Permits Also Issued for Erection of Steel Supports for Plant of the Shell Oil Company.

After a post-New Year's lull of a fortnight, a resumption of building activity is indicated by the number and value of permits issued by the city building inspector yesterday.

Permits for four residences, aggregating $15,500, were taken out by the Oregon Home Builders.

Three are to be built at the corner of East Pine and East Twentieth streets, Murphy's addition, at a cost of $3500 each. They will be single-story bungalows. The fourth dwelling will be two stories and is to be built at 905 Dunkley street, Olmstead addition. It will cost $5000.

A 1½-story dwelling will be built at 1122 Missouri street, Patton terrace, by R. H. Bird of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company. It is to cost $2150.

Repairs to the amount of $2000 are to be made to the plant of F. F. Haradon & Son, East Sixth and East Davis streets, which was recently acquired by the Tru-Blu Biscuit company of Spokane. Muckle Bros. have the contract and E. A. Miller drew the plans.

Cheeks With Color Win Admiration

A Complexion Help That Gives Dainty Tints and Is Not Apparent.

The woman with color is the woman who wins admiration. Women with colorless cheeks can add to their natural beauty with the aid of Bird Rouge. This dainty rouge gives tints to the complexion that rival the very best that nature can provide, and, best of all, the rouge itself is not apparent.

Bird Rouge can be adapted to any complexion. Its chief value lies in the fact that it blends perfectly with the powder or the natural flesh tints, beautifying and enhancing the complexion. There are three shades—light for the blonde, Spanish for the medium complexion, and dark for the brunette.

It sells at 25 cents at all Owl stores. (Adv.)

Dry Law Set Aside For Man Very Ill

Oregon City, Or., Jan. 19.—The prohibition law, which recently went into effect, was set aside Tuesday, when it was necessary to procure alcohol for massage purposes for Lloyd Barlow, who is critically ill with pneumonia at the home of E. C. Parker of West Linn.

The attending physician, Dr. M. C. Strickland, called out of the city, was not here at the time more alcohol was needed, and as the two quarts, which were allowed, had been used it was necessary to appeal to District Attorney Hedges.

Hedges, hearing of the facts and seeing the affidavit of the young man's father, W. L. Barlow, stated, in a case of life or death I will allow the young man to have alcohol for medicinal purposes, which the physician had prescribed."

Lloyd Barlow, who came here from eastern Oregon, has been critically ill for several weeks.

Joe Diamant Back From Sunny Italy

Oregon City, Or., Jan. 19.—Joe Idamant, who left this city for Italy two years ago, returned to this city on Monday evening. While at his old home at Siracusa, Sicila, Italy, he was married to a young lady of his old home town, who will come to Oregon City at a later date. Many of Joe's relatives are fighting for their country.

Diamant came to America on the steamer Patria, of the French Fabra company, and says that on many occasions while on the voyage the passengers became fearful of the submarines of other foreign nations. There were on the vessel about 500 passengers, including 160 Italians, 300 Portuguese, 30 Americans, including two ministers and a number of Red Cross nurses, and two Greeks. The steamer left for New York November 6, and arrived at New York December 24.

While at his old home he visited his mother, Mrs. Rafael Diamant.

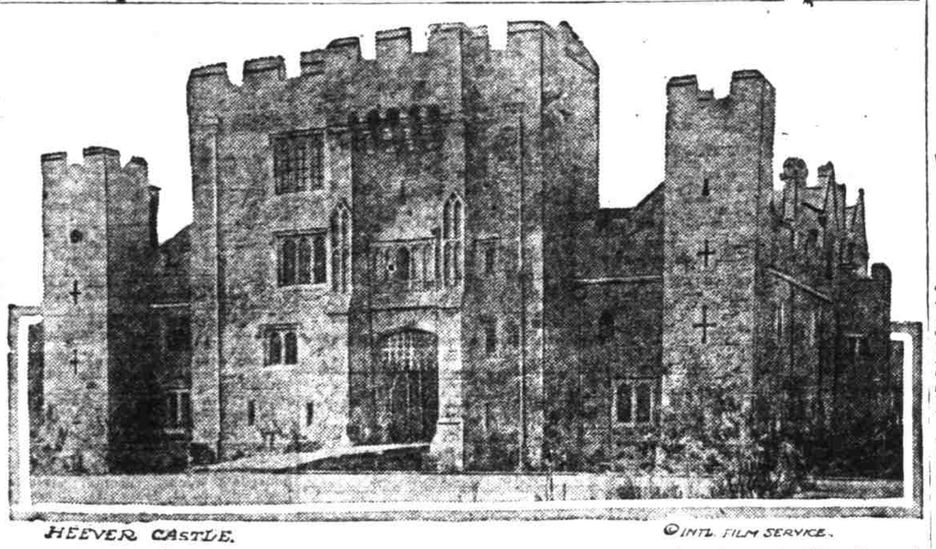
MEDIEVAL CASTLE IS NOW SEAT OF BARON ASTOR



HEEVER CASTLE. ©INTL. FILM SERVICE.

William Waldorf Astor, the expatriated American who was given the title of baron in King George's New Year's list of titles, will be known as Baron Astor of Heever, taking the name from the medieval Heever castle in Kent, which he purchased some time ago and which he has completely restored to its original condition. Heever Hall is one of the best examples of medieval architecture in England. The old moat surrounding the castle, the drawbridge and the port holes in the tower have all been preserved.

H. H. RIDDELL'S PAY FROM OREGON LAND COMPANY DISCUSSED

Federal Investigator Questions Secretary of Development Corporation.

Testimony tending to show the connection H. H. Riddell had with the operations of the Oregon Inland Development company was offered in the federal court this morning by Hiram S. House, investigator for the United States attorney's office. House said Riddell, as secretary for the company, received most of his pay in office rent and telephone fees credited on the company's books.

In cross-examination, the defense undertook to show that this credit on the company's books was all the compensation Riddell received as secretary and attorney.

Mrs. Fannie Dean, formerly stenographer for the company, was asked by the government to identify a letter written, presumably at the dictation of Riddell and typed by her. She said she would not undertake to swear as to the letter, not remembering it at all at the time.

Wallace McCamant, leading counsel for Riddell, objected to the form of testimony, declaring that since the papers had been so long out of the hands of the company, some enemy might easily have "planted" such a letter. United States Attorney Reames sought to help Mrs. Dean identify the exhibit as her typing and Riddell's dictation by various "internal" features, but she left the stand still asserting inability to identify it positively.

The last of the cases against officers of the company on charges of using the mails to defraud probably will go to the jury late this week.

Near Zero Mark at Vancouver in Night

Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 19.—Last night was the coldest night of the winter, the thermometer registering a minimum of 7 degrees above zero. This is 5 degrees colder than it had been at any time earlier in the winter. The absence of a wind did not make it appear as cold as it was several days ago, when a high east wind was blowing.

The ferry boat City of Vancouver remains tied up on the Oregon side of the river, and the steamer Jesse Harkins, which took up the ferry's run a week ago and abandoned it Sunday afternoon, is tied up and surrounded by ice near the ferry landing.

The river below the bridge construction works is comparatively free from floating ice, all of which is lodged above the works. The ice moved quite rapidly yesterday and extended entirely across the river.

Portland Man Lauds Work at Oregon City

Oregon City, Or., Jan. 18.—At the luncheon of the Live Wires of the Oregon City Commercial club, Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, was the speaker, and gave an excellent talk, and highly commended the city for the many improvements that were made during the year of 1915, including the paving of Main street, securing pure mountain water, the erecting of the elevator, which has been found a great convenience to the residents of the hill, and of the proposed new addition of the Hawley Pulp & Paper company, which will give employment when finished to about 200 more men.

Among the other visitors at the luncheon was Dr. F. L. White, of Portland, a retired capitalist of that city. There was an unusually large attendance at this meeting, and the dinner was served by the ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal church.

No arrests have been made.

FIRST MORTGAGES ON FARM LANDS MADE THE BASIC SECURITIES

Bankers' Mortgage Corporation of Portland Issues the First of Series of Bonds.

By James J. Sayer.

The Bankers' Mortgage Corporation of this city has just put on the market the first of a series of debenture bonds, the underlying security of which is farm mortgages given on realty in selected sections of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. This is a new departure for this section of the northwest, according to S. F. Wilson, vice president and manager of the company, but the plans are practically identical with those which have been adopted by two of the most successful eastern concerns which have been in existence for a great many years and whose transactions and holding runs into the millions of dollars.

The bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1000 and net the investor six per cent. Each bond is part of two series of bonds aggregating $250,000 each, the total of which is $500,000 and equals the paid up capital stock of the organization. The bonds are payable on or before May 1, 1925, but are redeemable at the option of the company on and after May 1, 1918.

The underlying security of the bonds is first mortgages on farms in settled and developed districts. The mortgages do not represent to exceed 45 per cent of the actual value of the land exclusive of improvements, but all farms on which loans are made must be improved and have a known record of yield. The appraisal is made by the company and high priced fruit lands, hop lands and similar special developments are excluded as a basis of arriving at the value of the farm land.

The mortgages are deposited with the trustee, which in the present case is the Title & Trust company, and the trustee is responsible for the observance by the mortgag company of all of the requirements of the trust deed. The mortgage corpora n issues bonds to the face value of t mortgages deposited with the tru e, and divides the bonds up into d ominations for which it finds the res est market.

The advantages cla ed for the plan are that it gives the mall investor an opportunity to get t best possible rate of interest on a afe investment, without the necessity of watching details of mortgage renewals, taxes, insurance and all the many details which go with the ordinary mortgage.

Today Is "Pay-Up" Day at Vancouver

Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 19.—Today is "pay up" day in Vancouver, and despite the cold weather, quite a number of people were out early making arrangements to pay their bills, in order that others might do the same. Residents of the city were kept informed as to the date by stickers, handbills and dodgers, which had been distributed promiscuously for several weeks past.

Indications were that the movement, which was inaugurated by the Merchants' association, would prove a big success. Citizens generally were back of it, and the idea of "John pay Henry so that Henry might pay Frank," and so on down the line, was approved by all.

Grand Opera Benefit Will Be Repeated

"Romeo and Juliet" will be repeated February 8 at the Heilig theatre for the purpose of swelling the funds of the Baby Home. This was decided upon at a meeting held at the Central library last night, when most of the principals and the chorus of "Romeo and Juliet" formed the Operatic Society of Portland. The orchestra, too, will donate its services on February 8.

Local Man Turns Big Snow Storm To Good Account

Sleds! What youngster does not possess one or at least a riding interest during these days of snow? Few indeed. And many of them while they don't know it, are coasting daily on sleds turned out by W. E. Ruepell of the Dayton Hardware company, 194 First street.

"When Portland was mantled with about eight inches of white, a multitude of people "holed" themselves into their homes and remained there. Naturally their action affected Ruepell's business somewhat and while figuring on a way to make the storm profit him, he struck on the idea of building sleds.

But he needed a market and The Journal want ads procured one quickly and so efficiently that he has been simply swamped with orders and has even kept working overtime making sleds. On a single 20 cent ad, he received orders for more than a dozen coasters in one day.

"Sleds are speedy, but Journal want ads are the fastest market builders I know," said Ruepell.
