chairman of the Red Cross committee for the Woman's Political Science club, through whose cooperation with Mrs. Dunham, the club was able to dispose of nearly 6000 Christmas seals. The club has an excellent program for the coming weeks, affording subjects of interest to everyone, which will be discussed and lectures given by able speakers.

North Portland Organizations Aid Needy.

The Ockley-Green and Thompson Parent-Teacher associations, the North Portland Commercial club and the Woman's auxiliary to the Commercial club have combined to do organized social service in the North Portland and Albina districts, and already many excellent deeds have been performed A room has been opened in the North Portland district, which is in charge each afternoon of a member of one of these organizations, and here food and clothing are received and distributed. employment found when possible and other aid given to the needy. This week the women who will alternate in taking charge of the room are: Mrs.
Leon La Forge, Mrs. Otto, Mrs. O. Williams, Mrs. J. R. Osborne, Mrs. F. R. Newell and Mrs. Marshall N. Dana.

Through the efforts of these organizations 23 needy families were supplied with food to last them from one to four weeks and 65 children were supplied with toys. Also much clothing was distributed from the com-munity Christmas tree at Peninsula park field house and by automobile on Christmas morning. The general com-mittee, of which Mrs. C. J. Devereaux is chairman, wishes to express heartlest appreciation to all who contributed, and especially to Miss Bartholomew and Miss Dagemark of the field house, who rendered valuable assistance in receiving and dispensing the contribu tions.

Klamath Falls Amateur Theatricals Amateur thespians of Klamath Falls gave a delightful entertainment last week, the little playlet having been written around the future Klamath Falls when the Strahorn railroad line is built. The scene was laid at the depot and the lines were replete with clever witticisms. Besides the play ment of the Woman's Library club.
