Fake Veterans in Baker G. A. R. Camp

Post Commander, Upon Taking Office, Makes a Declaration of Somewhat Startling Mature.

Baker, Or., Jan. 5 .- J. M. Yeates, the new post commander of Joe Hooker post, G. A. R., when installed in office yesterday, made several startling charges in his speech of acceptance. In addressing his fellow comrades, Mr. Yeates stated that there were members of the organization not entitled to membership, having failed to produce credentials, and he announced that his first step would be to see that all impostors are ousted. He claimed that some have become members of the post who never fought for the United States in the Civil war, or any other.

That one of these impostors joined in the line of march at a recent public meeting and wore a Grand Army button, to which he is not entitled, the old eign affairs committee this afternoon veteran claimed, and he proposes to see
