. Mrs. Ban disappeared last night, after visiting her six months' old baby at a hospital, and kissing it goodby. The beaches are being searched.

Reports from Newport today were that a black object had been sighted offshore, but that it had sunk before fishermen could reach it. Mrs. Ban wore a black dress.
