

OREGON BOY WILL BE ONE OF LEADERS IN LAYMEN'S MOVEMENT

Rev. Herbert S. Johnson Has Gained Much Fame as the Pastor of a Boston Church.

OTHER ORATORS TO COME

Rev. James McNaughton, Fred B. Fisher and Rev. M. F. Swartz Among Eloquent Speakers.

A native born Oregonian will be one of the leaders of the great convention of the laymen of the Evangelical churches which meets in Portland, February 13 to 16 inclusive. He is the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, a graduate of the state university and a native son who has gained much fame as the pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church of Boston. Mr. Johnson has not been west since 1907.

The great Oregon preacher expects that the Portland convention of laymen will prove the largest and most important religious gathering that has ever been held on this coast. Committees of Portlanders are at work in preparation for the event, while during the past week representative churchmen have spoken in many of the cities of the state with the idea in view of arousing the interest of the state. Through carrying the word directly to the laymen who are expected to attend the convention, it is believed that every church in Oregon and southwestern Washington will be interested.

Other noted orators coming. The convention is primarily for the purpose of arousing America to the opportunity offered to advance the Christian religion as a result of chaotic conditions abroad, in which it is said that the United States has a plain duty to perform.

Besides Mr. Johnson, other noted orators will be in the "team" of speakers which will visit this city. The missionary meetings are being carried on in various parts of the United States at the same time, and the speakers are sent out on an itinerary that is so arranged that the men shall follow each other over the country. Each meeting in this way sets to hear all the great speakers, and the men who have many interesting facts to present concerning the missionary field.

An interesting figure will be Rev. James McNaughton who has spent 30 years in Turkey and who will tell why the Turk is in the present war. At the outbreak of hostilities Mr. McNaughton was captured and carried into the interior of that country, where he was interned. No living man is better able to explain the political and religious conditions of that country.

In church circles, especially among Girls! Lots of Beautiful Hair

25-cent bottle of "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy and wavy.

Removes all dandruff, stops itching scalp and falling hair.

To be possessed of a head of beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair, but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp. Danderine, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this—Adv.

NOTED SPEAKERS WILL ADDRESS LAYMEN

The Methodists, no man is better known than Fred B. Fisher. He has been breaking all records for the monster meetings he has been organizing.

More to Be Announced. Dr. Hiram F. Swartz of New York has a string of capital letters behind his name that indicates intimate acquaintance with about all the theological schools and colleges of the world, and added to his remarkable intellectual training is the ability to express his thoughts in a magnetic way.

At a later date another long list of eloquent speakers will be announced. Today, Monday and Tuesday the meetings will be held morning, afternoon and evening in White Temple. On Wednesday the laymen will divide into sectarian congregations to consider the part each will take in the great missionary movement.

Posters illustrating the need of missionary endeavor everywhere will be used in the churches today and every Sunday school superintendent has been asked to explain the movement to his class. Pastors and laymen have been urged through letters mailed from the offices of Mark Woodruff in the Chamber of Commerce and J. A. Goodell in the Y. M. C. A. to put on more effort as the time for the convention draws nearer.

Many Denominations Interested. The denominations who are participating in the preparation for the Portland convention are: Presbyterian, Methodist, Friends, Baptist, United Brethren, Congregational, Episcopal, Lutheran, Evangelical and Christian. Some of the chairmen of the different denominations are: E. A. Baker, Methodist; G. Evert Baker, Christian; W. R. Lutzberg, Baptist; C. A. Staver, United Evangelical; J. L. Webster, United Brethren; and Rev. H. L. Cox, Friends. Under the direction of these men and men in like positions in other denominations, their pastors, the denominational meetings, dinners and luncheons will be held during the coming week. The "Every Man" canvass for delegates will fall upon these chairmen and their committees.

Speakers Are Noted. A convention rate of one and one third fare, certificate plan, has been granted by the railroads of Oregon, southern Washington as far north as Centralia and east to Pasco.

Besides those enumerated above the following are some of the men of note who will attend.

Ernest W. Nafziger, leader of song and solos, who has twice gone around the world with Chapman and Alexander.

J. O. Randall, representative of the Board of Home Missions and the Commission on Evangelism of the Methodist church.

J. E. Crowther, returned African missionary.

S. Hall Young, Alaskan explorer and missionary.

A. R. Kepler, Chinese missionary.

J. R. Trimble, for many years an outstanding secretarial representative of American Methodism.

James W. Busford, bishop of the Methodist church in Shanghai.

Herman F. Swartz, sociologist.

Henry H. Kelsey, secretary for the Pacific coast of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

Hugh L. Burleson, head of the editorial department of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Morris W. Ehnes, editor of all the publications of the missionary education movement.

Ride in Ambulance Straightens Kink

Joins Turn Trick for Surgery When North Bank Porter Develops Ailment and Goes to Wrong Hospital.

Say what you will about surgery, a good jolt often turns a fair sort of a trick by itself. C. W. Ranck discovered this fact and so did H. K. Ray.

Claim agent for the North Bank road. Ranck is a porter employed at the North Bank depot and pays his dues regularly into the hospital association. For this consideration, he is entitled to the railroad company's free medical and surgical attention when emergencies arise.

Ranck felt that such an emergency had arisen the other day during the winter. He lives in an outlying district, a long way from downtown. He developed a strangulated hernia, which is something like the kink in a garden hose, only more so.

He called on a doctor who was called in and Reif, who is also a doctor for the hospital association, hurried out with an ambulance. Dr. E. H. McDaniel, the company surgeon, was notified and he hastened to St. Vincent's hospital to be ready to operate when the man arrived.

But through some misunderstanding, the ambulance driver went to Good Samaritan by mistake and there ensued a delay. The snow was deep and it had been a long, rough and jerky ride.

When Dr. McDaniel finally got his man on the operating table, he found that the jolt had unconsciously strangled the hernia and was nothing for him to do.

Reif at once discovered that the association had been a little out of the sun in hospital bills and incidents. He became so overjoyed that he forgot his half-frozen ear and is now in California on a winter holiday.

Jefferson Technical Club Holds Jinks

About 400 People Attend Annual Event Friday Evening; Interesting Program Rendered; School Is Inspected.

The high jinks of the Technical club at Jefferson high school was held Friday evening. It was the third annual celebration and in the neighborhood of 400 people attended.

The building was open at 7:30 and the manual training room, wood working, mechanical drawing, machine shop and the printing shop were open for inspection of the public. A class in each of these departments had volunteered to work that evening, so the visitors saw them in operation. A little after 8 the program was given in the gym. A couple of very clever wrestling exhibits were given by some boys from the gymnasium classes.

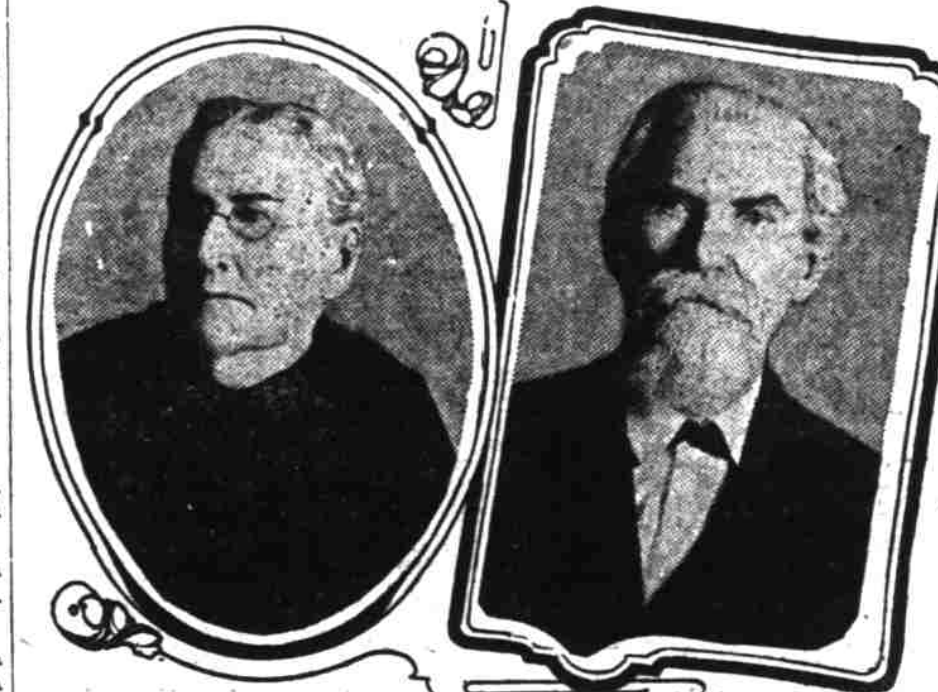

Ralph Wetteland, a graduate from the June, '13, class, and one of the first graduates from the manual training course, gave an address on the "Value of the Manual Training Course to an Student in the Engineering Courses at College." Mr. Wetteland is taking mechanical engineering at O. A. C. and is completing his course in three years. A violin solo by Herman Kenin and a cornet solo by Hal Young were the two instrumental musical numbers worthy of note, while the biggest vocal hit was made by the faculty chorus. The entire program was as follows: Tuning, singing, boys in gym classes; singing chorus, four gym boys; referee Kenin; chemical magic, by C. F. Scott; quartet, "Dreams of Jefferson," February '13 boys; address, by Ralph Wetteland; vocal solo, Charles Prescott; accompanist, Zella Seamon; wheelbarrow race, winner, Prescott and Dilling; violin solo, Herman Kenin, accompanied by Harry Kenin; pie eating contest, winner, Bob Curry, with Paul Blanchard a close second; cornet solo, by Hal Young, accompanied by Zella Seamon; Tech club quartet; faculty chorus; piano duet by Leveritt Toils and Clyde Zollars. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria, where Eastham gave a demonstration of black magic.

Labor Convention Is Opposed. San Francisco, Jan. 22.—(P. N. S.)—The San Francisco Labor Council today is on record as hostile to the formation of a state labor political convention as requested by the Los Angeles Building Trades Council.

Divorces at Lebanon. Lebanon, Or., Jan. 22.—A divorce has been granted by Judge Galloway to David Hare from Nellie Hare and control of all the property given to him, also the custody of the three minor children. Mrs. Harriet N. Peel was also granted a divorce from William Peel and a judgment of $5000 given her on a $20,000 indebtedness. He will receive at his mother's death.

In Italy electricity used for lighting is taxed.

COUPLE WEDDED 63 YEARS

Captain and Mrs. W. Rawlings.

Captain W. Rawlings, Civil War veteran, and his wife celebrated their 63d wedding anniversary at their home, at Meldrum, Clackamas county, Sunday, January 16. In honor of the event, members of the Grand Army post and Woman's Relief Corps of Oregon City called during the afternoon, from 2 until 4 o'clock, to extend congratulations. Many speeches were made by the veterans. The living and dining room were tastefully decorated in red, white and blue, also in red carnations and ferns. In the evening the entire neighborhood took possession of the home to offer congratulations. Gill's orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the evening, several splendid recitations were given by the guests. Delicious refreshments were served to the guests in the afternoon and evening by their daughters, Mrs. Eads and Mrs. Fox.

Mr. Rawlings was born in Sangamon county, Illinois, July 8, 1853, and James Butler was born in Pike county, Indiana, December 3, 1844. They were married in DeWitt county, Iowa, January 16, 1853, by Rev. Mr. Butterfield. The following year they moved to Page county, Iowa, where they lived 29 years; then they moved to Jackson county, Oregon, where they bought a farm and lived until 1906, when they moved to Wyoming and lived there five years, returning to Oregon in 1913, and taking up their residence in Portland and lived there until 1914, when they moved to Meldrum.

Although Mr. Rawlings is 82 years of age, he is very active and delights in kicking the electric chandeliers and takes care of two acres on which they reside. Captain Rawlings earned his title in the Civil War, in which he served with distinction in the Twenty-third Iowa Infantry, enlisting August 2, 1862, as first lieutenant of Company F. He performed valiant service in the Union cause, and was promoted the following year to captain of his company. He served in Grant's division until toward the close of the war. He was wounded May 17, 1863, in the battle of Big Black River, Mississippi, and is the proud owner of a Confederate flag which he personally took from the colors of the Sixty-first Tennessee Infantry in the same engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawlings were the parents of 12 children, five of which died in infancy and four passed away after reaching maturity. They were: Wilda, Kipsman, Grant and Carl. Three children are living. They are: Mrs. Ella Eads, who resides with her parents; Mrs. G. E. Fox, of Central Point, Oregon; and L. F. Rawlings, of Rochester, Wyo. There are six grandchildren—Charles, Frank, Fred and Florence Rawlings; Elva Eads and Geraldine Fox. There are two great-grandchildren—Hazel and Frances Rawlings.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC CO. MAY SUSPEND SALE OF LIQUOR ON TRAINS

"Wet" Country Traversed by Railroad Exceedingly Limited Is Reason.

MUST KEEP CLOSE WATCH

Employees Have to Keep on Jump to Observe Some 50 Dry Localities on Lines.

San Francisco, Jan. 22.—(P. N. S.)—For the first time in its history, local option and state prohibition, together with new laws in localities here and there forbidding the sale of liquor, have brought the wet and dry problem squarely before the board of directors of the Southern Pacific railroad. The problem was up for discussion at the recent meeting of the board in New York.

The country traversed by Southern Pacific passenger trains in which the sale of liquor is permitted is so limited that the board of directors has practically decided to suspend the sale of drinks on all its trains at the end of the year should California voters favor prohibition at the fall elections. The sale of drinks on trains, it is said, is hardly paying for that branch of the service and the employees have to have good memories in order to know when and where not to sell. Meanwhile the company is seeking to obey the laws on the subject in some 50 places on the swing from Seattle, Tacoma and Portland via San Francisco and Los Angeles, to New Orleans and between San Francisco and Ogden. There are hardly three hours' time on the trains between this city and Portland and Seattle in which liquor can be sold. From Davis, Cal., to Seattle it is practically all dry. Down the San Joaquin valley there is hardly a wet spot. On the long trip to New Orleans the state of New Mexico is the only open territory, except smaller spots in central and southern California not affected by local option.

Jitney Drivers Must All Obtain Licenses

Commissioner Daily Gives Notice That Licenses Must Be Secured by February 1; Cars in Operation.

Before February 1 all jitney drivers and owners must have licenses from the city if they desire to continue in operation, according to W. H. Daly, commissioner of public utilities. Notice of the necessity of licenses has been given drivers and owners.

Although there is said to be more than 300 jineys in operation, only 17 have so far applied for examination. Of this number 52 have passed and the others have been passed conditionally.

RANSOM CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR

F. H. Ransom

F. H. Ransom tossed his hat into the political ring yesterday. He announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state senator from Multnomah county.

Manager of the Eastern & Western Lumber company, Mr. Ransom will make his campaign on a platform favoring "conservative, sane business legislation."

This is the first time Mr. Ransom has ever run for public office, and he says he is entering the race with considerable trepidation, as he feels he is getting out of his element.

"But the lumber business, in particular," he said yesterday, "has passed through a period of hard times and it is our idea that we should endeavor to see to it that we get full value out of the taxes we pay."

He says he has no political axe to grind other than he wants to see conservative business legislation enacted at the next session of the legislature. He has lived in Oregon 16 years.

Funeral Service of R. Wagoner Is Held

Mr. Wagoner Had Been Resident of Oregon for 28 Years; Was Formerly in Shoe Business.

Funeral services for Robert J. Wagoner, who died on January 20 from pneumonia, were held yesterday afternoon from the A. D. Kenworthy & Company parlors at Lewis. The services were in charge of Rev. Augustus Krause, pastor of the German Lutheran church, East Twelfth and Clinton streets. Interment was in the Multnomah cemetery.

Mr. Wagoner was a native of Germany and had been a resident of Oregon for more than 28 years. At one time he was in the shoe business in Hillsboro, later retiring from the business and moved to Portland. Besides his widow, Mrs. Amelia Wagoner, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Maria M. Brueger of Portland, Mrs. E. A. Clark of Medford and a son, Emil Wagoner of this city.
