Prior to the charity ball several dinner parties of note were given. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Wilcox entertained for a group of the young people, who took part in the fancy dancing at their home in King street. A unique feature of the affair was the place favors for the women of pink carnations "lei" chains.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Honeyman, Miss Helen Ladd, Miss Genevieve Brooke, Miss Jean Morrison, Miss Claire Wilcox, Frederick Forster, Hamilton Corbett, Roderick Macleay, Jervis Stephenson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Willett were hosts to the following guests at their home in Overton street: The Misses Rhoda Rumelin, Ailsa MacMaster, Esthur Tucker and Catherine Russell; Richard Jones, Donald Sterling, Prescott Cookingham and MacCormac Snow. Friesias and white hyacinths decked the table.

Announcements were received last week from Baltimore announcing the marriage in that city of Miss Sibyl Clopton and Charles Lewis Applegarth, Jr. The announcement is made by the aunt and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson of this city. The Baltimore Sun of February 3 gives the following account of the wedding:

"Miss Sibyl Clopton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd Clopton of Pendleton, Or., and Charles Lewis Applegarth, Jr., 4214 Greenway, Guilford, were married at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Michael and All Angels' Protestant Episcopal church by the Rt. Rev. Charles Fiske, bishop coadjutor of central New York. Only the immediate families were present and the bride was attended only by Mrs. George Raney Debnam, Jr., sister of the groom, as matron of honor.

The bride wore a gown of white panne satin and tulle, embroidered in silver, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Debnam wore a gown of pink taffeta and a picture hat and carried a French bouquet of pink roses and violets.

After the ceremony a seated wedding breakfast was served the wedding guests in the home of the groom's mother. The bride and groom went to Atlantic City, and will later go for a month's visit to the Pacific coast. They will make their home here.

Mr. Applegarth is connected with the C. L. Applegarth company, packers, and Mrs. Applegarth is the great-granddaughter of Judge John Bacon Clopton, one of the old jurists of Virginia, and is the niece of C. S. Jackson, owner of the Portland, Or., Journal.

The bride was born at Pendleton and lived there until about a year ago when, at her mother's passing, she came to Portland to visit relatives and later went to Washington, D. C., to make her home with cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Henderson. She has hosts of friends here, where she was a frequent visitor in years past, to whom the news is of much interest. Mr. Applegarth is of an old and prominent Maryland family. He and his bride are on their wedding trip and are expected soon in Portland to visit Mr. and Mrs. Jackson.

The couple will be at home to their friends in Baltimore after March 1, in Gilford suburb at 4214 Greenway street.

Leaving last Monday evening for New York, Mrs. A. M. Andrus, of Alexandria Court, started on a long and interesting trip, including points in Central and South America. She will be joined by her niece, Miss Lucia Morris, who left Portland shortly after Christmas, to visit relatives in Pittsburg. They will sail from New York February 26. The first stop will be at Cuba, then the Panama canal zone, and from there they will go to the west coast, cross the continent and return up the east coast, returning to New York about June 1.

The women of the White Temple scored a triumphant success in their states banquet on Friday night. Long before the time for closing the reservations every seat was taken and a number of "tardy" ones found seats at an overflow table designated "No Man's Land." The states were grouped, and each group was presided over by a hostess, who decorated her table in some unique and attractive way to represent her states, while the banquet hall was draped in bunting and flags. Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana suggest Lincoln and later presidents and literary men, so these were featured in the decorative scheme of silhouettes and pennants. Michigan is not thought of without "Ford" and the 1916 models were displayed at that table. A typical little badger home, on the shores of a lake in the pine woods, centered the Wisconsin table. The Kansas group was designated by a huge sunflower. Minnesota famed for flour, Iowa for corn, and Illinois for pork, had their emblems on display. The Arkansas traveler and the overworked mule on the table of the Missouri group were often referred to and commented upon. Pine needles, pine cones and birch bark place cards designated the New England states. A huge basket of cotton, bursting from the bolls, spoke for the states of the sunny south. An artistic improvised keystone was the symbol for the Pennsylvania group. "Sleepy hollow," with its lone inhabitant, Rip Van Winkle, was "built" into the New York group in a realistic way.

The home states, Oregon, Washington and California, were represented by dainty tinsel umbrellas, flowers and "sun-kissed" fruit. But the "choice" table, at which the foreign people sat, was most gorgeous and attractive. In the center was a large melting pot, filled with flags of all nations, surmounted with the Stars and Stripes. Tiny boats in full sail were suspended from wires above, and were steering toward the land of the free.

In the program which followed, each group of states responded with a speech or song or both and wit and humor freely flowed. Harper N. Jamison acted as toastmaster and very cleverly introduced each number. Speeches were made by Miss Alma Bailey, New York; F. C. Knapp, Michigan; Mrs. E. J. Clinton, Massachusetts; Boone Cason, California; Mrs. W. E. Hopkins, Minnesota; Mrs. A. W. De Long, Wisconsin; J. E. Bronaugh, Arkansas, and C. C. Murton, England. Musical numbers were contributed by O. C. Wright, W. E. Pearson, Miss Merle Wooddy, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, Mrs. Helen White Evans, Miss Laura Shay and Otto Kleemann.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the marriage of Mrs. Catherine Vaughan Eppinger and Paul M. Winans of Walla Walla took place at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. E. A. Vaughan, 761 Knott street, in Irvington. Rev. Richard Randall, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate families and was quite simply arranged. The bride was attired in her traveling suit.

Mrs. Winans is a former resident of Pendleton and has a host of friends both in Eastern Oregon and in Portland. She has made her home here for several years past with her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Vaughan.

Mr. Winans is cashier of the First National bank of Walla Walla, Wash., and is of an old and prominent family of that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Winans will leave today for their home at Walla Walla.

A valentine party will be given by the Rose City Park club on next Tuesday evening, the first regular weekly gathering since the recent severe weather. The program will consist of dancing and cards, with other forms of social intercourse which have made this club one of the most popular in the city. A full attendance is expected as it is the intention of the members to push its work forward vigorously during the remainder of the season. Its purpose is to encourage a get-together spirit, to establish a common social center and to stimulate the development of all the Rose City Park district. Mrs. Howell and her assistants have been busy in arranging the necessary preliminaries for the party on Tuesday evening and a general good time is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Graves have announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Unity, to John Galbraith Hunter. The wedding is planned for the near future. Miss Graves has been an active member of Portland society and sorority circles since her return from the University of Washington. Before attending college in Seattle Miss Graves received her education at Wakeman Hall boarding school near Chicago and spent some time traveling. Mr. Hunter came here from Edinburgh, Scotland, four years ago and is at present in business in San Francisco, and after the wedding the young couple will be located in the southern city. Miss Graves is a member of Pi Beta Phi fraternity and Theta Sigma Phi journalism fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Graves are well known in Portland, Mr. Graves being one of the prominent engineers of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Harlow have taken up their residence at the Nortonia, and will continue their work there in dancing. Mrs. Harlow will act as house hostess and will give a dancing party every Friday evening at the tea room of the hotel. Each week one of the guests will assist in entertaining and last week a mask was planned with Tom Leiter acting as assistant host. Many especial features were introduced for the entertainment of the guests. Invitations for these affairs may be secured from the house guests at the hotel or from the management.

Saturday afternoons Mrs. Harlow will inaugurate a matinee dansant for the young people and she will act as chaperon.

As a coming surprise to her many friends, was the announcement of the engagement of Clara Betty Heissler to Dr. William G. Keller at a luncheon given by her mother, Saturday afternoon at her home on East Davis street.

The table was decorated with a large red centerpiece in harmony with the color scheme. Red heart favors and corsage bouquets were at each plate besides a red ribbon leading under the centerpiece. At a given signal each one drew a ribbon and there the story was, literally speaking, told in a nutshell, for in a walnut was a slip of paper with the two names.

The invitational list included the Misses Mildred Lawrence, Ollive Zimmerman, Nettie Irew, Ruth Dering, Esther Ritter, Rose Schalin, Bernice Wommelsdorf, Edith Potter, Irene Mosher, Gertrude Koehle, Elizabeth Streib, Gertrude Hoeber, Mrs. C. Curtis, Mrs. Stanley Richardson, Mrs. W. B. Layton and Mrs. D. Pague.

Miss Heissler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Heissler of the Royal Bakery. She is very popular with the younger set, having traveled and studied abroad, and is also a member of the Delta Gamma sorority.

Dr. W. G. Keller is the son of Mrs. A. Keller and is a well known osteopathic physician of this city, a graduate of the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., and a member of the Atlas club.

The wedding date has not been set permanently, but it will be an event of May.

Among the events of the week the first annual dancing party of the members of the staff and officers of the Northwestern National bank at the Laurelhurst club house on Thursday, February 10, stands out prominently. The event was in the nature of a St. Valentine party, and was attended by more than 150 members of the institution, wives and friends. The Laurelhurst orchestra of 13 pieces furnished the music for the occasion. Reception, entertainment and floor committees were under the chairmanship of R. E. Hurd, and consisted of Clarence Olmsted, George W. Hoyt, Roy H. B. Nelson, Max Fraley and Carl Detering. In the preparations, which were pronounced of unusual merit, the wives of many of the members of the committees assisted. The refreshments consisted of sandwiches, coffee and ice cream and cake.
