Miss Mabel Stegner, head of the domeatic science department of the Young Women's Christian Association, was the speaker at the meeting of the Irvington Parent-Teacher association held yesterday afternoon. Her sub-ject was "Proper Diet for School Children." Her talk was exceedingly practical and following it she answered many questions in a very satisfying manner. Following the address there was the regular business session. The meeting was unusually well attended. * * *

Charities Indorses New Venture.

Practical social workers are heartily in sympathy with the latest plan of Mrs. Hattie B. Lawrence, well known as Pisgah Mother, in her effort to establish a downtown home for working women, where they may have some of the home comforts at a small cost. Mrs. E. P. Pillsbury, speaking for the Associated Charities with which she is connected, said:

"Of all the noble charities launched by Mother Lawrence for the benefit of struggling humanity, this latest one appeals to us most. "We who have watched the half hopeless efforts of the middle aged woman who has all but gone down in the fight for existence — the woman who has neither youth nor beauty nor glamor of romance about her, the woman with ill health and low earning ability, the woman descried by father of her little children, God knows such women are many-these are the ones for whom this fine and splendid woman wishes to make a home, a real home, where the beneficiaries cannot be evicted if the rent gets behind, where they can have not only physical comforts but mental and

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

MELVILLE DAVISSON POST starts in this issue his new series, The Man Hunters.

Every body of Secret Police has its own particular methods. In this series of anecdotes Mr. Post explains in detail the forthright, strong-arm methods of Scotland Yard, the quaintly delicate diplomacy of the Prefect of Paris and the learned psychological procedure of the Chief of Police of Berlin. Three articles brimful of miniature detective stories.

HARRY LEON WILSON tells another of the famous Ma Pettengill tales, in which the Mining King gives his college-bred son a post-graduate course in interior decorating, with special work in painting and graining.
